LINDBERGH ON WAY TO PARIS

5 Additional Parishes Menaced

CURRENT COMMENT
By Chester H. Rowell

E speech of Foreign Minister Briand, suggesting a treaty with United States unconditionally awing war between America France attracted little attenin this country until Nicholas ray Butler wrote to the New Times emphasizing it. Since the response has been so general that dispatches from Paris indicate that Briand has been encouraged to undertake the actual draft of a treaty to that effect, which he will propose to President Coolidge. Thus the plan comes nearer to becoming actual issue.

is an attractive idea. But let e of us who favor the plan—as writer does heartily—not be d to its difficulties. To "outlaw" with France means to sign a ty binding ourselves to arbie any difference which may e up between the two coun- and which has proved imible of settlement by the ordindiplomatic discussions. And this ns any difference whatever, no exceptions at all. Questions ital interest, of national honor, he exercise of sovereignty, dotic questions, everything, will included. We will simply agree to fight at all, over anything tever, and to arbitrate anything everything on which we can otherwise agree.

ith France alone, that might be . But once let us make that ty with France, and we shall it impossible to refuse it to any r country which asks it. The first ones to ask it will be an, Italy, Russia and Mexico. we willing to arbitrate without ption, all the issues which have en, and which will arise, with e countries? If not, we dare not in with France. As to France f, its way is clear. It has made such a treaty with Germany. after we have made these ties, are we ready to join with world in boycotting any nation ch breaks them? Unless we are ing to go the whole way, we not start. Here's moving we he whole way!

DRAMATIC incident at the Illinois state penitentiary illustrates it is lack of imagination, quite much as lack of morals, that ounts for much crime. A man guised as a priest sought adsion to the prison, ostensibly on errand of mercy. The guards, pecting him, overpowered him found in his automobile nitroerine, weapons, changes of hing, and all the paraphernalia a prison break. It turned out the purpose was to liberate a oner who had aided him four s ago to escape from another on. Here was a man safely out prison himself, who risktd his rty and his life, to repay a for- kindness. He had nothing to n, and everything to lose. Measd just by these motives, it was act of the highest self-sacrific- character. But it involved probkilling a large number of enly innocent people. Measured this, as well as by its lawless- s, it was a crime of the first gnitude. Yet the secret was that criminal clearly visualized the ht of his friend, and his perl debt to him, but scarcely picd at all the cases of the other tims which his success would e sacrificed. So an act of hero- was a murderous and fiendish me. It was simply the lack of agination, to see the event whole.

HOSE negroes in Arkansas who built an ark to escape the flood, then had to desert it when the od came, because the waters ured into its uncaulked seams d it would not float, should have d their Bible better. For Noah only built his ark, but daubed with pitch. Noah knew his business.

When William Howard Taft, ny years ago, said that the adnistration of criminal law in erica was a "disgrace to civilizon," it was a sensational statent, but also a literal truth. Since n that statement has been quotd a thousand times and has even n discounted by some criticism a chance utterance of a man ose subsequent distinction gave ficial importance to his words. t now, with the full sense of his sponsibility, as former president d now the highest judicial offiin the world, the Chief Justice eats practically the same charge. fore the members of the Ameri- n Law Institute, at Washington, stice Taft said that the administion of criminal law in this untry, in recent years, had been "failure." That is not quite so dical a word as "disgrace" but, plied to society's effort to protect elf, and to do justice, it means e same thing. We have improvpenology a great deal since ose words were first uttered. The isoner who does get into prison, ts into a more humane and intelent prison, and if he is one who nts a chance he gets it. But the iginal step, of catching him, and ying him, to give him his rights thout sacrificing the rghts of ciety to safety and protection, to ndicate him if he is innocent, and find him promptly and justly uilt if he is guilty, these things, comparison with other countries comparable civilization, the head our judicial system stigmatizes a "failure." It is a strong thing say on so high an authority, but is so lamentably true that it is ell that we are reminded of it thus pressively.

Levee Breaks at Woodside And Morgan City Threaten Further Destruction

BULLETIN

NEW ORLEANS, May 20.—Imminent danger of a break in the east bank levee of the Atchafalaya river today caused State Flood Director John M. Parker to issue a virtual ultimatum to the 50,000 inhabitants of Point Coupte parish, ordering evacuation of their homes at once. Pointe Coupee parish is the most thickly settled of those in the "sugar bowl" area of Louisiana.

(By United Press)

NEW ORLEANS, May 20.—Additional thousands were menaced today through the flood waters of the Mississippi river. The surging tide swept farther into the Atchafalaya basin, threatening five additional Louisiana parishes.

More than 100,000 sturdy Acadian farmers live in this district and they will be forced to evacuate if the slow approach of the waters continues. Land valued at more than $10,000,000, will be inundated within the next few days, engineers fear.

The area west of the basin is the sole district being ravaged by floods in Louisiana. The parishes between the basin and the Mississippi soon may be stricken, however, as breaks at Woodside and at Morgan City, on the Mississippi, continued to threaten today.

Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, before leaving here last night, arranged for concentration at Morgan City of 200 Oyster sloops, which may be needed in rescue work in the next few weeks as the flood approaches the southern parishes.

BEGIN CAMPAIGNING FOR MODERATORSHIP

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—With 2000 Presbyterians already here for the general assembly, May 26 to June 1, campaigns for the moderatorship, the highest office in the church in the United States, were under way today.

Dr. Robert E. Speer, New York, secretary of the board of foreign missions, is generally regarded as the favorite, but it is regarded quite likely that he will decline the honor to continue his missionary work.

Other candidates in order of their apparent strength are: Dr. John E. Bushnell, Westminster Presbyterian church, of Minneapolis; Dr. Alvin E. Magary, Detroit; Dr. Hugh K. Walker, Los Angeles; Dr. George L. Robinson, of McCormick seminary, Chicago, and J. Willison Smith, layman, of Philadelphia.

LINDBERGH HEADS HIS MONOPLANE FOR PARIS!

BATH PREPARES TO BURY DEAD OF TRAGIC SCHOOL EXPLOSION

State of Michigan Is Raising Fund to Save Town From Bankruptcy

(By United Press)

BATH, Mich., May 20—Bath prepared today to bury the victims of Andrew Kehoe's insanity.

More than a score of funeral services will be held today, tomorrow and Sunday—services over children's caskets in almost every case.

The death list from Wednesday's dynamiting of the Bath school has increased to 44. Thirty-six injured still were in hospitals.

So great was the grief of the community that it was found impossible to make plans for a community funeral.

Inquest into the tragedy was postponed until Monday, but county officials were at work gathering evidence on Kehoe's irresponsibility.

A fellow member of the school T. M. Keyes, attributed Kehoe's mad two-hour career of destruction to mental derangement from long brooding over high school taxes.

"If this keeps up," Keyes said Kehoe told him recently, "all of the farmers will lose their farms."

Only one consolation came to the stricken town. Its tragic plight had touched the heart of Michigan.

The state, responding to an appeal of Gov. Fred W. Green, was raising a fund to remedy the material damage wrought to save the community from bankruptcy.

The entire education program of the village is at a standstill. Keyes, secretary of the school board, has called a special session in Bath town hall tonight to consider the pathetic situation.

SHIPS NOTIFIED TO WATCH FOR 'FLYING FOOL'

Captain Lindbergh May Encounter Fog Banks in North Atlantic

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The navy and shipping board this morning notified all government and private merchant vessels in the north Atlantic to be on the watch for Capt. Charles Lindbergh on his New York-Paris flight and to wireless immediately to naval headquarters here if Lindbergh is sighted. There are 50 shipping board steamers on the northern steamer lanes.

The message, sent by Adm. E. W. Eberle, chief of naval operations, to all ships and stations, said:

"Pilot Lindbergh in the land plane "Spirit of St. Louis," a single engine monoplane, departed on the great circle course from Garden City, L. I., for Land's End, England, and Paris, at 6:52 a. m., May 20. Plane not equipped with radio. Request any ship sighting plane make report of facts."

Since Lindbergh is flying the great circle course—most direct route from New York to England—He will be out of touch with transatlantic liners, as this route does not follow the usual steamer lanes.

DARING CALIFORNIA FLYER LEAVES ON PERILOUS TRIP AT EARLY MORNING HOUR

Young Airman Expresses Confidence He Will Reach France Tomorrow In Ryan Monoplane

NO SMILE ON FACE AT START

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, May 20.—Seated alone at the controls of his silver-grey monoplane, with a wishbone in his pocket for luck and the whine of his motor for company, Charles E. Lindbergh this afternoon was winging his way to France. He sailed into the misty clouds at a few minutes before 8 a. m., today from Roosevelt field, Long Island.

Some two hours later he was reported passed Bryantville, Mass., near Brockton. Two and a half hours after that, word came from the Annapolis valley of Nova Scotia that a plane which people there thought must be the adventurer from the west, passed overhead, about 100 miles from Halifax.

If that last report were correct, Lindbergh was flying at about 100 miles an hour through the morning, on a course as straight as an arrow from Bryantville, Mass., toward Cape Race, Newfoundland.

The youthful pilot, a dark horse in the race across the Atlantic and scarcely considered as a candidate until a week ago, had the field to himself. Both his rival planes were land bound, one by incompleted tests, and one by quarrels and injunction.

Two Hours' Sleep

Lindbergh, 25, former air mail pilot and a marvel of nonchalant youthfulness, had been waiting impatiently for nearly a week while bad weather over the Atlantic made it foolhardy to start the journey when weather reports last night showed conditions at sea were relatively safe, despite the fog here, he crawled out of bed after two hours sleep and started fueling his plane.

Ships at sea, the weather bureau and the wireless station at Lewisburg, Nova Scotia, united in reporting that weather conditions were excellent.

Lindbergh, the lucky, who has escaped death in four airplane crashes, went nonchalantly about the business of defying the jinx which has greeted attempts to fly between New York and Paris. Four men have been killed and two are missing as a result of attempts to make flights or tests of planes for just such flights Lindbergh planned.

He had nothing but a ham sandwich to eat since 8 o'clock last night. The sandwich was his breakfast. He will eat nothing but concentrated food tables until he ends his adventure. It was a long dragging wait before he started down the run-way at Roosevelt field. The plane had to be re-fueled after it was towed from its hangar at Curtiss field to the take-off at Roosevelt field, and Linbergh stopped to gossip with a friend while preparations were completed.

It was 7:40 a. m. when the motor was started for the final test of the engine. Four more planes took the air.

Fog Over Ocean

A plane which had been up said visibility to the northwest was low and that a fog hung over the ocean. The Independent Wireless company reported from Lewisburg, Nova Scotia, that the air was clear and fine there, however, and indications were that once the plane passed out of this area it would have clear skies.

The motor warmed up beautifully, shooting flames from its cylinders around the aluminum colored nose of the craft.

At 7:51 a. m., the plane started down the run-way and a tremendous roar went up from the crowd.

The plane took off without accident and its silver body flashed as it nosed into the air. A rhythmic roar beat down over the crowd from the motors which he expected to carry him 3600 miles on his great adventure.

He wore a leather helmet, an air mask and his regular flying clothes.

A few minutes before he started he said to a friend at the side of the plane:

"Don't worry a bit. I'm confident I'll be in Paris tomorrow safe and sound."

There was no wind to hamper his start.

He was doomed to between 30 and 35 hours in the pilot's seat if he completed his flight—and if he failed, there was only a meager chance of rescue.

Not Smiling at Start

Lindbergh, the happy boy from the west, was not smiling when those by the run-way got their last glimpse of his face. The features were set in a grim line. He knew what he faced.

Lindbergh settled himself in the seat, the only place in the whole plane where a man could rise, glanced for a final look over his

FRANCE HOPES U. S. AVIATOR WILL SUCCEED

Paris Stirred to Activity By News of Lindbergh's Start on Flight

(By United Press)

PARIS, May 20.—Charles Lindbergh's lonely challenge to death today gripped the sympathetic imagination of Frenchmen all over Paris.

The great city was stirred by the news of his departure and within a few minutes of the time the papers appeared on the streets, news agencies, newspapers and cable offices were deluged with telephone calls, most of them from Frenchmen.

The callers wanted to know when and where Lindbergh would arrive and virtually all of them expressed the hope that he would succeed in flying from New York to Paris.

Lindbergh is expected at Lebourget field the Paris airport. Upon receipt of news that Lindbergh was on his way across the wastes that conceal Captains Charles Nungesser and Coli, officials of Lebourget rushed final preparations to receive their visitors. Special attention was being given illumination facilities since it was presumed that the flyer would arrive after nightfall Saturday.

Afternoon papers gave Lindbergh great attention today.

"Everything necessary will be done," Ambasador Herrick told the United Press. "Everything will be ready. Lindbergh is certain to receive a wonderful reception in France just as Coli and Nungesser would have received in America. The whole world loves sportsmanship and brave men."

LINDBERGH'S MOTHER HAS FAITH IN SON

DETROIT, May 20.—Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, mother of the intrepid youth who today set off alone from Garden City, L. I., for Paris in a monoplane, faced her chemistry class in Cass technichal high school as though nothing had happened.

"Your son left for Paris this morning," she was informed upon her arrival at the school.

"Well, that's fine," answered the wife of the former Minnesota congressman. "He'll get there alright. And if he had room in thep lane I would be right beside him now."

Mrs. Lindbergh passed into the building, carefully avoiding any attempt at an interview.

Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury since April 1, 1925, submitted his resignation effective August 1, 1927.

Former Lt. Gov. Seymour Lowman, New York, will succeed him.

Dr. James Maurice Dorain, of St. Paul, Minn., chief of the technical division of the prohibition bureau, was promoted to commissioner of bureau.

Roy A. Haynes, appointed acting dry commissioner April 1 last, is to resign from the service.

EXPERT CLAIMS VIOLENCE WAS DEATH CAUSE

Brain Specialist Bitterly Cross-Examined by Kelly Lawyer

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—A question mark punctured the closing lines of Hollywood's "bare knuckle" murder drama today, as opposing counsel prepared to plunge into final arguments at the trial of Paul Kelly, juvenile screen player, charged with slaying Ray Raymond, musical comedy favorite.

"Who or what killed the song and dance man?

This is the problem that eight women and four men will take into the jury room possibly tonight or at least by Monday, as the result of the daring gesture of Defense Attorney W. I. Gilbert, gray-haired veteran of "Blackstone's arena."

Out of the confusing maze of conflicting testimony offered by medical experts from the witness stand, the jury must decide whether Kelly's fists, directed by his emotions for Dorothy Mackaye, Raymond's wife, or natural causes resulted in the death of the actor.

As court adjourned yesterday, Dr. Cecil E. Reynolds, internationally famous brain and nerve specialist and member of the Royal Academy of Medicine, was being subjected to a bitter cross-examination by Gilbert.

Reynolds declared that only violence could have caused the subdural hemorrhage, which is agreed to have been the immediate cause of Raymond's death, while his medical colleague, Dr. Francis Anton, previously had testified that natural causes resulted in the actor's death.

Gilbert was expected to complete his cross-examination of Reynolds shortly after court convened today ,at which time final arguments probably will be started, with prospects of the case reaching the jury before adjournment.

Flapper Law Is Signed by Young

SACRAMENTO, May 20. — In California a flapper is a flapper only until she becomes 21 years old. Then she is a grownup woman.

The new "flapper law" applies to by Governor Young today, when he signed the "age of majority" bill by Senator H. C. Jones, of San Jose.

The new "flipper law" applies to girls only when they are single, it was pointed out. If she wishes to marry, that's different. Then her age of majority is entirely with her.

De La Huerta Up For Arraignment

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—Adolfo De La Huerta, former provisional president of Mexico, was scheduled to be arraigned here today before the U. S. commissioner, following his voluntary surrender to charges of conspiring to violate federal neutrality laws.

De La Huerta denied that he had knowledge of a plot to transport arms to the warring Yaqui Indians, as charged in a complaint recorded in Tucson, Ariz., and filed here yesterday. U. S. Commissioner Head announced he would fix band for De La Huerta at $5000.

Fine of $500 Also Is Levied On Multimillionaire Oil Operator

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Harry Ford Sinclair, multi-millionaire oil operator and sportsman, today was sentenced to serve three months in a "common jail" and to pay a fine of $500 for refusing to answer questions of the senate Teapot Dome committee in 1924.

Sinclair, 52 years old, was indicted in March, 1924, charged with contempt of the senate, and convicted by a jury in District of Columbia supreme court here April 16, this year.

Both sentences were mandatory the law specifying imprisonment of from one to 12 months and a fine of from $500 to $1000.

Sinclair, himself, dapper in a gray business suit with silk handkerchief in the upper pocket, a brown overcoat over one arm and a brown felt hat and malaca cane in the other, stood up and faced Judge William Hitz.

"Have you anything to say?" asked the court.

"I have not," said the oil magnate.

Sentence was then imposed.

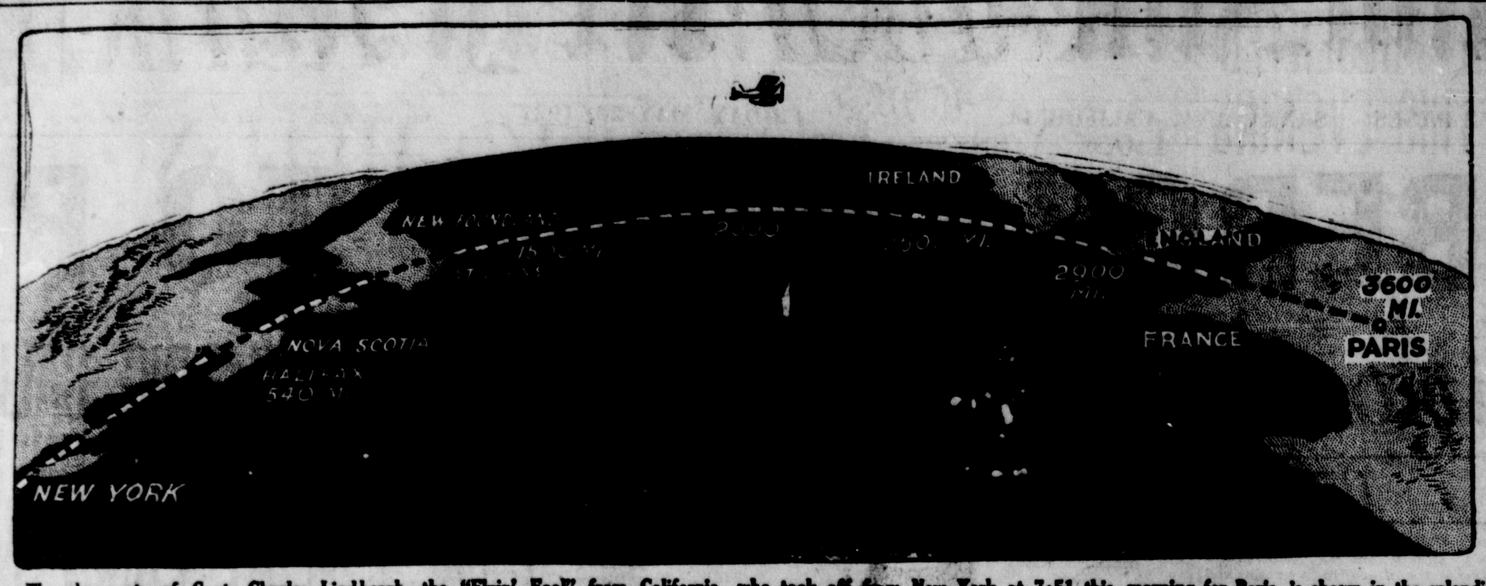
Somewhere Over Atlantic Lindbergh Wings His Way



The sky route of Capt. Charles Lindbergh, the "Flyin' Fool" from California, who took off from New York at 7:51 this morning for Paris, is shown in the splendid drawing. The 3600-mile course, skirting Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, Ireland and England, is 200 miles shorter than would be a direct course from New York to Paris because the route here shown takes advantage of lesser curvature in the earth's surface.

Meantime Coast Guard reports on an airplane wreckage piled up between Montauk and Block Island yesterday by the guard said it bore the letters "A" and "A-49" on a silver painted body. It seemed doubtful this could be Nungesser and Coli's "White Bird," and navy and war departments began checking on recent air casualties in an effort to identify this plane.

HEAVY FOG OVER GRAND BANKS

ABOARD U. S. S. MODOC, AT SEA, (Engaged in international ice patrol), May 20.—Heavy fog lay over the cold water around the Grand Banks of Newfoundland today and its limits were so well defined that Charles Lindbergh, in his monoplane, "Spirit of St. Louis," almost could fix his position by the fog boundary when he approaches it.

The southern limit of this fog blanket was well marked in a position along the 41st parallel and from meridians 52 to 46

Ice conditions now take priority over transatlantic airplane flights and therefore the Modoc will not be near the plane track for a day or two.

WEATHER IS CLEAR ALONG EASTERN COAST

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, May 20.—Residents of this city expect Lindbergh and his monoplane, Spirit of St. Louis, to pass over Newfoundland enroute to Paris between 5 and 6 o'clock tonight. The weather was fine and clear today all along the eastern coast with the wind in the northwest.

LOW VISIBILITY IN PROSPECT FOR FLYER

WASHINGTON, May 20—Weather conditions over the great circle route—the shortest air line between New York and the continent—were reported by the U. S. weather bureau today to be less favorable than over the so-called steamer lanes route somewhat to the south.

The weather man said that if "Lucky" Lindbergh took the great circle route as planned, he was likely to encounter fog and low visibility to the banks.

DANGER OF DRIZZLES OVER NORTH ATLANTIC

LONDON, May 20.—Favorable wind conditions, but danger of drizzles, low clouds and possibly fogs awaited Charles Lindbergh all over the North Atlantic ocean, the weather bureau division of the air ministry said today.

London to Canada Flight Is Planned

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Commerce department reports from Montreal today indicated Capt. F. P. Courtney, British aviator, will soon attempt a London-to-Canada flight and return, with two pilots, a navigator and a paid passenger.

CAPTAIN LINDBERGH, WEST'S HOPE IN PARIS FLIGHT, OFF ON PERILOUS OCEAN JOURNEY

instrument board and into his periscopes and speeded up his engine.

The machine moved away slowly, seemingly to strain a bit as it picked up headway taxiing down the run-way.

It was on the ground a half mile before it definitely lifted. It bounced three times under the heavy load of fuel as it taxied away. Spectators feared each time that it might be ditched, as was the plane of Rene Fonck a year ago on the same field.

But finally spectators could see daylight beneath the plane. Gradually it rose, first five feet, then ten, and then by inches until it barely cleared the grove of trees at the eastern end of the field.

The plane just missed the telephone wires which were strung along the road between the grove and the field, and once lurched giddily before the propeller took another solid bite on the air.

But spectators could see that "Lucky" Lindbergh was off to Paris. He was always master of the situation.

As Lindbergh faded away five other planes, including Com. Richard E. Byrd's great Fokker, itself waiting to make the same trip which Lindbergh started today, left the ground and flew away as an escort to the first American to attempt to make this flight.

B. F. Mahoney, president of the Ryan Air Lines corporation, of San Diego, Calif., builders of the plane, stood silent and watched his flyer sail away.

Periscope Useless In Fog

Lindbergh was flying "blind" as the aviators say, as he left the field, for the arrangement of his plane prevented him seeing ahead and his periscopes were all but useless, owing to poor visibility near the ground.

As the plane roared away the crowd at the field, mostly men, began moving down the run-way over which the "Spirit of St. Louis" had passed. First they walked, then they ran and then began waving arms and hats and cheering. It was a crowd moved by excitement and following its leaders.

But soon after Lindbergh's plane had passed safely over the tree tops it straightened out due east, with never a circle or a turn to either side and as it grew smaller and smaller and lifted higher and higher, the escort planes closed up to it.

Suddenly the silver gray of the wings of the Lindbergh plane blotted out against the grey sky.

Lindbergh depended on his sturdy, speedy one-motored monoplane and on himself for success.

He had no wireless or other signalling devices, and as little extra equipment as possible. He wore his usual flying clothes and for food carried only compressed food tables and hot coffee and chocolate in vacuum bottles—enough to keep him alive three days.

Lindbergh's plane was built in San Diego, Calif., and he flew from there to New York last week in two jumps, stopping at St. Louis, where the financial backers of his flight live, to have the craft christened "Spirit of St. Louis."

It had been announced that no flyers would leave this morning and until 1:30 no interest of the approaching flight was circulated in New York. Then it was learned Lindbergh had gone to bed about midnight, leaving word that he was to be called at 2 o'clock.

Crowds Begin To Arrive

At 2 a. m., Lindbergh arose and soon after went to the field, drowsily rubbing his sleepy eyes as he entered the hangar. Red flares were lighted and crowds began gathering.

Then it started to rain. Richard Blythe, Lindbergh's publicity representative, said the rain would not stop the young aviator. The shower soon stopped and work began again. But shortly another downpour began and there was doubt in the minds of Lindbergh's aides. He seemed confident his luck would hold, however.

Preparations continued and at 4 a. m, the plane was wheeled onto Curtiss field and at 4:05 two trucks took it in tow and started for Roosevelt field, adjacent to Curtiss, where a long run-way gave a better chance for a successful take-off with a full load of gas

Lindbergh was in the plane and the crowd, by then numbering 2000, cheered mightily.

Lt. G. O. Noville and Bert Acosta, who will fly with Byrd when his giant America sets off for the Paris flight were on the field to watch their rival start his flight, which may take from them the honor of being first to make it without a stop. Commander Byrd came on the field and asked Lindbergh if he could help.

The youthful pilot thanked him and declined. Then Byrd asked if it would disturb Lindbergh if he made a test flight. Lindbergh assured him it would not, and the Giant Fokker took the air.

A dozen planes, some of them army craft from Mitchel field, and others carrying photographers were flying about.

Clear Field of Spectators

At 7 o'clock police started clearing the field of spectators. The sun was trying to pierce the fog.

The plane was filled with fuel after it took its position on the run-way at Roosevelt field. At 7:15 all the tanks were filled.

G. J. Stumpf, of St. Louis, a close friend of Lindbergh and representative of Harry Knight and H. M. Bixby, of St. Louis, financial backers of the flight, was at the field. Lindbergh left the plane and talked to Stumpf.

Anthony H. G. Fokker, designer of Byrd's plane, and Clarence Chamberlin, pilot of the Bellanca plane, wished Lindbergh good luck and shook his hand.

Then came the final start of the motor at 7:40, the run down the field and the lift into the air at 7:51 1-2.

OVER BRYANTVILLE AT 9:40 A. M.

BROCKTON, Mass., May 20.—A monoplane, believed to have been that of Capt. Charles Lindbergh, passed over Bryantville, 8 miles east of here, at 9:40 a. m. today, a report from that village said.

The plane was flying so low that townsfolk reported they could see the letters and figures "NX 211," on the machine, Lindbergh's mark.

PLANE HEADED EAST SEEN NEAR METEGHAN

HALIFAX, N. S., May 20.—A report from Meteghan Digby, N. S., said an airplane, which might have been Capt. Charles Lindbergh's, passed over 10 miles from there at 12:25 p. m. eastern daylight saving time. The plane, according to the report, was flying east.

PASSES OVER NEW TUSKET SHORTLY AFTER NOON

NEW YORK, May 20.—The radio corporation of America today received the following report on the progress of Captain Charles Lindbergh from Canadian station VAU at Yarmouth, N. S.,:

"Plane passed New Tusket, about 15 miles north, just after dinner, flying low and fast and headed east."

PASSES OVER NORTH TIP OF NOVA SCOTIA

MULGRAVE, N. S., May 20.—Capt. Charles Lindbergh passed over here at 4 p. m. (Atlantic standard time). He was flying very high.

Mulgrave is on the extreme northeastern trip of Nova Scotia on the Straits of Canso. The plane was on a course that would take it over the Straits of Canso to Cape Breton Islands.

BATTLE FAILS TO BREAK AT BEACH MEETING

Trouble which was expected to break last night at a meeting of the Seal Beach city trustees meeting, over a recent alleged fist fight between S. P. Foster, chief of police, and J. R. Johns, councilman and member of the police commission, failed to develop, according to reports from the beach city.

The incident was not even mentioned at the trustee meeting, it was reported. Foster and Johns are alleged to have taken part in a fist fight when Foster refused to arrest a man in a local dance hall at the command of Johns.

In passing the incident over the trustees indicated that nothing would be done about the matter. Trustee R. E. Dolley, president of the board of trustees announced at the meeting that he is leaving immediately for Alaska, for a three months' visit.

With Dolley gone it is practically certain that nothing will be done about the alleged fight, as the board has been split three and two, and Dolley has been one of the three. With Dolley gone the board will stand two and two for the next 90 days, with Trustees J. P. Transue and A. E. Walker on one side, and J. R. Johns and C. O. Wheat on the other side. Dolley is said to cast his political opinions with Johns and Wheat.

Charged with non-support of minor child, Otto Henning, 21, Route No. 3, Anaheim, was arrested yesterday by F. W. Howard, deputy sheriff. He was later released on his own recognizance to appear in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court at a date to be set later.

Sheriff's officers yesterday were sent to Olive and the Santa Ana canyon road to look for bandits reported to have staged a holdup in that city. They were not found.

OPERETTA WILL BE PRESENTED THIS EVENING

Of the operettas which have been given by the Santa Ana high school students in years past, few equal "The Village Squire," composed and directed by S. J. Mustol, which will be presented tonight in the auditorium of the school, according to the staff of teachers in the music department under whose auspices the program is being given.

The curtain for the entertainment will rise at 8 o'clock.

Final ticket sales for the performance will be held at the box office window of the high school auditorium tonight, it was announced.

The operetta, in which 90 students take part, has as a setting the rustic atmosphere of New England country life. The characters parade the stage in overalls and old fashioned dresses.

Throughout all the three acts of the musical comedy, the action never slackens and the plot becomes increasingly more involved. Catchy tunes, rollicking fun and complicated situations provide a full evening entertainment.

Members of both the girls and the boys glee clubs are in the operetta. Dancing troups of milk maid girls and Virginia reel revelers appear in the scenes, besides the large choruses and the cast of principal characters around whom the plot is woven.

FIREMEN OF COUNTY FORM ORGANIZATION

Organization of the Orange County Firemen's association was perfected here last night when 32 firefighters representing almost a dozen departments in the county gathered at the Santa Ana central station.

W. C. Fox, fireman at the Santa Ana station No. 2, was elected president of the new organization and it was decided to hold meetings once each month, the meeting place to be held in a different town in the county each time.

Firemen representing departments at Santa Ana, Fullerton, Brea, Huntington Beach, Newport Beach, Tustin and Buena Park were present at the meeting.

The purposes of the organization are to create a friendly feeling between firemen of the county and to study fire fighting and first aid, President Fox said today. He intimated that well known speakers would be secured for each meeting of the association.

NO TRACE FOUND OF ESCAPED PRISONERS

After a diligent search, made throughout the county for L. C. Cox, 27, and Victor Waddell, 26, escaped prisoners from the Orange county jail, deputy sheriffs reported that no trace of the men had been found today.

The prisoners escaped early yesterday morning by gaining the roof of the jail building after filing a lock off the utility chamber door and climbing a ladder to a skylight. After reaching the roof, they gained the ground by sliding down a telephone pole at the northeast corner of the building.

Descriptions of the men have been forwarded to police stations throughout the state.

SHEEP MEN MAKE WAR ON COYOTES

ALAMOSA, Colo., May 20.—The Rio Grande County Wool Growers' association and the Conejos County Sheep association have combined with the Alamosa sheep growers and the U. S. bollogical survey in an annual and extended campaign against coyotes and other predatory animals in the sheep ranges of the Rio Grande national forest.

The warfare was started in 1925 and since then the hunters have bagged four bears, 29 bobcats, 819 coyotes and one lion in the national forest. Other animals undoubtedly were killed by the poison route but died in obscure places.

The sheepmen are so well satisfied with the work of Superintendent "Bob" Clark and his biological hunting force that they have levied an assessment of 1 1-2 cents per head on their sheep for a co-operative fund of about $2500 to aid in defraying expenses of the work.

Research Work of D. of A. R.

An important work of the Daughters of the American Revolution, has been that of the genealogical research committee, and Mrs. Flora M. Pyle, chairman of the committee named by Mrs. C. F. Smith, regent of the Santa Ana chapter, D. of A. R. has met with much cooperation from those to whom questionnaires were sent, in an effort to establish connecting links in historical records.

Mrs. Pyle has expressed her appreciation for the promptitude with which so many have filled out and returned these questionnaires, but asks those who have not done so, to remember that a failure will indeed register a missing link in the pioneer history.

"If answers to all the questions are not known, please send what you do know as that little bit may be just what some other member of your family is anxiously trying to learn" beseeches Mrs. Pyle. She continues by saying "Many inquiries have been received asking for information as to what all this is for. Our National Society of the D. A. R. has undertaken the work of collecting all this data possible as our contribution to our country's most reliable history. There is a great break in our history between 1840 (when emigration from the east towards the middle west and far west began—and the California gold excitement added many more thousands of our citizens who left no definite records) until 1906 when the vital statistics law went into effect. Before this a record of the various families was obtainable from family Bibles, church records, records of deeds, marriages and old-fashioned tombstones.

"There are many thousands of letters received by our organization, and also several others from persons trying to find trace of some relative or friend that left their former eastern home to join caravans or emigrant trains for the far west. It is hoped that by piecing together the records that we are able to gather now, many families will be able to connect up their family history. It is a pity that this work was not begun 25 years sooner, so many pioneers have passed away, and so much valuable information is lost entirely.

"All information will be typed in triplicate; one copy goes to Washington D. C., to Smithsonian library, one copy to Sacramento, California state library, and one kept in the county where the records were obtained. Every year the requests for information of this nature becomes more acute and pathetic in the extreme, so its the work of patriotic citizens of today, to collect and protect this valuable information as our contribution to the best interests of the future.

"Perhaps it is not generally known that there are many people claiming relationship fraudulently and for dishonest purposes, a bona fide history of each family is a fine insurance against this. We can never repay the pioneers for their suffering and sacrifices to make this country safe for us, but we can remember them with reverence and appreciative thankfulness. Every loyal American citizen has more or less pride of ancestry, so please fill our your questionnaire with every bit that you know and return it to me and do your bit by sending name and address of some worthy pioneer to me."

Such communications should be sent to Mrs. Flora M. M. Pyle, R. D. 3, Box 210, Santa Ana, Calif.

TWO SPEEDERS GIVEN 5 DAYS IN LOCAL JAIL

Two men were given jail sentences on speeding charges and a third, with the jail staring him in the face on a non-appearing charge was granted a continuance until Monday, while a handwriting expert determines whether or not he signed an arrest slip, as the result of "speeder's court" in Judge Kenneth Morrison's chambers today.

"Your sentence will be five da—," began Morrison in the case of Clyde Carruth, film cutter for the Fox studios in Hollywood, after Carruth had pleaded guilty to speeding 53 miles an hour.

"Hold on, Judge, hold on. I won't have any more of a job than a jackrabbit if you say that," Carruth shouted.

As a result, Morrison told the defendant to go back to Hollywood and arrange his affairs before June 3, and then come to jail here.

Carruth was arrested May 15, by George Peterkin, state traffic officer, on the Irvine boulevard.

Charged with speeding 50 miles an hour and failure to appear in answer to the charge, G. F. Hendrick, 22, 1078 South Euclid avenue, Los Angeles, a mattress factory worker, was sentenced to serve 10 days in jail when he was brought into court today. He was arrested in Los Angeles yesterday on a bench warrant.

Hendrick originally was arrested on March 23 on the Seal Beach boulevard by Officer Bradfield and was to have appeared on April 1. He was given five days for speeding and five days for not appearing.

W. J. Devine, Los Angeles automobile salesman, was fined $150 for failure to appear in answer to a summons charging him with speeding 58 miles an hour here several weeks ago. He paid the fine. The speed case was continued for two weeks. Devine has been the object of a search by state officers for some time.

He was arrested on March 12 and was to appear on March 18.

The case of O. W. Reeves, 217 Main street, Huntington Beach, charged with speeding 45 miles an hour and failure to appear was continued until Monday. Reeves was in court and claimed that he was not arrested and that the arrest slip was forged. He did not know by whom but remembered that he had loaned his car to "several" persons during the time he is said to have been arrested, which was in December of last year.

Justice Morrison continued the case until Monday to give Herman Zabel, handwriting expert, time to study the signature on the arrest slip and compare it with Reeves' driver's license signature.

Those fined in Morrison's court tiday were, F. J. Hull, Los Angeles, $5, speeding 40 miles an hour in a 20-mile zone; Carlos Berreras, Los Angeles, speeding, $20; Harry Bowden, cutting in, $20.

YOUTH OF TODAY IS SAME AS OF YORE

FORT MORGAN, Colo., May 20.—That the young people of today are no different than their parents and their grandparents and that the "revolt of youth" is a phrase which characterizes nothing more or less than the ordinary problems of every adsolescent generation, was the opinion expressed by Dr. C. B. Miller of the City Park Baptist church, Denver, in speaking before the First Morgan Lions club.

Every generation of youth is more or less in revolt, Dr. Miller said. The present young people are living in a different age, a faster age, one which offers them superior advantages, and youth, while provided with these advantages, lacks experience and consequently judgment.

Youth does not need to be slowed down, Dr. Miller said. Rather the home, the church and the community must be speeded up, he said.

AUSTIN, Tex., May 20.—Are women duelists? Texas asks the question by permitting women to hold office, but imposing one limitation on their eligibility that no other state enforces.

No duelist or practitioner of the code of honor, may hold office.

Former Governor Miriam A. Ferguson had to swear that she never fought a duel before she became chief executive, and the same oath was required of State Senator Margie Neal. However, there is no discrimination against sex in this because every state officer from the constable to the governor must take the same oath.

At the same time state officers must swear that they have not bought or obtained votes by promises of special favor.

GROOM WRITES BAD CHECKS TO MARRY, CHARGE

John Hittson, claiming to be a Los Angeles attorney, financed his trip to Gretna Green entirely by bogus checks, according to a warrant for his arrest, issued here today.

He bought the ring, the marriage license, n' everything, and paid the minister, all with worthless checks, it is alleged. As for the honeymoon trip — but, perhaps, ther'll be no honeymoon trip.

A criminal charge, based upon what is supposed to have been Hittson's first alleged transaction after reaching Santa Ana, was filed in connection with his purchase of the ring for $11 at the Yeilding and Grier jewelry store, 317 West Fourth street.

After buying the ring, Hittson sought the marriage license bureau, got his license, and handed County Clerk J. M. Backs a $2 check. Backs has a rule of never accepting checks, but Hittson came well sponsored by reputable local citizens, so Backs made an exception. Today he was celebrating what he says is the first time he ever got "stung" in this fashion.

Armed with the marriage license, Hittson repaired to the study of the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church, who tied the marital knot and received his bogus check, so it is alleged.

Where else Hittson may have left his mementos is not known, but an asserted worthless check passed at the E. T. Mateer drug store has come to the attention of the authorities, with the others.

Hittson's business card, left with Backs, gives his address as 802 Lane mortgage building, Los Angeles, and represents him as a partner of Attorney W. Ona Morton.

Aviation Page Is New German Job

BERLIN, May 20.—The next position to be created in the German air service will be that of aviation page, Dr. Orlovius, one of the directors of the Luft Hansa, announced at a recent film-lecture on German aviation of the future.

The duties of such a page, he explained, will be to assist passengers in embarking and disembarking, to look after their baggage and to act as steward or waiter during the trip.

Dr. Orlivius predicted an uninterrupted air service, day and night, winter and summer, on most German routes. The latest plan under consideration, he said, was the building of aerial tugs capable of towing long convoys of freight planes, as a preparatory step toward the super-traffic-plane of great speed and offering all the comforts and luxuries of a Pullman train.

While zealously fighting a blaze, the volunteer fire department of Bulkington, England, drained the village pond and left the fish floundering in the mud.

In September 3,405,800 pounds of fish, valued at $110,000 were landed on the coasts of northern Ireland.

LESS BEET SUGAR PRODUCED IN 1926

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—Beet sugar production from the 1926 crop was 897,000 tons, compared with 913,000 tons in 1925, and 1,090,000 tons in 1924, as shown in the annual survey of the domestic beet sugar industry by the bureau of agricultural economics, U. S. department of agriculture.

The survey shows that 6,782,000 tons of beets were sliced in 1926; 6,993,000 tons in 1925, and 7,075,000 tons in 1924. Farmers delivered 7,300,000 tons of beets to the factories in 1926; 7,423,000 tons in 1925 and 7,513,000 tons in 1924, including Canadian beets grown for factories in Michigan. Loss of beets after harvest was 7.1 per cent compared with 5.8 per cent in 1925, being heaviest in Wyoming, Montana and Michigan.

Higher sugar content of the beets of the 1926 crop as compared with 1925, greater purity, and larger acreage were more than offset by lower yield per acre, which was 10.7 tons in 1926 as compared with 11.4 tons in 1925.

Nearly 40 per cent of the beets were grown in Colorado, 13 per cent in Nebraska, 11 per cent in Michigan, and about one per cent of the tonnage was imported from Ontario, Canada. Drought and insect pests caused heavy abandonment of acreage in Utah and Idaho, only 13 factories operating as compared with 22 in 1925.

Milkmen are forbidden to smoke while delivering milk in Pontypool, Australia, according to a new law.

Mrs. Robert Tuthill Concludes Bridge Series

Concluding her current series of parties, Mrs. Robert G. Tuthill yesterday presided at another of the delightful luncheon bridges with which she has enlivened the week for her friends.

The Tuthill home at 1702 North Broadway, glowed with more of the deep red roses whose rich coloring and fragrance had delighted guests at earlier functions. Small tables arranged with immaculate linens, silver and china, bore bright-hued sweet peas as their floral adornment. Floral place card served also to designate places at the tables when these, robbed of their luncheon linens, and arrayed in soberer card table covers, were utilized for bridge.

Mrs. Charles V. Davis and Mrs. George Briggs offered their aid to Mrs. Tuthill in the varied happy duties and responsibilities of a hostess, including the tallying of scores at the close of the series of games. Mrs. Frank Champion of Laguna Beach, scored high and received the attractive gift selected by the hostess, while Mrs. Rex Kennedy's score entitled her to second prize.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Women of the First Congregational church gathered at the pleasant home of Mrs. J. E. Liebig, 820 Spurgeon street Wednesday afternoon, to listen to the program presented by the missionary department of the Women's Union of the church. In the absence of Mrs. Talcott, Mrs. Schrock opened the meeting with a devotional service, which was very appropriate to the program to follow.

Note was made on the lives of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Woodward, missionaries at Oroquieta, Mindanao. Mrs. Frederick very ably reviewed the fourth chapter of the study book, "The Moslen Faces the Future," and reviews of previous chapters were given by Mrs. McCord, Mrs. Tedford and Mrs. L. M. Smith.

Mrs. M. T. Hubbard of the First Christian church, accompanied by Miss Carrie Seaton at the piano, sang two very beautiful solos, which all enjoyed. They were "I've Done My Work" by Carrie Jacobs Bond, and "In the Garden of Tomorrow" by Deppen.

A delightful social hour followed the program, in which ice cream and cake were served by the hostess committee, with Mrs. J. E. Gowan acting as chairman.

Baptist Convention

Returning from Glendale where they attended the Southern California Baptist convention, Santa Ana delegates and church people bring enthusiastic reports of the convention and its interesting sessions. They bring also, the satisfaction of having the newly elected second vice president, in the person of Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks, 401 West Eighth street. Mrs. George Beardsley of Garden Grove, was elected state chairman of literature.

One of the outstanding events of the session was the completing of the national golden anniversary gift of $500,000 to the Woman's Home Missionary society, just celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. The amount asked from Southern California women, was $15,000 and they actually gave $22,215, while the Santa Ana Valley association, asked for $1000, over-subscribed $345.

The Rev. Otto S. Russell, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, was president of the convention, at which were many famous speakers, as well as workers in mission fields. Among these were Miss Beulah Bassett, talking on her work as a missionary; Mrs. S. S. Osgood, member of the national home mission board; Benjamin D. Weeks, president of Bacone college, (whose subject was "The Christian Education of the American Indian") such mission workers as E. S. Burkett, Theodore Fieldbrave and many others.

The Rev. Ernest E. Ford is pastor of the hostess church in Glendale, and Santa Anans attending were the Rev. and Mrs. Otto S. Russell, the Rev. H. J. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Norton, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Milligan, Mesdames Margaret Hardin, H. E. Wheeler, W. H. Harrison, Harriet E. Earl, L. C. Fairbanks, M. M. Holmes, O. S. Catland, C. E Pollins, Elmer Steffanson, Mary McAllister, Elsie Farmer and Miss Emily Cox.

Presbyterian Aid

The General Aid of the First Presbyterian church, met in the church parlors, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Cecil Willits had charge of the song service and made it very interesting by giving the history of the songs used, in her entertaining manner.

Mrs. O. Scott McFarland led the devotionals, using the second chapter of James in a very interesting and profitable way. After a short business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Clyde Bach, the meeting was turned over to the program committee, Mrs. L. B. Pearl, chairman. The first feature was a game entitled "Who's Who," which caused every woman in the house to meet every other one, to learn her name and something about her to remember her by.

The other form of entertainment was given by two ladies representing a gymnasium teacher and one of her very stout pupils on how to reduce. These ladies were Mrs. J. B. Bichan and Mrs. Herbert Alleman. Punch and wafers served in the side room, finished the social hour which the women all seemed to enjoy very much, and many expressions of praise were given the committee. Those serving on the committee were Mrs. Harold Pollock, Mrs. George Dobson, Miss Leslie Smith, Miss Louise Brokaw and Mrs. L. B. Pearl.

SANTA ANA MEZZO-SOPRANO MAKES OPERA DEBUT ABROAD

A cablegram received by Dr. Samuel A. Marsden from Mrs. Marsden, (Daisy Austin Marsden) who is studying in Milan, announced that the singer made her debut last Sunday in the opera "Cavalleria Rusticana."

Dr. Marsden has no details of the debut other than that it was highly successful, and friends of the vocalist will await with interest, further information regarding the event. Next Sunday, Mrs. Marsden will sing the role of "Madaline" in "Rigoletto" so her career on the operatic stage seems well launched.

It will be remembered that the Santa Ana vocalist left some time ago for study in Milan, where she had the good fortune to be accepted in the classes of Angelo Parola, one of the noted maestros of that city, and also to be coached in opera scena by Maestro Giovanni Mylia, conductor of small seasons out of Milan.

Dr. Marsden will sail on June 10 for Paris where Mrs. Marsden will meet him, and together they will devote a wonderful summer to touring the continent. Autumn will bring work for each of them however, since the Santa Ana physician plans to do some special work and study in Vienna, and his wife's mezzo-soprano voice will be lifted in song as she concertizes through Germany. She already has concert dates for Berlin, Munich and Leipsic in Germany, and also in Paris and London.

Birthday Party Gladdens Little Lad

Saturday, May 14, was a happy day for little Tom Engelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Urban J. Engelman of 1032 Kilson Drive. It was his sixth birthday and a number of small friends who had been invited to his home to help him and his sister Bettie May in a celebration of the occasion were on hand to romp and play games to their heart's content, and to enjoy the birthday feast.

The table, on which favors were horses, dogs and other animals made of large gum drops, was centered with a large birthday cake, and there were ice cream, fancy cakes, punch and other things that children like. A group picture of Tom and his playmates was taken and the birthday gifts were displayed and admired.

The little guests were Helen and Betty Kolbe, Charles and Anne Flanagan, Jack and Mary Patricia Murphy, Billy and Phyllis Sandon, Eugene Frisby, Harry Ashen, Helen Rupert, Bobby Latimer, Barabara Martin, Dannie Moriarty and Donald Riley.

S. A. Woman's Club

No event in the year is of greater interest to members of the Santa Ana Woman's club, than their annual afternoon in the beautiful suburban home of Mrs. Martha Ritchey on McFadden street. Their meeting there Tuesday afternoon, was one of the outstanding ones of the year, so pleasant was the hospitality extended by Mrs. Ritchey and her daughter, Miss Martha Ritchey.

One of the first business matters to occupy the attention of the club, was the letter from D. Eyman Huff of Hewes ranch, offering them the use of beautiful Hewes park for their annual picnic of June 28.

Of marked interest were the federation convention reports presented by Mrs. F. H. Marks and Mrs. C. F. Crose, one dealing with business and program sessions, the other with the social sessions. Together they gave a comprehensive account of the entire convention.

The program contemplated for 1927-28 was presented by the program committee, Mesdames M. C. Williams, W. H. Whitehead, George Klever and Dr. Evalene Peo. Roll call, answered by current events, brought forth many interesting things.

Several guests were introduced, among them Katharine Bernard, the guest of her mother, Mrs. E. G. Warner, and who has delighted the club on occasions with her beautiful voice. Two new members were introduced, Mrs. Alameda Smith and Mrs. Frank Hoffman.

Two Tustin junior high school girls, the Misses Charlotte Caldwell and Eleanor Reid, pleased everyone with their pretty duets, "Old Fashioned Garden" and "Little Spanish Town."

The members were impressed with the beauty of the gardens on which Miss Ritchey takes so much pleasure. The flowers seemed all at the height of their blooming, and the great beds of larkspur were particularly beautiful.

To complete the pleasant features of the afternoon, Mrs. Ritchey and her daughter, served ices, fruitade and assorted homemade cookies.

Santa Ana Guests At Laguna Party

Mrs. Henry A. Smith, Mrs. Vernon Blythe and Mrs. Clyde Jenken formed a little group of Santa Ana guests enjoying a bridge party given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. William Emerson Jenken, in her charming home, "Bide Awee" in Laguna.

Quantities of delicately tinted spring flowers made a colorful background for the bridge tables, around which the guests were soon congregated for the afternoon contest. At its close, Mrs. Jenken presented her attractive rewards to Mrs. Margaret Franklin of Laguna, who scored high, and to Mrs. Henry A. Smith of this city, who was not favored by fortune in the game.

As the final feature of the afternoon, the hostess served a dainty refreshment menu of two courses.

Home on Newport Road Is Charming Setting For Bridge Event

Thoughtful friends of Mrs. J. A. Prescott, rifled their gardens of their fariest flowers yesterday, to send to her because she was entertaining at one of the spring's prettiest parties, a luncheon followed by bridge, at her home on Newport road.

Small tables where guests were seated for the luncheon hour, were unsually lovely. Each was centered with a crystal candlestick holding a pink taper, and massed at the base of the candlestick were Cecil Brunner roses and lacy ferns, tied with green tulle ribbon. An original note was sounded in the place cards, for Mrs. Prescott had taken a cunning kodak picture of her small son John, (or Jackie as he is known to all close friends of the family) posed with one of his pets, and Mis Mary Smart had printed it attractively on a card folded to allow space for the name and for tallying the afternoon's score at bridge. Cecil Brunner rosebuds, twisted into each card, proved just the needed finishing touch.

The luncheon menu offered such delicacies as avocado cocktail with toasted cheese sticks, chicken a-la-King on rounds of toast, succotash of tender little green beans and home-canned corn; a salad of a cheese-stuffed peach that resembled fruit fresh from the trees; chocolate roll with coffee, preserved ginger and bonbons.

At its close, embroidered linens were soon whisked away and card-table covers placed in readiness for bridge. Mrs. James Willis Rice and Mrs. Glenn Warner aided Mrs. Prescott in taking scores and other details of a bridge afternoon. Mrs. J. N. Bartholomew scored high, with Mrs. Carl Klatt second, and each received beautifully embroidered pillow slips. An attractive little tea pot offered all necessary consolation to Mrs. S. W. Stanley for her ill fortune in cards.

A number of out-of-town guests enjoyed the function, among them being Mrs. Prescott's sister, Mrs. F. H. Chadbourne of Redlands and Mesdames Clark, Hammond, Cronemeyer, E. M. Bartlett, Clarence Wright and X. Bartlett, also of Redlands. From Los Angeles and Beverly Hills were Mesdames W. T. Schneider, Walter Lysle, T. M. Woodworth, William Wolfer, Michael Hurley, Francis Donahue, Elizabeth Cross, J. L. Bowling, Thomas McManus and C. A. McCain, while local guests were Mesdames C. A. Vance, J. H Vance, J. N. Bartholomew, Albert Finley, B. H. Sharpless, Donald Rice, S. W. Stanley, Harold Finley, Carl Klatt, Floyd Spencer, Claudea Worswick, F. H. Fowler, Robert Bartholomew, Clifford Kirk, James Willis Rice, Glenn Warner, Miss Minnie Childs and Miss Bess Hill.

Recent Bride Honored At Evening Party

Complimenting Mrs. T. M. Purdom, was a pleasant gathering recently in the attractive apartment of Miss Mellie Matheny, in the bungalow court of the Spurgeon building.

Mrs. Purdom was formerly Miss Marie Hopkins, and her wedding to Mr. Purdom was of recent date, and an event of much interest to a host of friends. At the party given in her honor, Miss Matheny, Miss Mary Anderson and Mrs. J. C. Hoge shared hostess responsibilities.

Sweet peas and carnations lent a cheery aspect to the pretty rooms, and their charming colors were repeated in the refreshments served late in the evening. Entertainment was derived from a series of games and amusements which led up to the refreshment hour when angel-food cake and strawberry crush were served.

Enjoying the friendly evening were the honoree, Mrs. T. M. Purdom, the Misses Mellie Matheny, Mary Anderson, Irene Anderson, Mesdames J. C. Hoge, J. A. Barger, John Harper, A. N. Beville, George Dickson, P. E. Dooley, S. W. Todd, Maude Cox, C. N. Mozley, J. E. Farr, Margaret Golden, Gertrude Wright, Pauline Clump, Laura Looney, May Wing, A. L. Staton, and Mrs. Margaret J. Spurgeon, whose presence was enjoyed by all.

Bridge Club Husbands Are Complimented Dinner Guests

The Zerman home at 505 South Sycamore street, was bright with flowers and softly gleaming lights one evening this week, when Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Zerman were hosts at a beautifully appointed dinner.

Mrs. Zerman is one of a little club of a round dozen members who meet at regular intervals to play bridge. When her time for entertaining came, she planned the evening party and asked the husbands of the group as special guests.

Dinner was at 7 o'clock, and the effect of gleaming candles amidst a profusion of softly tinted May flowers, was very charming. Diners were seated in groups of four, around small tables, finding their places by hand-painted name cards, designed in harmony with dainty nut-cups, also hand-painted and the work of the daughter of the home, Mrs. A. R. Winter. The delectable three-course menu was served by Mrs. Winter, aided by Mrs. William Stroschein.

Bridge was later played at the same tables, where diner linens had been replaced by ornamental card-table covers. In awarding her prizes, Mrs. Zerman added the scores of each individual husband and wife. Her prizes were all suggestive of cards and card parties, for to Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Artz, scoring high, was presented a card table; to Mr. and Mrs. Cotton Mather, a hand-made luncheon set, and to Mr. and Mrs. Franklin R. Pitner, an embroidered card-table cover.

Enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Zerman, were Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flagg, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert P. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sylvester, Mr. and Mrs. Elon R. Roehm, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin F. Miss Isabel Little, principal of the Alamitos grammar school, was elected vice president, and R. L. Spaugh, principal of the Olive grammar school was elected secretary. Volney Elliott, of Lincoln grammar school, Anaheim, was re-elected treasurer.

Emmett R .Berry, retiring president, was elected as delegate to the annual National Education association meeting to be held this year at Seattle, Wn., July 3-8. Miss Mattie Lou Robertson, principal of the Anaheim Central School, was named alternate.

The meeting was attended by close to 300 teachers, representing the various grammar school districts in the county. The entertainment program was in charge of "the country cousins"—teachers from the rural districts—who entertained the audience with several clever sketches of the old fashioned school house. Included in the program was an old-time spelling match participated in by the greater number of teachers. Miss Lulu Evans of the Almadena school registered a perfect score and was voted the champion speller of the association.

R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, gave a brief talk in which he tracted the development of public education in California, centering his remarks on progress made in Orange county. He also touched upon legislation enacted in the last session of the legislature. In closing he took occasion to thank the trustees of the various school districts as well as the teachers for the hearty co-operation given his office during the school year now drawing to a close, in which remarks he included the officers and members of the various Parent-Teacher organizations.

Refugee Lost 13 Years Finds His Family In France

LONDON, May 20.—Lost to his family for 13 years, a French war refugee in London has just discovered his identity and been united to his parents. Raphael Remon as a boy of 13 fled before the advancing German cavalry in 1914 and became separated from his relatives and was finally put aboard a refugee ship bound for England.

The ship was torpedoed and he was reported dead, but he was rescued. He told his rescuers his name was Remon, but this was understood as "Raymond," and he has been living as Raphael Raymond since then. He renewed his investigations recently when he had difficulty in getting married without identity papers. His father in France in the meantime had renewed his search for his son and the two found each other.

ANGRY BEAR AT VALENCIA SHOW BITES TEASER

"Nellie," a bear owned by J. R. Stephan, who has an animal show in the joy zone of the California Valencia Orange show in Anaheim, just must have her bite when she's angry and it doesn't matter whether she connects with the right party or not.

Along about 9 o'clock last night, Stephan noticed that one of the spectators was teasing "Nellie" by offering the animal an apple and then removing it from her reach. Stephan started to stroke the angry animal on the back and as he did so, "Nellie" suddenly seized his right hand in her mouth, at the same time clamping down hard on the member.

Stephan saved himself from serious injury by seizing "Nellie's" neck with his left hand and choking her, causing the animal to let go the hand with a howl of pain.

A physician in the crowd rendered treatment. No bones were broken and it is believed that the show owner will have the use of his hand.

AUTO ACCIDENT DAMAGE SUITS TOTAL $57,300

W. F. Lindner, who was so unfortunate as to permit his automobile to collide with the automobile of a Los Angeles lawyer, has discovered that he collided with a whole family of lawyers.

First he was sued for $12,000 damages by J. Irving McKenna, Los Angeles attorney, who was driving the other car. That was Wednesday.

Today, two more damage suits, aggregating $45,300 were brought against Lindner as the result of the accident, which took place near Sunset Beach in 1925. One action was filed by Mrs. Catherine McKenna, wife of the attorney, who is herself a lawyer. She acted as counsel for her husband while he appears as her attorney. A third suit was filed by Anna C. McKenna, another member of the McKenna family.

Each of the women demands $20,000 for her injuries. In addition, Catherine McKenna asks $300 as medical expenses and $5000 representing loss of earnings for 10 months at the rate of $500 per month.

S. A. LIONS WIN SECOND PLACE BY ATTENDANCE

Lions of Santa Ana today were parading the streets with rather a proud bearing, following receipt of information from Lions International that the club won second honors in the recent attendance contest. The advice was received by telegraph, and mention was not made of the percentage attained by the club. Berkeley was the winner of first place.

The telegram bringing the glad tidings was read at the club meeting yesterday by President C. S. Crookshank, the president pointing out that the contest was not based on a classification of clubs according to membership. In other words it means that the two California clubs won in competition against all clubs in the United States and Canada.

The prize is free transportation for one delegate to and from Miami, Florida, where the international convention is to be held on June 16, 17 and 18.

Following adjournment of the meeting the board of directors met and elected E. M. Sundquist as the delegate to receive the prize. Crookshank also will attend the convention as a delegate from the club.

Yesterday's session of the club was taken up entirely with the nomination of candidates for offices of the organization, with the election scheduled for the latter part of June, and installation for July 7, 1927.

The installation ceremonies will be made the occasion of a gala social affair, with women present, and a literary and dance program as entertainment features. Jack Riley, former district governor, will be the principal speaker.

Friendly jibes made in connection with nominations created a great deal of mirth, the session being one of the best, from the standpoint of spontaneous fun, held in a number of months. Two names were proposed for each office in order to make the election exciting and interesting.

The nominations were as follows:

President, Harold Yost, Homer Chaney; first vice president, L. D. Coffing, S. B. Kaufman; second vice president, T. F. Ham, Thomas Willits, Rex Kennedy; third vice president, Burr Shafer, H. C. Van Antwerp; secretary, E. M. Sundquist; treasurer, H. L. Hanson, Frank Miller; lion tamer, A. C. Tucker, Bruce Munroe; tail twister, Andy Anderson, F. L. Purinton; trustees (two to be elected), J. C. Wallace, Fred Merker, Roy King, Kenneth Morrison.

Sundquist has been so efficient in his duties as secretary that the club nominated him by acclamation and so vociferously that nomination of an opposing candidate was decided to be useless.

La Habra Pupils Aid Flood Fund

LA HABRA, May 20.—The La Habra schools have done their share for the Mississippi flood relief fund. Up to the present date $32.07 has been collected by school children and teachers, the greater part of which was given by the children in pennies and Nickels. Miss Leoni's fourth grade at the Washington school has a club known as the School Friends club, which voted on Monday to give the entire amount in its treasury, $8.38, to the relief fund.

Hatchets, Bricks Used In H. B. Fight

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 20.—A fight in which hatchets, bricks and hammers played a part took place yesterday between Sam N. Lewis and W. G. Davis, both oil workers. As a result of the fracas, Lewis was fined $25 on a charge of disturbing the peace and Davis was notified to appear in court as soon as he recovered from his injuries.

The fight took place after Lewis, an oil driller, discharged Davis. Words followed and a fight resulted, which was stopped by police officers. Both men required hospital attention.

$177 IS ADDED TO RED CROSS RELIEF FUND

With subscriptions coming in today from Seal Beach, San Juan Capistrano and Tustin, today's total for the Red Cross flood relief fund reached $7,192.30. These subscriptions are for the southern half of Orange county, excepting Orange.

A check for $120 was received from Seal Beach. "This money was raised by a food sale given by the Woman's Improvement Club of Seal Beach and through donations," wrote Ruth S. Vorce, treasurer of the club.

Checks left at the First National Bank of Tustin were turned in as follows: Harry K. Stan[illegible], $1; Chas. Steeman, $2; Garland P. Ferrell, $5; W. B. Risk, $5; Lucy S. Royce, $5; Mrs. M. E. Marshall, $5; Tustin Pythian Sisters No. 27, $8; total, $31.

Checks left at the State Bank of San Juan Capistrano and turned over to the Red Cross chapter today were $15 from the Ladies Club of San Juan Capistrano and $5 from Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Eaton.

These with $5 from Arthur H. Dawson and $1 from L. E. Wells made up today's receipts of $177, bring the total to date to $7,192.30.

ASSOCIATED C. OF C. WILL ATTEND SHOW

Following a custom of many years, the Associated Chambers of Commerce will meet Thursday of next week at Elks club, Anaheim, and be entertained by talent presenting programs at the California Valencia Orange show. The Anaheim chamber will be host to the county organization, and George Reid, secretary, was given assurance that the program will be of excellent character.

Following the dinner and program, men and women present will go to the show for inspection of exhibits and to marvel at the beauty of the show, both in decoration and in point of exhibits.

BREA

BREA, May 20.—L. B. Shipley has taken over the management of the Daley Grocery store, beginning his duties there on Monday. Mr. Shipley takes the place of C. A. Noyer and wife, who have been in Brea in this capacity for the past several months and who left yesterday for their new home in Washington. Mr. Shipley is being assisted for the present by his brother's wife, Mrs. Tobey Shipley.

Out-of-town guests who attended the recent card party given by the Pythian Sisters were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Salveson, formerly of Brea but now of Long Beach, accompanied by Miss Frankel; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ford, of Anaheim, and Mrs. Eva Countless, of that city. Prizes were given to Mrs. Minnie Pheiffer, Mrs. Ruth Templeman, Mr. Twining and Mr. Amhurst. Mrs. Alice Linnes looked after the comfort of the guests as hostess.

Dr. A. C. Foy, who has given up his offices on South Pomona road, is now nicely located in the Craig building in the office rooms directly north of W. A. Culp's offices. Dr. Foy is in Brea only two days of each week, the rest of the time being devoted to his Long Beach practice.

Floyd Rogers, Brea mechanic, who was nearly overcome with carbon monoxide gas on Friday of last week, is now back on the job but feeling a bit the worse for his experience.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Epla returned Wednesday from a four-day trip to Ventura county, where they visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thorpe, with whom they made many motor trips of interest. Santa Barbara was visited and Feather Hill farm, one of the most interesting of its kind in the world, also came in for attention. Here may be found houndreds of varieties of the efathered friends, gathered by the owner of the farm, an aged man who delights in this hobby. The Thorpes, who have many friends in Brea, have a lovely new home in Ventura and the visit of these friends was one of mutual pleasure.

Ben Baker, Brea youth, who was seriously injured some weeks ago in the Brea Boiler works, has been brought to the home of his parents on South Walnut. Ben was taken to the Santa Fe hospital in Los Angeles where he submitted to the amputation of his right leg just above the knee. He is sai dto be getting along fine and no further complications are now anticipated.

Covers were laid for nearly 300 Masons and their wives and friends at the dinner given by Citrol lodge, U. D., in Sewell hall Saturday night. Following the dinner a splendid program was presented in the lodge room proper after which the guests were entertained by cards and dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gnagy are entertaining Mrs. Gnagy's father, S. M. Swigart, and her sister, Miss Hope Swigart, of San Jose, who have come to Southern California with the intention of making it their home. While they are looking about for the place in which they wil settle they are making their home with the Gnagys. On Wednesday of this week Mrs. Gnagy had as her guests a cousin and her daughter, from Reinbeck, Iowa, and an aunt fro mAzusa. Mrs. Meissner, the Iowa cousin, departed with her depahter the next day for her eastern home after having spent several weeks in California.

[illegible] H. Lee, veteran of the Spanish war, has been made camp commander of the newly organiezd United Spanish War Veterans camp, known as Camp Warwick, at Fullerton. Other Brea men who are identified with the organization are C. R. McClure, C. C. Kinsler, H. B. Phillips and H. C. Landon . Phillips has been made junior vice commander, while both Kinsler and Landon are trustees. Installation of the camp was May 11.

Two ne wemployes have been added to the clerical force of the Oilfields National bank. R. T. Smith, recently of Stoutland, Mo., began his duties there Tuesday morning. Mr. Smith has had 14 years' experience in banking circles. With his family he is at present living in La Habra but expects to remove to Brea with the close of the school term. Miss Lucille Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Reed, long time residents of Brea, is the other addition to the force, taking the place of Miss Katherine Tippin, who has been with the bank since its opening last November.

Sixteen new members have been added to the auxiliary as a result of this drive and credit was given to Mrs. Ella Stumbo for having secured the most members.

Lions from Brea den who attended the charter party given in honor of the new Fullerton and Costa Mesa clubs at the Orange county fair grounds on Tuesday night, accompanied by their wives were E. H. Peterkin, W. A. Culp, W. N. Hubbard, E. W. Curtis, H. B. Birney, Hart Chesley, G. W. Bird, Sidney Potter, C. H. Woodruff, Cross, A. D. Yost, J. A. Allen and the Rev. W. J. Oldfield. J. R. Collins and George Henigan, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Helen, also were present.

Serving of a silver tea at the home of Mrs. W. D. Shaffer on Wednesday afternoon was the occasion for a social event for members of the Woman's guild of the Congregational church. The business meeting of this organization is held on the first Wednesday of each month and the social events fall on the third Wednesday in the future.

Converting of Legion hall into a make-believe theater, employing of ushers and usheretes, seating the guests by the aid of flashlights down dim aisles, gum venders, and later the presentation of a vaudeville performance by the members of the losing side in the recent drive for membership in the Legion auxiliary, was the unique method employed by Mrs. Kathleen Burns and her committees in entertainin gthe winners in the drive Wednesday night. Mrs. Burns, however, was acting for Mrs. Freda Rogers captain of the losing team ,who was unable to be present.

Contrary to report that Mrs. Frank Hartman had moved to Elsinore last week, she is now settled in the house of Mrs. C. E. Burton, on South Flower street. Mrs. Hartman has been living for some time in the Royal Court apartments.

Members of the Bee Hive club met in Sewell hall Monday afternoon where with guests they enjoyed playing "500." Later refreshments were served. Prizes went to Mrs. Minnie Pheiffer and Mrs. Florence Horrocks.

LOWER EDISON RATES JULY 1 ARE ANNOUNCED

An "experimental" reduction of the Southern California Edison company's lighting rate was announced today by the State Railroad commission, according to word received by W. L. Deimling, manager of the local Edison office, following an informal conference with R. H. Ballard, executive vice-president and general manager of the company.

The reduction, affecting 365,000 domestic, agricultural and industrial consumers in the company's district, will become effective July 1.

The present maximum rate for lighting and general household of six and one-half cents per kilowatt hour will be lowered to five and six tenths cents, a reduction of 14 per cent. The seven cent rate in the San Joaquin valley district will be cut to six cents.

Belief that the reduction will stimulate sales for household purposes and thus reduce service costs led the company to formulate the new rate, the commission explained.

Toy Industry In Berlin Menaced

BERLIN, May 20.—The famous German toy industry is in danger of being wiped out by machine-made playthings and competition in the world markets.

Thousands of men and women in and about Nuremberg who used to carve toys out of wood in their homes have abandoned the trade because high tariff walls,

'HOWDY, MAYOR' WILL BE RIGHT TERM AUGUST 1

On and after August 1, Santa Anans can do legally what they have been doing by custom.

That is, they can say "Howdy, Mayor," and "Hello, Chief," without feeling a qualm of conscience over the fact that Santa Ana's legislative head is not really a mayor and its police department head is not legally a chief of police.

Not that anybody ever noticed the qualm of conscience!

Yesterday Governor Young signed a bill that puts officials of the fifth and sixth class on the same level with the verbiage usually applied to them.

Under the law that has been in existence for several decades, the city government in cities of the fifth class, of which Santa Ana is one, and in cities of the sixth class, among which are numbered all of the other incorporated cities of Orange county, included a "board of city trustees," of which the president officer was "the president of the board of city trustees." It included a "city marshal" and a "city recorder," whose court has been known as "the city recorder's court."

As a matter of common practice, however, the ordinary citizen has used different names. It did not seem right to Assemblyman Jacobson of San Francisco for this to be as it has been. So he set about getting the affair straightened out so that officials of the smaller cities might be called by names as they are.

The new bill, which becomes ef-

CONTRIBUTORS TO RED CROSS FUND THANKED

Local Chairman Receives Letter from Headquarters Expressing Thanks

Speaking of the contributions to the Mississippi flood relief fund by southern half of Orange county as a "distinguished service," R. E. Arne, assistant vice-chairman of the Red Cross at San Francisco, division headquarters, has written a letter to Santa Ana chapter thanking the contributors to the Red Cross for their support.

This letter was written May 16 upon receipt of a check for $1,000 from Santa Ana, making the total sent from this chapter $5,000. Since that time a sixth check for $1,000 has gone forward to the San Francisco office, and today a seventh check is to go, bringing the chapter's total to $7,000. It is expected that a few hundred dollars over and above $7,000 will be contributed.

Santa Ana chapter comprises not only the central organization in Santa Ana but also a number of branches. Contributions in the $7,000 total have come from Garden Grove, Huntington Beach, El Toro, Tustin, San Juan Capistrano, Laguna Beach, Newport Beach, Balboa, Costa Mesa Santa Ana and other communities of the southern half of the county.

The letter from R. E. Arne, received by T. E. Stephenson, chairman of the local Red Cross chapter, reads as follows:

"We have received your letter of May 10th with which was enclosed a remittance in the amount of $1000 which brings your Chapter's contribution to the Mississippi Valley flood relief to a total of $5000. This sum is almost five times the amount of your original quota of $1100.

"It is needless for me to say that this office is extremely proud of the distinguished record the southern half of Orange county has made in its relief campaign. We wish that it were possible personally to thank each of the citizens who have so generously contributed to the fund. If you have an opportunity to express to the people of Santa Ana chapter and its branches, the appreciation of the American Red Cross for their wonderful response to the plight of the people of the Mississippi Valley, we hope you will not fail to do so.

"We are especially pleased, to know that your communities are not going to stop at quadrupling the quota, but plan to go ahead and raise still more. The extent of the calamity which has overtaken the Mississippi Valley is so enormous that it is impossible for any community to give too much.

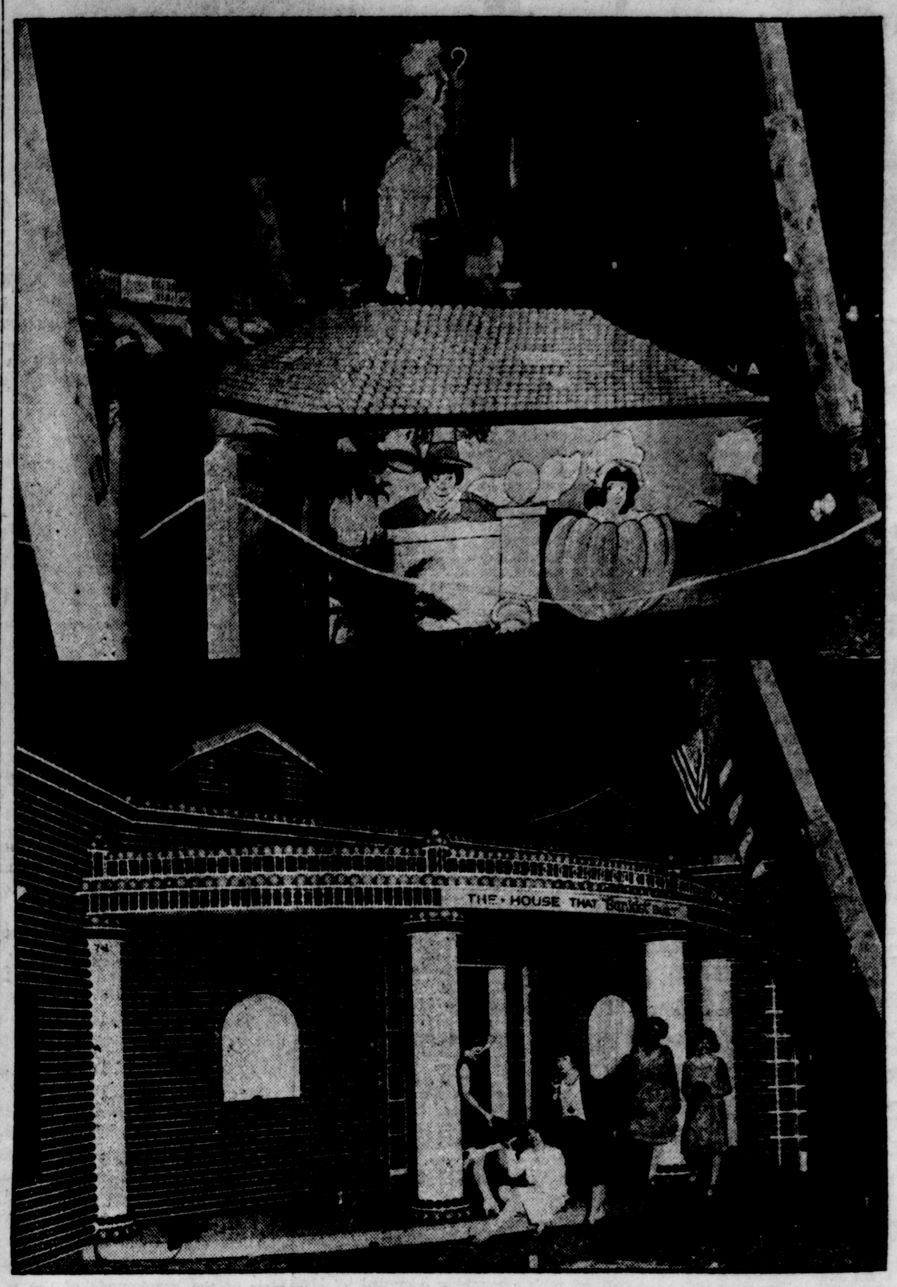
FEATURE EXHIBITS AT ORANGE SHOW



Top—Santa Ana exhibit at California Valencia Orange show, at Anaheim, which is declared one of the most original and exquisite exhibits at the show. It was arranged and painted by the Fisher-Hicks studio. "Little Bo Peep" is interpreted in this display. Lower—"The house that Jack Built" only it is designated as "The house that Sunkist Built," being the exhibit of citrus fruit associations of Orange county.

NEW 1927 DOG TAGS CAN NOW BE PROCURED

Attention of all dog owners in Santa Ana is today called to the fact that the 1927-28 dog licenses will be due on June 1, the beginning of a new fiscal year and that the new dog tags can now be procured at the Santa Ana police station.

The tags, hundreds of them, arrived yesterday and are ready to be dispensed. Owners of male dogs will be charged $2 for new licenses and owners of female dogs will be charged $3 according to A. H. McClure, pound master.

Some 400 dogs had tags placed around their necks last year, it was said. Whether this number will be increased this year is not known.

A check of the files yesterday determined that more dogs in Santa Ana are called "Ted," "Jiggs," and "Bud," than any other name.

5000 PASS THROUGH GATES OF CALIFORNIA VALENCIA ORANGE SHOW ON THURSDAY

That the seventh annual California Valencia Orange show will go far ahead of the attendance records of last year was indicted tody when H. E. W. Barnes, president of the show, declared that at 5 o'clock last night, the total receipts exceeded those for the entire opening day last year. What the night receipts were could not be accurately determined but it was estimated by show officials that the total attendance was close upon 5000.

Today a much larger crowd appeared, many of them coming from different points, according to the show's register just inside the exhibit of the big top. All day long they milled through the huge structure viewing the many wonders on every hand. As was the case yesterday, the beautiful exhibit entered by Santa Ana attracted much admiration, and many declared it was one of the most original and exquisite exhibits that they had ever seen in any show.

Inasmuch as today was children's day, thousands of the kiddies were early on hand to see the fairyland they had heard and read so much about during the past few weeks. That they enjoyed the show just as much as the grown-ups was evidenced by the "oh's" and "ah's" that could be heard on every side. So cleverly was the nursery jingles portrayed in the exhibits that practically every child recognized his or her favorite character and the outbursts of exclamations kept the tent fairly humming.

Even the entertainment was arranged with the children in mind, with the result that they had the time of their little lives.

One big feature of this entertainment will be the famous Boys' Chorus of Santa Ana. Another will be the part provided by the Anaheim high school and Uncle John and his kiddies from Radioland.

Although the show was not officially opened until last night, hundreds passed through the turnstiles when the gates were thrown wide at 10 o'clock in the morning and before the opening program had even commenced several hundred had been registered.

Yesterday was Legion Day and veterans and their friends were in attendance, especially in the evening, when they turned out in

ORANGE COUNTY FOREST BOARD TO BE SOUGHT NEXT TUESDAY

Supervisors to Be Asked to Appoint Committee to Serve Without Any Pay

PRELIMINARY STEPS HAVE BEEN TAKEN

If Project Successful It Is Planned to Reforestate S. A. Mountain Range

Formation of an Orange county forestry board loomed here today. Several organizations have taken up the matter and will meet with Orange county supervisors next Tuesday afternoon at the courthouse, according to reports. The steps taken here to form a county forestry board will be the first taken by any California county in forest conservation, it is reported.

Preliminary steps toward forest conservation have already been taken in Orange county through the work of the Green Cross, and through the co-operation of the water conservation committees of the farm bureau and the Associated Chambers of Commerce and the forestry committees of the farm bureau and the Native Sons organization of Santa Ana. Representatives of these organizations will appear before the county supervisors and ask them to appoint a forestry committee to serve without pay, it is reported.

Results of the reforestation move in Orange county will be very beneficial to the county according to A. M. Stanley, secretary of the Orange County Farm bureau, and a member of the forestry committee of the Native Sons.

It is proposed to enlarge the county nursery at the Orange county park and make the park a county reforestation headquarters. During the past few months the Orange county farm department has started a small nursery in the park and now has several hundred, cork oak, Jeffry pine, sycamore, Arizona ash, and carobs growing in the park nursery. If the forestry project is successful it is probable that the entire Santa Ana mountain range will be reforested in a systematic way with trees started in the Orange county park.

The committees will also ask the county board of supervisors to assist them in forming a volunteer forest fire brigade, it is reported. The fire brigade would be patterned after the style of military companies and those joining would be given training in fire fighting, in packing and in other work necessary in combating a forest blaze.

A few months ago fire fighters were seriously handicapped in fire fighting because of the lack of organization and training, according to Stanley. He declared today that had it not been for the intensive work of Bert Stephenson, U. S. forest ranger in the Santa Ana mountains, in organizing the fighters, little would have been accomplished. He pointed out that a school conducted for the volunteer fire brigade would greatly simplify forest fire fighting in Orange county in the future.

In line with the steps being taken by the reforestation and water conservation committees in the county toward the appointment of a forestry committee, has been the steps taken by the state forestry department during the past few weeks, according to Stanley. One new forest ranger and pos-

AT THE THEATERS

These are members of the International Jazz Revue, one of the vaudeville season's outstanding novelty offerings, which is to be presented at the Yost Broadway theater tonight and tomorrow.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Tom Mix himself took charge of one of the difficult tasks encountered in the production of "The Outlaws of Red River," his latest film drama in which he has the role of a Texas ranger, and which is showing at the West Coast-Walker theater.

It was necessary for the rangers to drag a coach to the top of a hill and let it crash into the outlaws' stockade. Mix solved the problem, and took the vehicle up the steep incline with Tony leading the horsemen in the difficult task. The camera caught all of this, and in addition a lot of the most beautiful California scenery as a background.

Marjorie Daw has the leading feminine role. Among the cast are Francis McDonald, Arthur Clayton, Duke Lee, William Conklin, Virginia Marshall and Jimmy Downs.

In conjunction with the Mix picture is a Fanchon and Marco vaudeville presentation filled with an unusual amount of snap and pep.

In the offering is featured several of Fanchon and Marco's most versatile artists, including dancers, singers and comedians.

Bobby Wolf and his band offer something new in the way of musical entertainment.

Driver In Wreck Case Fined $15 In Police Court

Charged with operating an automobile without a driver's license, after the car he was driving, collided with a machine occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Moore, 2002 West Fifth street, Wednesday night, Arturo Martinez, Santa Ana laborer was fined $15 in City Recorder J. F. Talbott's court yesterday. He paid the fine.

The Moore machine was struck by Martinez' car while Martinez was turning at an intersection, it was said. Mrs. Moore and two small children were slightly injured and treated at the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

BALBOA

BALBOA, May 20.—Mrs. F. A. Matthews spent the past week end in Escondido.

The postmaster, E. B. Whitson, is taking a week's vacation, leaving last Monday with Mrs. Whitson and Patricia for Escondido.

Mrs. Mary A. Brown was among those who attended the Mission play last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Steiffel celebrated the birthdays of Mr. Steiffel, Mr. Whitney and son, D. Whitney, at the Steiffel home on Central avenue last Monday evening with a turkey dinner. The birthdays of the three men came so close together that it was decided to celebrate them jointly with Mr. and Mrs. Steiffel as hosts.

Mrs. A. W. Pierce and baby, of Los Angeles, have been here for a week, planning to return to her home next Sunday.

Mrs. Charles M. Hartman and Mrs. A. Gold, of Fullerton, are occupying their cottage at 212 East Bay avenue for a few days.

Chief Frank Crocker went to Los Angeles Wednesday on business connected with the fire department.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Smileagh, who are in the preserving business at Los Angeles, are stopping in Balboa for a week.

Cline's Chili parlor on Main street it now open night and day.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rigden moved this week from the Bay Side villa to the St. Clair apartments at 116 1-2 Bay avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Dreisbach spent two days of this week in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Fitzgerrell and two children and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reed, of Hollywood, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Smith.

M. E. Brown, of Glendale, caught an 18½-pound halibut from the pier on Wednesday morning. This one had to be beached before it could be taken from the hook, but Mr. Brown shortly landed another halibut, of less weight, which he brought in with the line over the pier railing. Mr. Brown is the brother of O. E. Brown, who has a large summer home on the ocean front on the peninsula.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Dennison, of the faculty of Pomona college, chaperoned a party of about 100 seniors of that college on Wednesday, the occasion being "ditch day." At night the party enjoyed a moonlight boat trip on the bay.

The senior class of the Huntington Park high school came to Balboa on Tuesday in a special car for a class picnic on the beach and a ride around the bay.

F. J. Krueger, of Riverside, is stopping for two weeks at the Ocean Swell apartments. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pottinger, of Los Angeles, also are spending several days here.

YOST THEATER

One of the finest sea pictures seen here since "Down to the Sea in Ships" is "The Yankee Clipper," which was shown at the Yost theater with exceptional success last night. This is an epochal picture story dealing with the glorious days when the American flag waved triumphant in the rigging of the greyhounds of the sea—the clipper ships. The story of a historic clipper race is graphically told in a series of highly thrilling sequences. The leading roles are in the capable hands of William Boyd and Elinor Fair, both of whom scored artistic triumphs in "The Volga Boatman." Walter Long and Junior Coghlan also are featured.

MENARD PLAYERS

If your daughter or your sister, a girl of the middle class, married a wealthy young man and the bride induced her wealthy mate to live with the "old folks," would it be right and proper for the family to accept gifts from him, to make life a little more attractive and provide a few long-hoped-for luxuries?

Does the so-called "upper class" look down on the so-called "lower class" as people to be pitied and as the objects of charity? On the basis that wealth is often the result of circumstance and not the indication of a superior intellect, should not the members of the lower class refuse aid from the upper class on the ground that to accept help would be to acknowledge inferiority?

These interesting questions are solved entertainingly and satisfactorily in "White Collars," the Ann Nichols drama being presented at the Temple theater by the Menard Players. There is plenty of suspense and yet plenty of laughter all the qualities blending together to make a most interesting dramatic vehicle.

Between acts, vaudeville specialty numbers are heard, but the play moves so swiftly that the company is enabled to give two shows each evening, at 7 and 9 p. m. A special matinee is booked for tomorrow.

Beginning Sunday evening, the Menard Players will present "The Best People," written by Mary Roberts Rinehart.

SHEARS, KNIVES SHARPENED—Fix It Shop, 105 E. 3rd.

William Boyd and Stanton Heck in a scene from "The Yankee Clipper," picture to be exhibited tonight, tomorrow and Sunday at the Yost theater.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Five vaudeville selections will be offered at the Yost Broadway theater tonight and tomorrow.

The International Jazz revue offers the season's outstanding novelty attraction. The revue is manned by six clever artists, in which is included a Spaniard, Chinaman, Scotchman and Indian who form a jazz orchestra, and the featured members, Stan Mitchell and Flo Eckert, a team of clever dancers.

Harry Bart and Ben Joyce are two boys from musical comedy, each possessed of a pleasing singing voice. As harmony singers, these two chaps are hard to equal, much less excel.

Benny and Lee will offer for your delectation and amusement a comedy sketch, "Learning to Be an Actor."

Harry Brown believes in putting sunshine into his daily toil and that is why he is known to the world as "The Singing Juggler."

Last but not least is "Meat: The Wife," an introduction to a dozen minutes of fun and song. It is the title of a comedy skit made both mirthful and melodious by Eddie Gaffney and Tess Walton.

Two of the chief attractions of "See You in Jail," which is now meeting with popular favor on the Yost Broadway theater screen are Jack Mulhall and Alice Day. Mulhall is featured and Miss Day plays opposite him.

The Grannan eulogy:

"When I see the ambitions of man defeated; when I see him struggle with mind and body in the only legitimate prayer he can make to accomplish some end; when I see his aim and purpose frustrated by a fortuitous combination of circumstances over which he has no control; when I see the oustretched hand, just about to grasp the flag of victory, take instead the emblem of defeat, I ask: what is life? I do not know whether there be a future life or not. I do not say there is not. I simply say I do not know. I have watched the wicket-gate close behind many and many a pilgrim. No word has come back to me. The gate is closed . . ."

This from Gaines

And again, from Gaines:

"I came into this universe without my volition and found a loving mother's arms to receive me. I have no power to change conditions, but the same power which prepared the loving arms of a mother to receive me here will make proper reception for me there. It may be that death is but a signal whistle that marks the movement of a train out into the broader and freer ethereal plane of life."

From the Grannan eulogy:

"I came into this universe without my volition—came and found a loving mother's arms to receive me. I had nothing to do with the preparation for my reception here. I have no power to change the environment of the future, but the same power which prepared the living arms of a mother to receive me here will make proper reception for me there . . . it may be that death is but the signal whistle that marks the movement of the train out into the broader and freer stretches of spiritual being."

The startling nature of Gaines' remarks, coming from a poorly educated criminal, were perhaps little more surprising than the eulogy over Riley Grannan, the race-track plunger, 19 years ago, coming from an unknown and unattached minister, who was also a prospector and mining camp follower. The eulogy was described by the magazine as "one of the most eloquent panegyrics that has been heard in this generation."

The orator was Herman W. Knickerbocker, wandering parson who was drawn to Rawhide by the lure of gold. This parson, however, had held high places in the ministry. The magazine relates that he had once been pastor of Trinity M. E. church, in Los Angeles, "where he quickly earned a reputation as one of the most eloquent pulpit orators on the Pacific Coast." It is stated that his "broad and liberal views proved unacceptable to the leaders of the church" who tried him for heresy. He was acquitted, but resigned. Then he tried the stage, and built a theater at Tonopah in 1903, but failed. From there he knocked about the gold fields until five years later found him delivering the remarkable eulogy over the meteoric gambler's grave.

ORANGE COUNTY FOREST BOARD TO BE SOUGHT

sibly a second is to be placed in Orange county mountains this summer to assist Stephenson in keeping a watch on the forests, it is reported. The rangers will work in co-operation with W. E. Adkinson, Orange county fire and game warden.

Among those who will appear before the supervisors Tuesday are members of the farm bureau water conservation committee, including H. A. Lake, of Garden Grove, C. Russell Cook, of San Juan Capistrano; John Dunston, of Tustin; J. A. Prizer, of Fullerton; and J. J. Dwyer, of Anaheim; members of the Farm Bureau forestry committee, W. M. Cummings, of El Modena; A. D. Smiley, of Garden Grove; and Willard Smith, of Villa Park; members of the Native Sons forestry committee, Wilson Selvidge, Allen Selvidge and A. M. Stanley, of Santa Ana; and members of the water conservation committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, including W. J. Carmichael, of Fullerton; H. H. Hale, of Placentia; Stanley Goode, of Santa Ana; A. E. Hargrove, of Anaheim; and A. N. Saxton, of Orange.

That the move to start a real reforestation program in Orange county will meet with success is the belief of Stanley. He pointed out the losses sustained by the county in the fire last year and also gave some figures in forestry in the United States, showing that fire losses each year more than eat up the yearly growth of trees. Stanley also pointed out that 10,000,000 acres of forests were cut in the United States last year and only 50,000 acres were replanted.

After complimenting the citizens of Orange county and the show officials upon the really magnificent spectacle they had provided in honor of the valencia orange, Lieut. Gov. Buron Fitts declared that wonderful as is Southern California and its citrus industry today, its future depends on how the problem of water conservation of this state is solved.

"Hardly a corner of California but has its water problems in a greater or lesser degree," said the speaker. "It is a peculiar coincidence that three-fourths of the rainfall of the state occurs in the northern section, and that three-fourths of the water used for irrigation is used in Southern California. This is the one great problem of the state how to bring the water to the place where it is needed.

"All cities of this state are dependent on how prosperous their surrounding farming communities are able to become. The economic and social life of any community hinges on agriculture, and no community can be more prosperous than its farmers. You here in Orange county have your local water problems which you are trying to solve. You are interested in the great Boulder dam project, which will in time be solved."

Swinging from the water problem to politics, the speaker declared that "if it has come to a pass where a man cannot serve his government without losing his sincerity, his honesty and enthusiasm then there is genuine work for every citizen of the four corners of our nation.

"The one fault of our government is that it is run by an organized minority. Our citizenship is content to close up its business and go fishing on election day," the speaker said. "We are too prone to forget our great privilege of the ballot." The speaker was introduced by Barnes, who preceded the main feature of the evening by crowning Miss Margaret McFadden, of Yorba Linda, queen of the show.

Although the three judges appointed to pass upon the exhibits in the feature section started their work yesterday, it will be two or three days yet before the awards are made. This year the exhibits are so many and so elaborate that much time will have to be taken before a decision is reached.

The judges in this section are J. A. Clayes, principal of Anaheim union high school; L. W. Chobe, designer of Glendale's winning floats in the Pasadena tournament of roses, and V. Woodbury, of Alhambra.

Tonight the first test in the great world's championship orange packing contest will be held, the first group of three teams being given their chance to show their skill. The teams competing tonight are those from the Glendora Heights Orange and Lemon Growers, Olive Fruit company and American Fruit Growers.

Santa Ana-Tustin Mutual team will make it test Wednesday night, May 25. All the tests will be held on the stage in the main exhibition tent, and will start promptly at 1:15 p. m.

'Howdy Mayor' Will Be Right Term August 1

fective the first of August, officialy designated the city board as "the city council," the members of which are "councilmen," and the presiding officer of which is "the mayor." The head of the police department is the "chief of police," instead of the "city marshal," and the city recorder thereafter will be legally the city judge, and his court the city court.

Contributors to Fund Thanked

Although the Red Cross is not going to ask the public for a sum larger than the $10,000,000 already appealed for, it is obvious that this amount will by no means be adequate to rehabilitate the more than one-third of a million people who are now destitute. Santa Ana citizens may be assured that there is urgent need for every cent which they may contribute."

HILL-CLIMBERS SPANK GROCERS IN P. M. LEAGUE

Getting "hot" in the fifth inning, the United Presbyterian Hill-Climbers broke a 7 to 7 tie, scored 7 runs and spanked the Smart and Final Grovers, 14 to 7, in the third game of the Twilight league season at Lincoln park yesterday.

Raitt, working for the churchmen, was unsteady at the outset, the Smart and Final men making two runs in the first, four in the second and one in the third. The Hill-Climbers evened things by turning in two counters in the second and five in the third.

Raitt held the Grocers safe thereafter whereas J. Peterson, the Smart and Final flinger, was assaulted savagely in the fifth, eight Hill-Climbers hitting safely during this rally.

Dugger, Boyle and Dunbar did the heaviest slugging for the victors while Long, Cox and Chapman were best for the Grocers.

The Smart and Finals wore green sweaters, lettered in front and numbered in back.

The game this afternoon between the City Hall and the Court house was to finish the opening week's schedule in the Twilight flag hunt. Games next week follow: Monday—Frances Willard Playground vs. Courthouse; Tuesday—City Hall vs. American Legion Bugle and Drum corps; Wednesday—Smart and Final vs. Julia Lathrop Playground; Thursday—Post Office vs. U. P. Hill-Climbers; Friday — Court House vs. U. P. Hill-Climbers.

One Turkish Girl Never Wore Veil

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 20.—young Turkish aristocrat, Hadjie Selma Ekrem, inaugurated the boyish bob and the mannish suit here and is known as the only Turkish girl who has never worn the veil. Her father was once governor of Jerusalem, and of the Aegean islands and her grandfather, Nomick Kemal, was Turkey's foremost poet.

Mlle. Ekrem will lecture in the United States this fall.

POLY WEISMULLER

Charles Kausen, speediest of the Weismullers at Santa Ana high school, may cop some of the aquatic honors in the Coast Preparatory league's swimming meet at Long Beach tomorrow. He can swim 25 yards in 12 seconds.

POLY NATATORS TO PARTICIPATE IN SWIMMEET

Entries are to be made by Santa Ana high school in four of the aquatic events to be held in connection with the Coast Preparatory league swimming meet at Long Beach tomorrow, Coach "Tex" Oliver, who is training the Poly water navigators, announced today.

Most of the schools of the league will be represented.

This is the first year that Santa Ana has entered a team with any expectation of winning honors. The competition will be stiff but Coach Oliver said that some of the Poly swimmers, especially the fast Charles Kausen, may take places.

The entries which Santa Ana will make consist of Charles Ehrhorn and Charles Kausen in the 50 yard dash; Kausen in the 220 yard dash; Herman Reinau and Ehrhorn in the diving and a relay team composed of Ehrhorn, Kausen, Reinau and Paul Gustlin.

O'Brien, Gonzales Clash at Stadium

LOS ANGELES, May 20—Tommy O'Brien, Santa Monica 135-pounder, and Henry ("Young") Gonzales, Arizona lightweight, head tonight's fisticuffs bill at Hollywood stadium.

BIG FISH LANDED

BALBOA, May 20.—The biggest halibut of the season, one of very few caught here, was landed from the Balboa pier this morning, according to Bert Stevenson, sportsman. The fish weighed 18 1-2 pounds. It is rarely that halibut are caught in the still waters near the pier.

STUDENTS VOTE ON NAMES FOR LOCAL COLLEGE

A vote was being taken today at the Santa Ana junior college to decide definitely the disputed question of whether the present name should be changed and another adopted by which the college shall be known.

Seven names, including "Santa Ana Junior College," are on the ballots. The voting is being carried out by preferential choice, removing any possibility of a revote being necessary.

Names on the ballot are Santa Ana junior college, Santa Ana college, Valencia college, the Dons college, Santa Ana Valley college, Heretoga college and Savoc college. These were presented by the committee on names, headed by Ralph Stewart.

The name Heretoga is a Greek word symbolizing the type of leadership which is supposed to be developed in college. Initial letters of the title "Santa Ana Valley, Orange county," were used to form the name "Savoc" college.

A count of the ballots will be made this afternoon after the close of college, and the results will be tabulated.

For several weeks past, much agitation has arisen among the students over the proposal to change the present name because of the confusion of the "junior" in the title. It was claimed that the college was often associated with the city junior high schools. Moreover, the agitators declare that "junior," implying inferiority, has objectionable features of itself.

ORANGE CROP WILL SHOW BIG INCREASE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—The California orange crop is estimated at 28,500,000 boxes by the U. S. crop reporting board. This estimate has been increased from an estimate of 24,000,000 boxes in December, as a result of unusually favorable growing conditions and absence of injury from freezing.

The crop board's estimate includes all oranges picked during the current crop year, beginning the first of last November and extending until the last of next October.

The California orange crop totaled 24,200,000 boxes last year, and 18,100,000 boxes two years ago.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

ARDEN GROUP F EBELL CLUB HAS ELECTION

lection of officers, reports by mbers of the section and an ad- ss by E. F. Whiting, landscape chitect, featured the meeting yes- day afternoon of the garden sec- n of the Ebell club, held at the b home.

ollowing a report by Mrs. J. T. lson that the section had made et profit of $116 from the flow- show held in April, the section ected that $100 of the sum be sed to the general fund of the ell club.

Mrs N. H. Hilton reported on gress of the garden beautifu test the section is developing, reminded her auditors that en- s in the contest may be filed as as June 1. Mrs. Cood Adams, der of the section, today added voice to the general appeal of section for entries in the con- t. A number of home owners ady have entered, but it is the ire of those directing the contest t there be a large list of house ners engaged in the competition. n the election, all of the old of- rs were returned, they being . Adams, leader; Mrs. H. J. y, vice leader, and Mrs. T. J. lson, secretary-treasurer.

n his address, Whiting discussed subject of how the section could t help beautify Santa Ana. iting that the section is entitled leadership in a campaign for utification of the city because s the oldest organization engag- in that work, the speaker re- red to the new Santa Ana City rden Club and the Orange Coun- Association of Nurserymen as ncies upon which the section ld draw for assistance and co- ration.

It has been my experience that greatest single element in clos- a sale is the ability of the sman to visualize for his pros- t the benefit to the prospect of product he is selling," Whiting . in pointing out that the or- izations are now trying to "sell" people of Santa Ana on the y beautiful" idea, and suggest- that all join forces in a display the county fair this year as a nonstration of what is possible Santa Ana in the way of grow- beautiful flowers.

The last, but by no means the t important organization which be of a great deal of help to is the Santa Ana city council," iting continued. "In talking to ividual members of the council to the body as a whole, I find t they are more than willing to operate in beautifying the city. ile their power is limited, due ack of funds, I believe you will within the next year a great provement in our parks and oth- municipally owned lands.

The people who need most the p of the organization are those o cannot afford professional help who cannot pay high prices for nt material. I believe the solu- to this problem is a free rse in land-scaping, sponsored by the garden section, and made available to all persons interested in beautifying their homes."

Whiting made the further suggestion that children be interested in a contest by alloting each child a plot of ground and supplying him with free seed. He was of the opinion that owners of vacant lots would be happy to grant their free use to children.

"Every man must admit this," Gary said.

"Never before in my affiliation with industry has there been a time when governmental administration was honestly, sincerely and actually so interested in the prosperity of the country."

In the absence of Mrs. Fay R. Spangler federation president, who was unable to attend on account of a previous engagement, Mrs. W. W. Hoy, first vice president, acted as hostess. The arrangements were in charge of a special committee headed by Mrs Roy W. Beall, and including Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, Mrs. Walter Fine, Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, Mrs F. H. Youth Swallows Tack In School

SANTA ROSA, Calif., May 20.—Fred Kausen, 10, was in a hospital here today following the swallowing of a thumb tack yesterday in school.

Whether through forgetfulness or over-confidence, Fred failed to remove the thumb tack from his mouth when it came his turn. His word was "cinomprehensibility." As closely as he could determine later, he swallowed the tack on the third syllable.

The tack was removed with the aid of a thoroscope. Physicians said he will suffer no ill effects.

SACRAMENTO, May 20.—The California Crime Commission which is directed to make a study of the "entire subject of crime, with particular reference to conditions in the state of California" became a reality recently when Governor C. Paris Nips Soviet Radio Propaganda

PARIS, May 20.—A wireless quarrel is shattering the night air for European radio fans.

The Soviets at Moscow every evening for some time have been sending in Esperanto, but at the first phrases a strong French station has cut into spoil what the French evidently think is propaganda.

Moscow, experts say, frequently changes wave length to find a hole in the air, but the French station, whose identity is kept secret, follows the Russians up and down the scale and so far has prevented Moscow from getting out to France at least more than a few phrases.

Soviet Collects Taxes With Vans

RIGA, May 20.—The Soviet authorities of Leningrad have started what they call a "mass scale raid" for the purpose of collecting outstanding taxes.

The official report states that the tax officials have mobilized horse vans and motor lorries with which they are visiting all trading and industrial enterprises, including the market stalls, and demanding tax receipts. If the proprietors fail to produce their receipts the officials immediately seize goods or other property, which is then removed in the vans or lorries to the auction halls for sale.

ORDINANCE NO. 812

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SANTA ANA, REPEALING ORDINANCES NOS. 740, 742, 755 AND 758 OF THE CITY OF SANTA ANA, AND ABANDONING ALL PROCEEDINGS HAD THEREUNDER.

The Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana do ordain as follows:

Section 1. That ordinances Nos. 740, 742, 755 and 758 of the City of Santa Ana are hereby repealed and all proceedings had under said ordinances or either or any of them are hereby declared abandoned and the City Attorney instructed to dismiss any actions or proceedings now pending under said proceedings.

Section 2. That said ordinances so repealed and proceedings had thereunder were proceedings under the laws of the State of California, known as the "Street Opening Act of 1903" and amendments thereto, governing the opening of streets within municipalities and particularly to the proposed opening of North Sycamore Street from Washington Avenue to Fifteenth Street and from Fifteenth Street to Seventeenth Street respectively in said City and said ordinances are repealed and said proceedings abandoned by the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana on account of certain irregularities in said proceedings and without prejudice to the Board of Trustees initiating new proceedings under the laws of the State of California, for the opening of said street, or such other improvements as to said Board of Trustees may seem proper.

Section 3. The City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this ordinance and shall cause the same to be published three times in the Santa Ana Daily Evening Register, a daily newspaper printed, published and circulated in the City of Santa Ana and thirty (30) days after its final passage it shall take effect and be in force.

The foregoing ordinance is approved this 16th day of May, 1927.

F. L. PURINTON,
President of the Board of Trustees.
(Seal) E. L. VEGELY,
City Clerk.

The above and foregoing ordinance was introduced at an adjourned regular meeting held on the 9th day of May, 1927, and duly passed and adopted at a regular meeting of said Board of Trustees, held on the 16th day of May, 1927, by the following vote:

AYES, Trustees: J. L. McBride, W. J. Kelly, Stanley E. Goode, F. L. Purinton.
NOES, Trustees: None.
Absent, Trustees: W. G. Knox.
(Seal) E. L. VEGELY,
City Clerk of the City of Santa Ana.

ORDINANCE NO. 813

AN ORDINANCE PRESCRIBING THE METHOD OF PROCEDURE FOR ESTABLISHING SET-BACK LINES IN THE CITY OF SANTA ANA, AND PENALTY FOR THE VIOLATION OF ORDINANCES ESTABLISHING SUCH LINES.

The Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana do ordain as follows:

Section 1. That proceedings for the establishment of set-back lines along any portion of any street or streets, alley or other public way or place in the City of Santa Ana, shall be initiated as in this ordinance provided. A petition may be filed with the City Planning Commission asking that such set-back line or lines be established, which petition shall designate the street or portion of street along which such lines are sought to be established, and shall be accompanied by a map or sketch showing the street and lot lines, and the proposed set-back lines, and the distance thereof from the regularly established property line. Said Commission shall thereafter cause an investigation to be made, after which said petition shall be presented to the Board of Trustees, together with the recommendation of said City Planning Commission.

Section 2. Upon consideration of such petition, or upon its own motion, whenever the public peace, health, safety, comfort, convenience, interest or welfare may require, the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana is hereby authorized and empowered to determine the minimum distance back from the street line for the erection of buildings or structures along any portion of any street, public way or place in the City of Santa Ana, and to order the establishment of a line to be known and designated as a set-back line, between which line and the street line no building or structure shall be erected or constructed.

Section 3. Before ordering the establishment of any set-back line authorized by Section 2 hereof the Board of Trustees shall pass a resolution of intention so to do, designating the set-back line or lines proposed to be established, which resolution shall be published once in a daily newspaper published and circulated in said city, and designated by said Board of Trustees for that purpose; and one copy of said resolution shall be posted conspicuously upon the street in front of each block or part of block of any street, public way or place where such set-back line is proposed to be established. Said resolution shall contain, also, a notice of the day, hour and place when and where any and all persons having any objection to the establishment of the proposed set-back line, or lines, may appear before said Board of Trustees and present any objection which they may have to said proposed set-back line or lines as set forth in said resolution of intention. Said time of hearing shall not be less than fifteen (15) or more than forty (40) days from the date of the adoption of the resolution of intention; and said publication and posting of said resolution shall be made at least ten (10) days before the time of said hearing.

Section 4. After the adoption of said resolution of intention, and prior to the time the ordinance establishing a set-back line or lines in such proceedings becomes effective, no building permit shall be issued for the erection of any building or structure between any proposed set-back line and the street line, and any permit so issued shall be void.

Y. CHORISTERS MAKE HIT WITH GOOD PROGRAM

New laurels were won by the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. choristers last night when they appeared in the annual blackface minstrel performance at the association building. They were greeted by an audience which practically filled every inch of available floor space, and which was generous in its appreciation of their efforts.

Jokes, old and new; songs, mostly old favorites, and specialties of various sorts, were strung together to make up an evening of enjoyable and creditable entertainment.

C. E. Hawk, as interlocutor, contributed largely to the effectiveness of the program by his clever handling of the cross-fire of jokes and announcements. He was ably assisted by a number of thoroughly disguised end men and singers, who sang and joked their way through the evening with excellent results.

The second part of the program, presenting a burlesque radio broadcast, was especially entertaining. H. A. Bradley acted as announcer, with Hugh Osborn serving as janitor, Lyle Forman as operator, and Clyde Gilbert as electrician, while a long list of talented performers contributed their offerings to the program.

The work of the chorus was exceptionally good throughout, their voices blending most harmoniously in the "barber shop" chords. The Hi-Y orchestra gave good support, and "Sunny" Sundquist as accompanist for the minstrels, was helpful as always.

The profits from the show will go to help the boys' camp aid fund, which is used to help boys to pay their way to summer camp.

Legal Notice

Section 5. At any time not later than the hour set for hearing objections and protests to the establishment of the proposed set-back line or lines any person having any interest in any land upon which said set-back line is proposed to be established, may file with the City Clerk a written protest or objection against the establishment of said set-back line or lines designated in the resolution of intention. Such protest must be in writing and be delivered to said Clerk not later than the hour set for said hearing, and no other protests or objections shall be considered. All protestants may appear before the Board of Trustees at said hearing, either in person or by counsel, and be heard in support of their protests or objections. At the time set for hearing, or at any time to which the said hearing may be continued, the Board of Trustees shall proceed to hear and pass upon all protests or objections so made, and its decision shall be final and conclusive.

Said Board of Trustees shall have power and jurisdiction to sustain any protest or objection and abandon said proceeding, or to deny any and all protests or objections, and order by ordinance the establishment of said set-back line or lines described in the resolution of intention, or to order the same established with such changes or modifications as the Board of Trustees may deem proper.

Section 6. From and after the taking effect of such ordinance establishing any set-back line or lines, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to construct any building, wall, fence or other structure within the space between the street line and the set-back line, so established, and the Building Inspector shall refuse to issue any permit for any building or structure to be erected within such space.

Section 7. Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of any ordinance establishing any set-back line pursuant to this ordinance, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or by imprisonment in the County Jail of the County of Orange, for a period of not more than six (6) months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Each such person, firm or corporation shall be deemed guilty of a separate offense for each day during any portion of which any violation of such ordinance is permitted, continued or committed by such person, firm or corporation, and shall be punishable therefor as provided by this ordinance.

The City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this ordinance and cause the same to be published three (3) times in the Santa Ana Daily Evening Register, a daily newspaper of general circulation published and circulated in the said City and it shall take effect (30) days after the date of the first publication thereof.

The foregoing ordinance is approved this 16th day of May, 1927.

4 LANGUAGES TO BE SPOKEN BY STUDENTS

Four languages will be spoken by students of the Santa Ana high school and junior college when the annual language department program, open to parents and townspeople, is given next Wednesday in the school auditorium, it was announced today by Miss Lella Watson, department head.

More than 500 high school and junior college students are enrolled in the language classes. On language day, while the classes are in session, visitors are invited to attend the class recitations. The language program, consisting of 14 numbers, will be held after school, at 3 o'clock, in the auditorium. Musical numbers and skits are being arranged for presentation.

In addition to the program, an exhibit of poster displays and class room work will be open to inspection in room 38.

All the numbers on the entertainment program will be entirely in foreign languages. French, Spanish, German and Latin students will take part.

The program follows:

Latin students will sing a round of songs, "Nonne Dormis." Those taking part are Sherrill Spurgeon, Evelyn Wurster, Ellen Schnebly, Marion Jean Berger, Ralph White, John Moffat, Sanborn Griffin and Joseph Korns.

A solo, "Lauriger Horatius," will be sung by Miss Ellen Schnelby.

Dramatization of the Spanish folk tale "Juana la Lista," will be presented by a cast consisting of Bess Marie Simmons, Emyrs White, Gladys Earley, Lloyd Manderschied, Dudley Shaw and Lucille Morgan.

Miss Frances Bragg will sing a German ode.

A duet in German will be sung by Miss Amelia Martin and Miss Frances Bragg.

Students of Spanish will give a Spanish ballet. Raymond Griset will read the ballet while it is acted by Henrick Van Rensselaer, Ross Fields and James Smith.

The high school Spanish chorus will offer two selections, "Vite, Vite, Vite" and "Ya Se Murio el Burro."

Original German monologues are to be given by Miss Flora Groenow and Miss Theodora Mueller.

Junior college girls are to dance a French folk dance, accompanied by the chorus of high school girls.

Miss Virginia Pope will sing a Spanish solo and Miss Hazel Smith will sing a French solo.

A comic French skit, "Les Martin au Restaurant," will be staged. The students in the cast are William Poe, John Fitz, Ethel Osterman and Roy Griset.

Accompanied by the French chorus, Miss Elaine Smith will sing French folk songs.

M'COY AND CLERK SUED FOR $50,000

A suit in which he seeks a total of $50,000 damages, was filed today by W. L. Sibley, a resident of Santa Ana Heights, against William McCoy, a member of the Bryan, Bradford and McCoy company, subdividers of the tract, and Clara B. Brooks, bookkeeper for the firm. Sibley seeks $25,000 from each of the defendants.

The suit is the outgrowth of a search of Sibley's home on May 13 for articles which Miss Brooks alleged had been stolen from her home. The home of W. J. Lawver, formerly salesmanager for the realty company, was entered on a search warrant at the same time. The articles listed as stolen in the search warrants were not found by officers and the men were not arrested.

McCoy is out on bail on four counts of embezzlement, filed in Los Angeles recently. McCoy's preliminary hearing on the charges has been set for May 31 in Los Angeles.

FIRES FIVE SHOTS AT NIGHT PROWLERS

Five shots were fired last night in a midnight battle between W. L. Sibley, resident of Santa Ana Heights, and two men he found on his property. That one of the intruders was hit is seen in the discovery of blood on some tin cans where the men were standing.

Sibley had just returned from Long Beach, when his wife remarked that their dog was acting strangely. Taking his shot gun, Sibley walked into the front yard. He saw two figures on the east side of his place and fired one shot. Immediately after, one of the men fired a six shooter at Sibley, the bullet grazing his cheek. Sibley dropped to the ground and then fired three other shots at the men, who turned and ran. After reaching their automobile, which was parked on Twenty-third street, the men turned the machine and came up the street on the west side of the Sibley home, traveling at a speed estimated at 60 miles an hour. The men made no further effort to attack Sibley and soon were out of sight.

Spanish Meeting Is Held by Club

BREA, May 20.—Marking its last meeting of the year, the Spanish club of the Fullerton junior college met Tuesday evening at the home of the president, Miss Dorothy Schweitzer, of this city. Miss Geneva Johnson, instructor of Spanish in the college, was the guest of honor and was presented with a handsome silk traveling umbrella designed to be of use to her on her year's trip in Europe, much of which time is to be spent in Spain. Miss Johnson has secured a leave of absence of one year from her duties in the college.

Twenty-two members of the club were present and guests were Mrs. Alexander Anderson, of Fullerton, and the Misses Clara Mae Post, Louise Chapman, Gladys Mathews and Mrs. Ruth Hagin, all of the faculty of the Brea-Olinda union high school. The entire business and social meeting was conducted as nearly as possible in Spanish. Mrs. Anderson, in Spanish costume, sang two Spanish songs, and Miss Post gave a very interesting talk on her travels abroad, at the same time exhibiting many treasures of art which she gathered while in Europe. Meetings of the club will be resumed with the opening of the new school year.

POOL IS URGED FOR FULLERTON MUNICIPAL PARK

FULLERTON, May 20.—A review of the activities of the past week occupied the attention of the directors of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce at their weekly luncheon at McFarland's cafe yesterday.

The secretary, Ray B. Leach, was requested to confer with school officials relative to the summer playground program in Fullerton. Director Rich Volk stated that he hoped that the recreational program this year will turn out as successful as that adopted by the chamber of commerce last summer. He recommended that a similar program be arranged for this year.

Secretary Leach announced that the model home committee will meet tonight at the Fullerton club rooms to make plans for the erection of the model home at Richman avenue and Brookdale avenue.

The secretary was given a vote of thanks for his work in sponsoring the proposed widening of South Spadra road. The directors reviewed the tentative plans for the improvement which Leach compiled and declared that he was deserving of much praise for his work.

Director H. A. Krause outlined the improvement plan for the municipal airport at the end of West Commonwealth avenue. He added that much progress has already been made toward improvement of the airport.

The possibilities of Hillcrest park as a site for a municipal swimming pool were put forward by Director Robert Strain, who declared that since many things of interest will soon be placed at the park, the swimimng pool would be an added attraction. He claimed that Fullerton is falling behind other cities of Orange county in developing recreational facilities.

The directors appropriated $25 at the request of the Rev. S. Fraser Langford for the summer Bible school.

Leach reported that Fullerton citizens were giving splendid support to the California Valencia Orange show, which was shown by the fact that 150 family tickets to the show had been obtained from the chamber of commerce headquarters.

Leach mentioned the fact that a note of thanks had been received from the mother of Peter Hax, Fullerton business man who was killed in the east a few weeks ago, for a floral piece that the organization had sent.

SANTA ANA FRATERNAL AND PATRIOTIC ORDERS

NEW ORDER TO BE ORGANIZED FOR S. A. GIRLS

Girls between the ages of 13 and 20 who live in Santa Ana will soon have the chance to become members of the Order of Job's Daughters which will be organized here in June according to a report received from the executive council of the Grand guardian council of California, Order of Job's Daughters.

A necessary requirement for every member is to be related to a Master Mason or to be related to him through law, stated Mrs. Ida B. Smith of San Francisco, grand guardian, who was in Santa Ana last week to start the organization on its way.

She said that it would be instituted in the first part of June and that all girls asking for membership before June 1 would be considered charter members. Names may be left with Judson Sutherland, assistant Bethal guardian, at his office, 427 North Sycamore street, or they may be phoned to him at 1165.

Members of the guardian council for this city may also accept names for membership. These members are Mrs. Mary P. Matthews, Mrs. Eva Jane Parker, Mrs. Sadie Roehm, Mrs. Helen Kellogg, Miss Henrietta Bowling and Harry Garstang.

Mrs. Smith stated that the purpose of the order is to band together young girls for moral and spiritual up-building, to teach the love of God, of country, of home, and family, and a deeper reverence for the teachings of the Holy Scriptures.

2 SANTA ANANS ARE HONORED AT MEET

Mrs. Bertha Dixon was elected to the department council and Mrs. Belle Nourse was elected delegate-at-large at the department convention, United Spanish War Veterans, held last week at Santa Cruz, according to reports read at Tuesday night's meeting of Calumpit auxiliary at K. President May Glaze presided over the meeting.

It was announced that a pot luck social would be held Friday night, May 27, at the Knights of Pythias hall, Fifth and Broadway. The supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock and cards will be played after 8 o'clock.

PAST MASTERS OF DEMOLAY TO ATTEND DINNER

Among the past master counselors who will be present at the theater and dinner party given by the Santa Ana chapter, Order of DeMolay, next Tuesday, will be Harry Farrar, charter member, who was the first to be elected to the high office.

That Farrar would be here has been virtually assured, it was learned at the meeting of the Santa Ana chapter last night.

All of the past master counselors are being expected at the party, in whose honor it is being held. This will be the first time in the history of the chapter that all of them has ever met for a reunion. Final plans for the occasion were completed at the meeting of the Santa Ana chapter last night when the reports of committees were heard.

Music will be furnished by Bobby Wolf, a one act play, "The Medicine Show" will be presented by members of the high school drama class and a vaudeville act is to be arranged on the program.

The chapter members, with their girl friends, will meet at the Masonic temple at 7 o'clock and from there go to the theater. After the theatrical entertainment, they are to attend a dinner at Ketner's cafe. From indications there will be more than 50 present for the evening's entertainment.

Other matters of business were transacted by the Santa Ana chapter at last night's meeting. Raymond Brown, master counselor of Templar chapter, Orange, was present. He told of plans that are being formulated by the Orange DeMolays for a dance to be held at Orange county park, to which the other chapters of Orange county will be invited for the purpose of encouraging fellowship between the county DeMolay youths.

A committee was appointed to meet with the Orange chapter next Monday night to formulate plans. On the committee were Eric Reinau, chairman; Robert Perrin and Don Smith.

The dance will include several special features for the entertainment of guests according to members in charge of the program. These features are to be changed every week.

CHARLES DIXON HEADS SPANISH VETS OF STATE

Charles E. Dixon of this city was elected department commander of the department of California, United Spanish War Veterans at the department encampment held at Santa Cruz recently.

Dixon was born in Terre Haute, Ind., 58 years ago. He was educated in the public schools in Kansas. In 1894 he came to California and after a few year's residence here he enlisted in Battery D, First California Heavy Artillery, May 8, 1898.

Dixon was appointed active color-sergeant and when the first non-commissioned officers were appointed he was made first duty sergeant. He sailed for the Philippine Islands May 25, 1898.

He was detailed to special duty in the provost marshal general's office in Manila and later returned to his battery for duty when he was appointed battalion quartermaster sergeant.

Near the close of his service he received a recommendation for appointment as second lieutenant. After being discharged Dixon returned to Los Angeles with his battery and soon after was appointed to a position on the police corps of that city. In this service he rose, through competitive civil service examinations, to sergeant, lieutenant, captain, and finally chief.

Dixon has always been active in the work of the Spanish War veterans and is said to have held more offices in camps and in the department than any other comrade in the department of California.

Those to complete Commander Dixon's staff of officers include Clarence A. Son, San Francisco, senior vice commander; A. C. Munson, Los Angeles, junior vice commander; Frank B. Graves, Hanford, department inspector; F. F. Atkinson, Sacramento, department judge advocate; Frank J. Ziegler, Los Angeles, department chaplain; Charles W. Myler, Santa Monica, assistant color sergeant; Charles Williams, Long Beach, chief musician; Thomas Nee, Richmond, assistant musician; Declan Hurton, San Francisco, assistant musician.

With Dixon's election to the highest office in the department, headquarters were moved to Santa Ana, 1138 South Ross street.

MAN CLAIMED BY TWO WIVES, TWO FAMILIES

TURIN, May 20.—A baffling case of "lost memory and finger-prints" is absorbing the attention of all classes in every corner of Italy.

The mysterious man known as "the human enigma," who, after nearly a year's residence in the institution for the insane at Collegno, near Turin, was simultaneously "recognized" by two women as their husband and identified by two sets of brothers and sisters as their relative in the person respectively of Professor Giulio Canella, high school principal, and Mario Bruneri, whom the police want for fraud, has caught the imagination of the public here.

Despite the evidence of finger-prints that the unknown is Mario Bruneri, and the assurances by police authorities all over Europe that the system is infallible, the Turin magistrates, in order to avoid any possible mistake, have continued their examination of the case.

The strange case of "the human enigma" has produced a number of curious side developments. A duel has been fought on the outskirts of Turin between supporters of the rival theises; at least one book has been published on the case and the vaudeville shows and comic papers all over the country have featured the Canella-Bruneri affair.

One of the smartest cafes in Turin put two new cocktails on the market, the "Canella" and the "Bruneri," and if public sympathy is any indication of the truth of the matter, then the mystery man should be canella, for three "Canellas" are being drunk to every "Bruneri."

The offer of a reward of $1500 by the Canella family for any information as to the whereabouts and recent history of Bruneri has caused scores of practical jokers to write to the magistrate offering misleading information. Tt least a dozen "Bruneris" have appeared, and in consequence complicated the work of the authorities, unwilling to let a genuine clew to the case slip by.

Spiritualists and mediums have asked to be allowed to take a hand in the case, while several hypnotists have offered to put the unknown into a trance which will clear up, they allege, his true identity without fail.

As Mario Bruneri was a printer, it has even been suggested that a test be taken of the unknown's blood for traces of lead and antimony, which, it is stated, would, in view of the man's old trade, certainly be present.

STATE WILL STUDY OLD AGE PENSIONS

SACRAMENTO, May 20.—The proponents of old age pensions came a step nearer the ultimate enactment of a pension law recently when Governor C. C. Young signed an act providing for a careful study of the practicability of such a step, and a report to the legislature of 1927.

The bill, introduced by Assemblyman Byrne of Los Angeles, authorizes the department of public welfare to make a thorough investigation of old age pension laws in other states and countries, and of the system of pensions best adapted to California, and to make recommendations based on such study. Six thousand dollars is appropriated for expense incident to the inquiry.

COUNTY AIRPORTS PROVIDED BY ACT

SACRAMENTO, May 20.—A bill by Senator Charles W. Lyon of Los Angeles county, authorizing supervisors to create county airports, has just been signed by Governor Young and will soon become law.

The bill authorizes counties to install and maintain airports, to operate them, and to levy a special tax of not more than three mills on the dollar for the purposes of the act. The new law also authorizes the issuance of bonds, by vote of the people, for airport purposes.

CYPRESS

CYPRESS, May 20.—While fishing at Hodges lake Sunday, Dean Priddy was the victim of a painful accident. A fish hook was drawn through the flesh of his left thumb. It was necessary to have the aid of a physician to remove the hook. The injured member is doing nicely, showing no indications of infection.

The local chamber of commerce met at the school hall Tuesday evening. The Century boulevard was the principal item of discussion. Steps to co-operate with the other sections are being taken. A meeting with Garden Grove, Stanton, Hansen and all of the districts is being planned for the near future.

Little Riva Priddy represented the Cypress P.-T. A. on the program at the Anaheim high school Tuesday evening.

A grass fire whcih threatened some of the residences south of the P. E. tracks called the fire department out Saturday. Fire Chief La Rue soon had the blaze under control. The blaze started from a rubbish fire and might have resulted in a considerable property damage.

Nelson Fitzgerald, of the Cypress garage, returned from a trip to his old home in Texas Friday. Mr. Fitzgerald was called there by the illness of his father. On arriving home he was taken ill with the measles. He is doing very nicely but will not be able to resume his duties at the garage for several days.

Southern California Gardens

By RUSSELL S. ADKINSON

The chief plantings for the present are the asters, zinnias, and chrysanthemums, so I shall continue the list of shrubs which may be planted now as well as monthly.

Mountain Lilac

The Ceonothus family is a very interesting one and one of which little is known by amateurs. Many are familiar, however, with the so-called Mountain Lilac which is a native of California. Authorites seem to differ as to which this is but most of them class the Coonothus Thyrsiflorus as Mountain Lilac. It has heavy clusters of beautiful blue flowers in the springtime and also has an attractive evergreen foliage.

Like most natives it is difficult to transplant unless in a container. To bring it in from the mountains with success is a hard matter. Once established, however, it will stand a great deal of drought and excessive cold weather.

Other varieties are the Hybridus, Arboreous, Arboreous Hybridus, Incans, and Devarricatus. All grow to be quite large shrubs.

Mexican Orange

The choisya ternata carries the common name of Mexican orange because of its origin and similarity of its flower to the orange blossom. The foliage is trifoliate and light green. It is of medium size and grows quite bushy, flowering heavily in the spring.

The greatest objection to the choisya is that it is apparently short lived. Some plants attain a good age but numbers of them only live about five years.

Chorizema

An odd shrub is the Chorizema illicifolia with its holly-like leaves and cerise and orange pea-shaped flowers. The growth is not very dense, but is attractive and the floral effect is always appealing. A great deal of difficulty is found in growing it. The best location seems to be in partial shade. A very tiny slug, known as a pear slug, attacks the foliage and causes a great deal of damage, just leaving a skeleton of leaf veins. Dusting with sulphur is a very good means of control.

Tree Cineraria

The Cineraria platanafolia has foliage like that of the well known bedding cineraria, but is much larger. It grows to be an immense shrub bearing large clusters of yellow flowers in winter.

Rock Rose

The Cistus family of rock roses is not well known. They have a short flowering period and the flowers last but a day. Maculatus is one the most effective, the flowers being pure white with a brownish spot at the base of each petal.

Other varieties are the ladinafolia purprea, alba and rosea. All are well adapted to dry banks.

Copresma

Perhaps no shrub has more names applied to it than the Coprosma Baurei, whose real common name is New Zealand holly. Its round green foliage attracts the attention of the planter as well as bringing forth such names as "patent leather plant," "wax plant," "shiny leaf," and many others. Flowers seldom appear on it here but in New Zealand it has clusters of showy berries.

Coronilla Glauca

The coronilla has a very nice, smal lfoliage and is of meduim size. The flowers are yellow and pea-shaped appearing in winter. The glacua variety has a blue-gray foliage.

Another good coronilla is the Emerus with a light green leaf and a brownish spot to the yellow pea-shaped flowers. Both are quite hardy.

Cotoneaster

Most gardeners are familiar with the Cotoneaster group but it is necessary to include them to completely cover the field.

Franchetti

The Franchetti is of spreading nature with graceful arching branches. The leaves are dark green with grayish white underneath. Light ping flowers appear in the spring followed by orange-red berries. It is medium sized in its growth.

Horizontalis

Perhaps the most prostrate variety of practical use is the Cotoneaster horiozntalis. It is very low, spreading close to the ground. The foliage is dark green and very small, partly falling in winter. During the spring masses of tiny pink flowers appear which are followed by bright red berries. Groups of this variety are very effective.

Mycrophylla

Another low grower which does not spread quite as close to the ground as horizontalis, is the microphylla. The leaves are about the same size but are lighter green. The berries are of a coral to red color. It is used in very much the same manner as the above.

Panosa

The favorite of the family is the Panosa or silver cotoneaster. Tall growing with graceful arching branches of gray-green leaves the underside of which are covered with a silvery down, it is very attractive. The flowers are tiny and white followed by bright red berries that remain for several months.

Other cotoneasters not so important are thymopholia, acuminata and frigida.

The variety known as Schneideri promises to be very popular once it has become known. It is similar to Franchetti, but more compact and bears darker berries and in greater quantities.

LEGION SIGNS MAY BE POSTED OVER COUNTY

Thoroughfares leading into the 10 cities in Orange county which have local posts of the American Legion will be sign-posted with the legon emblem in full colors, calling attention to the place, day and time of the post and auxiliary meetings, if plans outlined at the county council last night meet with the approval of local organizations.

The matter was brought to the attention of the council by Com. Frank Mason of the Brea post, who was named as chairman of a committee to promote the sign-posting idea.

If present plans, carry, Orange county will be the first in the United States to adopt such a plan, according to Mason, who is having a sample sign-post made, which he will display to the various county posts at their regular meetings.

Tre proposed sign is a two-foot replica of the Official American Legion emblem, finished in blue and gold, mounted on a six-foot post, which also carries information to visiting legionnaires about meetings of the organization.

NEWS FROM ORANGE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

ILLINOIS MAN NEW PRESIDENT OF ROPE FIRM

ORANGE, May 20.—Clarence W. Jordon, formerly of Galesburg, Ill., has been appointed general manager and president of the Western Cordage company, to succeed O. B. Eller, who resigned several weeks ago.

Jordon, who arrived in Orange a short time ago looking for an opportunity to become affiliated with an industrial concern is understood to have purchased a substantial interest in the rope concern.

An aggressive sales policy is planned by Jordon in co-operation with William Batt, recently chosen production superintendent at the plant. Ability to carry out the objectives of the board of directors and ideas of his own have been demonstrated by Jordon in his management of the W. A. Jordan company, wholesale grocers and manufacturers of twine and small rope in Galesburg, Ill., before he came to Orange, it is declared.

With the coming of Jordon, the board, which has been lacking one member since the resignation of Eller, is now complete. The members are Jordon, president; Fred Grote, vice president; A. W. Swayze, secretary; Fred H. Alden, treasurer, and F. W. Struck, director.

The new executive of the factory is understood to have severed his business relations with his former project and will bring his family to Orange soon.

Miss Blank, who was crossing the street, was brushed by the fender of the Danner machine.

Miss Blank is prominent in high school dramatics, being cast in the senior play "The Fool," being produced this evening.

The other accident occurred when a car driven by E. Rodriquez, of 159 North Cypress street, overturned on Tustin boulevard, near Olive. Four people riding in the car were said to have suffered minor cuts and bruises. The accident took place, according to reports, when the front wheels buckled when the car struck a rough place in the road.

HUGE RODEO IS OPENED TODAY IN COLISEUM

As the scene of what is expected to prove one of the greatest of wild west yearly contests Los Angeles made its bow today in the opening of the first annual Los Angeles rodeo, sponsored by the Los Angeles National Horse Show association in the coliseum, transformed into a gigantic arena for the three days and nights of the $200,000 spectacle.

Throngs gathered at the coliseum grounds long before the gates were opened at 12:30 o'clock eager to get the choice locations among the allotment of 60,000 general admission seats placed on sale two hours before the opening of the show, in addition to the 20,000 reserved seats sold for each performance.

The wild west evnets opened with a spectacular grand entry in which the entire entry list of more than 200 world famed cowboys and cowgirls paraded around the track of the arena, with a tribe of Flathead Indians mounted on their famous calico and buckskin ponies, cowboy clowns on trick mules and stunt riders.

The initial program was given an international touch by the appearance in the arena of 15 South American gauchos, or cowboys of the Pampas, who demonstrated how wild cattle are caught in the Argentine with their noval bolas, a substitute of the cowboys' lariat. The bolas are formed by three six foot ropes knotted at the center, with weights at the ends, hurled from the saddle to entangle the animals legs.

DOBLE CONVICTION AFFIRMED BY COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—Abner Doble, president of the Doble Steam Motor company, is guilty of conspiracy to violate the state corporate securities act and must serve a sentence in San Quentin penitentiary, the district court of appeals has ruled, in affirming the judgment of the lower court.

Doble in 1923 was granted a permit by the state corporation commission to sell 100,000 shares of capital stock in Southern California. When the quota was reached, Doble applied for another permit to sell more stock, but was refused.

The state charged that Doble, although his quota was filled, continued to sell stock in excess of his allowance.

Movie Chatterbox

Ten years ago Tom Mix made "Cupid's Roundup" for William Fox. A few weeks ago he completed his 65th film for that producer. And every one of his pictures are still showing in all parts of the world.

When Mix joined Fox he was just a rookie in the movie racket. His cowboy mind wouldn't permit him to wear make-up—it was too sissified. Tom wasn't making much money in those days but he lived comfortably and really didn't know what he would do with a larger salary.

Now things are different. The cinema cowboy king is the highest salaried actor in motion pictures. He has one of the finest homes in Beverly Hills, headquarters for the celluloid elite. And he uses make-up.

Many Films on Market

At the present time Mix has more pictures on the market than any other player. And his films are the biggest money-makers produced. Statistics compiled by the Fox studio a few months ago showed that in a single night Mix productions were being shown in more than 1200 theaters in the United States.

"Its a tough job keeping in condition to do the things required of me," said Mix. What a strange room—the walls were adorned with Stetson hats, all of them different, which reached entirely around the room. Boots, set neatly on the floor, stretched half way around the floor.

"I really have to keep in just as fine trim as a fighter. When I am not working I come to the studio and go through a half hour of strenuous exercise and then box four two-minute rounds with my trainer. He makes me box my best, too. Of course, when we are shooting on a picture, I only take a light workout every day because the riding and rough stuff keeps me in pretty good trim.

Stories Just About Same

"My pictures—well, they aren't a whole lot different now than they were 10 years ago. Naturally we have improved them a great deal from a technical standpoint. But my stories are along the same general themes as they always were. The public doesn't want them any different, so why should I change?"

Mix is just about boss in his own unit. He must approve every story and pass on every film before it is released. He also supervises the selection of his casts—especially his leading ladies, who are changed with each picture.

There is one in Tom's company who can't shout his own praises—that is Tony. Next to Tom, himself, Tony is the outstanding figure of the pictures. Mix has about 40 horses but he never uses any but Tony in a picture. And Tony has proven his worth. Not a picture goes by but what he does things that appear impossible.

Tom and Tony go through everything together. Both scorn "doubles."

Few women anywhere in the world follow a more unusual occupation than that of one woman in England who earns her living by tearing and twisting the fringes of the tartan plaids which are worn by certain regiments of the British army.

Ten college students who will be chosen from the handsomest in 40 colleges will be given movie contracts.

COUNTY BUDGET BILL PROVIDES ONE INNOVATION

The new county budget bill, passed by the 1927 legislature, introduces just one important innovation—advance publicity—so far as Orange county is concerned, it was shown today by a study of the new uniform budget law of California.

The act provides for printing of the budget in pamphlet form for the taxpayers, publication of notice in a newspaper that the pamphlets are available, and a hearing at which the taxpayers may have their sy before the new year's expenditures are irrevocably fixed.

That is virtually the only material change that will be occasioned in the management of Orange county's finances by the new law. Orange county adopted the budget system several years ago and operates the plan in a manner similar to that laid out by the budget act, namely, submission of budget estimates by the various department heads, preparation of the budget by the county auditor from these estimates, and filing of the budget with the county supervisors, who base the tax rate upon it.

These various steps are included in the new law. It provides that the estimates submitted by department heads cannot be cut down or changed without a hearing. The auditor's budget shall then be presented to the supervisors by July 30. The board of supervisors is empowered to add an unbudgeted reserve for emergencies. Before August 15, pamphlets containing the budget items must have been printed and a notice published in a newspaper advising the taxpayers that the pamphlets are available. Then, on August 20, the supervisors must open a hearing that shall last for ten days, taxpayers being privileged to protest or file suggestions regarding the budget. At the conclusion of the hearing, the board acts upon the budget and fixes the county ta xrate. Th budget and rate is then returned to the auditor, who commences compiling the various county, school district and special taxes, under the rate furnished him by the supervisors, in preparation for the fall tax collections.

The new budget act provides that in case of public emergency, the county supervisors may, by a four-fifths vote, add to the budget after it has been advertised and the hearing upon it completed.

The new law is said to have been sponsored by the California Taxpayers association, and was backed by the agricultural interests of the state. It goes into effect in July.

Chicago Jury Says Woman Must Hang

CHICAGO, May 20.—For the first time in almost five years a woman yesterday was found guilty of murder by a Chicago jury, with the added instructions that she be hanged.

The jury in Judge Philip Sullivan's court, after three hours' deliberation, found Mrs. Katherine Cashler guilty of the murder of William Landstrom.

"We recommend the death sentence," the jury's verdict read.

Mrs. Cashler slumped in her chair but was quickly revived.

The mother collapsed and was carried from the courtroom.

PUBLICITY WILL BE DISCUSSED AT P.-T. MEETS

With "The Reading Public and the Parent-Teacher Movement" as the topic of discussion, the subject of publicity will be one of the main features of both the national and the state conventions of Parent-Teacher associations, to be held this month in California, the former opening next Monday, May 23, in Oakland, and the latter Tuesday, May 31, in Los Angeles, according to advices received by Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, publicity chairman of the fourth (Orange county) district of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Listed as one of the main events on the program for the national meet is the big publicity banquet, to be given in Hotel Oakland on the evening of May 24, to which invitations have been sent out to leading publishers and prominent newspapermen. Among the speakers will be Vaughan MacCaughey, editor of the Sierra Educational News; Joseph R. Knowland, editor of the Oakland Tribune; Miss Ruth McClintock, club editor of the Los Angeles Evening Express; Miss Ethel Whitmire, of the San rFancisco Examiner, and Fred J. Hart, editor of the Alameda Farm Bureau Journal.

Speakers at sessions of the publicity institute to be conducted during the convention will be Joy Elmer Morgan, Washington, D. C., editor of the Journal of the National Education association; Arthur H. Chamberlain, managing editor of the Sierra Educational News, Los Angeles; Mrs. Laura Underhill Kohn, New York, manager of the National Publicity bureau, and Mrs. J. Sherman Brown, of San Francisco.

Publicity holds a conspicuous place in the program arranged for the state convention, to be held in Los Angeles, following the week of the national meet in Oakland. In addition to a series of study sessions and conferences, there will be a publicity banquet on the evening of June 1, the arrangements for which will be somewhat similar to the one to be held in Oakland.

FAULTFINDERS WILL FORM ORGANIZATION

PARIS, May 20—"Kickers, Inc.," might be appropriate title for an organization which has just been established here. It is a syndicate of objectors, conscientious and otherwise, of faultfinders, of rebels more or less aware of what they are rebelling against, in other words, a society of the anti-everything.

Anybody who has ever heard a pair of Paris taxi-drivers hurl forth invective in a traffic jam, or a band of merrymakers arguing whether the bone or the metal collar button is the better, using up the entire dictionary of the academy in futile attempts to be aggressive, will understand that there was need for organization. The national pastime of the French seems to be yelling at something or against somebody. They never get anywhere but they seem to get something off their chests.

That is what Marcel Chatrain thought when he translated his idea into action. He remarked that the kickers were usually isolated and their efforts amounted to nothing.

"Therefore," he explained, "I am getting them together. No, we have no intention of overturning the government or marching on the presidential palace. We simply mean to present to the qualified authorities all the popular demands which are now lost because they are not organized. We have already a thousand members in this quarter alone. We hope to have a million before we are through."

Takes to Heels, But Not His Own

SAN PEDRO, May 20.—Discovery of 108 dozen pairs of heels, after an automobile driver took to his heels, uncovered a Los Angeles robbery here.

Police signalled the driver of a motor car to stop.

He dashed away from the machine and escaped.

Inside the car several pieces of leather and the heels were found, bearing the name of the Independent Leather company, Los Angeles.

HIJACKERS DIDN'T HAVE ANY MANNERS

SAN JOSE, Calif., May 20.—Some hijackers just haven't any manners at all.

Three of the naughty ruffians stopped Howard Clark, of Carpenteria, near here and robbed him of the 35 cases of scotch he had in his sedan, according to his report to police.

To add insult to injury, this rough trio gave Clark a sound beating after they had stolen his liquor, he told police.

Piles Are Absorbed Never to Return

This New Treatment Gives Absolute Relief from All Pain and Suffering. Guranateed by C. S. Kelley and All Good Druggists.

Perhaps the most amazing discovery of recent years in the field of medicine is the discovery that Piles or Hemorrhoids can now be successfully treated and cured at home by a wonderful substance to which the name of MOAVA has been given.

For years it had been known that many so called remedies were simply palliative and gave only temporary relief, while surgical operations, often adopted as a last resource, did not remove the cause, but simply the formation, in no wise acting on the source of the trouble.

The discoverers of MOAVA, justly proud of their amazing discovery, desire all sufferers to know that they do not want a cent of anyone's money unless MOAVA, which comes in the form of suppositories, decisively conquers even in the worst cases, and they have instructed druggists all over the country to guarantee it in every case of blind, bleeding or protruding piles.

Each little suppository, containing a certain definite amount of MOAVA, reaches the exact place where by its soothing, healing action it first allays all inflammation, congestion and soreness; then being in direct contact with all ulcers and piles, causes them to be absorbed and vanish forever. In two or three days at most, even in cases of profuse bleeding, that have resisted all known treatments, really wonderful results have been accomplished.—Adv.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 88

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: P. T. Barnum

Sketches by Bessey
Synopsis By Brancher

Barnum, penniless, did acquire the American Museum. He persuaded the owner of the building to purchase the collection and let Barnum manage the show. Profits were to be divided. Meanwhile Barnum carried on an extensive campaign in the newspapers against rival bidders who had formed a stock-selling scheme.

One of Barnum's first acquisitions was a small model of Niagara Falls. His ads invited honeymooners to save money and visit the Museum.

Next came trained fleas, which were advertised as "so well taught that they can draw carriages several thousand times their own weight."

Barnum's publicity methods were unique. He hired a man to place a brick on each of four street corners and to carry one brick from corner to corner, exchanging bricks at each corner. Soon a crowd of 500 was watching the man. The crowd followed the man, who every hour bought a ticket and toured the Museum.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES by KNICK

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The camel hemmed and hawed a bit, but all the bunch hung on to it. Then Daffydoo came running up and said, "That catch was fine. No courage do you Tinies lack, and now I'll let you ride his back." And Daffydoo began to pull right strongly on the line.

As Mister Camel came up near he seemed to show some signs of fear, but Daffy gently patted him until he seemed at ease. Some weeds and grass to him were passed for him to munch, and then at last he seemed to be quite satisfied, and dropped down on his knees.

"He's very smart," old Daffy sighed. "He knows you Tinies wish to ride. I think there's room for all of you, so start to climb aboard." The camel's back was fairly high and every time someone would try to climb right up and get in place, old Daffy simply roared.

"Just take it easy, now," he cried. "Don't slip and fall down from his side. I'll give you all a gentle boost until you're safe and sound." So, up they traveled, one by one. Of course it was a lot of fun. And, when they all were seated it seemed far, far from the ground.

"All right," said Daffy, "here we go." The camel started moving slow, and all the Tinies tipped around and jostled in the air. Said Scouty, "If he starts to race, I'm sure that I will lose my place. To ride a running camel is a track that's really rare."

Then Daffy let the camel go, and soon the pace that started slow began to pick up rapidly, and gave the bunch a thrill. The camel tore with all might and Clowny shouted, "Hang on tight, for everything will be all right as long as we don't spill."

(The Tinymites have some more fun in the next story.)

PINK NAILS

Pink nails are the fashion now, and probably will be for some time to come. Really pink nails are artificial looking, but this is an artificial age and there are no signs yet o fa revival of the sweet and demure and natural-as-Nature-itself young women. Pink nails of a very bright glossiness simply go with marceled hair, short skirts, high heels, chiffon stockings and a bean-pole figure. After all, who not? In three years we may be going about with buns at the backs of our necks, real figures and ankles hidden from public view. In that case, finger nails will return to normal. Change, it least, is amusing.

But about these pinkish nails! They're not bad if they're not overdone. The real key to chic these days is not to look completely artificial, but only as though Qone's natural advantages had been heightened a bit. For instance, one's hair is naturally a little wavy and a little glossy—the marcel is only enough to accentuate the waves and the gloss is slightly heightened with oil. As for the nails—they should look as though their real pink was deepened by a shade, just to show it off.

You can buy nail pastes which are quite red, which, while polishing the nails, tint them a trifle. This is a harmless way, for the coloring washes out eventually and does no damage while it lasts. You can buy quick drying tints, put on with a brush like paint. These do not polish, they stain, they also wash off and are harmless. You polish as usual after you have made your nails the pink you like best.

Then there are enamels—use them at your discretion. Some wash off gradually and are all right for temporary polishing, some must be taken off with a solvent after a week's time. Never get the nails too deep a pink.

A Constant Reader—A skin specialist would probably eliminate that scar left from the accident when you were a small child.

You may use paint occasionally.

M. E. R.—You cannot retard your development, and you will find also that you will not be out of proportion when you have attained adult age.

M. A. B.—Advice aboce to "M. E. R." is suited to you also; furthermore, you would wreck your health if you took drugs to reduce your weight.

To clear your skin, take a wineglassful three times a day of tea made from steeping dandelion roots.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

MAN

Each in his separate place by day
Stands to his little task,
A tenant in a house of clay,
A face that wears a mask.

And neither from the smile nor frown
Can any mortal tell,
The dreams of splendor and renown
Which in the house may dwell.

Some deeds there are belie the man
So varied are his needs,
And often, serving scheme or plan,
A man belies his deeds.

Within the house of self his dreams
And happy fancies hide,
Which, just to be the man he seems,
He bravely puts aside.

None knows what fires within him burn,
Only the weak man shows
For every passer-by to learn
His countless bitter foes.

What strange temptations he resists,
What curious thoughts he quells
To join the morning's battle lists
His conduct seldom tells.

And one to serve another's need
Has hid his dreams away,
And kept the greater selfish deed
Within his house of clay.

As many a violet comes to bloom
On strange, untrodden ground,
So there are dreamers at the loom
Whom chance has never found.

RIDING HOBBIES OF OTHERS IS UNFAIR TO SELF, CLAIM

By Olive Roberts Barton

Are you a slave of events? Or to put it more clearly—are you doing things day after day that you never planned for yourself but that originated in the minds of other people.

It takes strength of character to live our own lives. "It takes courage, my boy, to say 'no,' but it takes courage for a man or woman to say "no" when for fear of hurting someone's feelings or being considered a shirker, we consent to do things for which we have no strength or time—at the some time neglecting or sidestepping the things we have always wanted to do ourselves.

I've noticed it a lot recently.

One woman said, "Here I am 43 years old, and I've been so busy heading committees, that I've never actually done a thing I had planned to do. My own life seems to have slid by without my noticing it."

A man said practically the same thing. As a public spirited citizen, his fellow townsmen had taken advantage of good nature and saddled him with every drive and good-will movement that came along. His health has suffered—he is a nervous wreck, not on account of his business, but because time he should have had for recreation was spent riding other people's hobbies.

Today I met a girl who was hurrying home to meet a stranger sent to her by a mutual friend to be looked after while visiting in our city. The girl is employed part of the day, but in her time off she had to adopt someone she didn't know and show her around because someone else wrote to her and asked her to do it. "That's always happening to me," she said. "Everyone comes to me to do things."

Haven't we all a right to plan a program for ourselves, and allowing a certain time for benevolences to live up to that program of definite purpose without having our lives frittered away by responsibilities that other people have foisted onto us?

THE WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

If you order a cup of coffee in our town's newest restaurant, the waitress merely brings an empty cup and saucer and sets it down to the right of your plate. he is gone before you can remonstrate and say, "I ordered coffee—not a cup!" But soon all is revealed. Up trots another waitress with a shiny silver coffee pot, ample as the famed pitcher of Philemon and Baucis. She fills the cup with hot amber ambrosia and wends her way to the next client. And, just because of "something different," the restaurant is jammed to the gills with coffee drinkers. Perhaps it's the "something new" and perhaps it's the homeiness of it, the bitter-sweet memories it brings of a day when mother poured the cups from place to place.

WRITING AND RAIL FENCES

Here's an interestingly novel idea from an authoress. Margaretta Tuttle, novelist, says that "writing is an unnatural thing. It's normal to talk to explain and gesticulate, but it's almost abnormal to pick up a pen and translate thoughts into writing." But judging by the hordes of folks who are doing it nowadays, they take to "the unnatural" naturally. It reminds me of the friend who, seeing a woodland clump of violets shadowed by a slate-gray old rail fence, exclaimed, "What a perfect water color!" Sometimes one must translate the natural into terms of the unnatural—the reality into terms of the non-reality, before it seems true!

WOMEN'S NAMES

I have discovered within the last month that no less than a dozen correspondents whom I have never seen, and whom I have ever addressed by mail as "Mr.'s" are really "Misses" and "Mrs.'s" It would rather indicate that when a Helen Shirley Black signs herself "H. S. Black," there must be something to this notion that the masculine sex furthers one in business whereas the feminine one may be a handicap. It depends on the business, perhaps, but, of course, it does!

CHINESE AT HOME

If the grocery bill worries you, just be thankful that you're not a Chinaman's wife. Chinese take it for granted that friends and relatives shall come visiting and stay anywhere from a month to a year. Chinese families pride themselves on the number of visitors in their homes and go about boasting that they are feeding 32 or 47. The lack of a servant problem explains this, of course. An over-populated nation means plenty of servants for a penny or nickel a day. The 32 visitors mean considerably less to the hostess than they would in this servantless country. Just the same, servants or no servants, one sometimes suspects that the fine art of hospitality is rapidly becoming extinct in this age of everyone so busy with "self expression" as an individual that few will do the job of entertaining with its few rewards for "self expression."

POOR MEN!

Men do not eat as they did before prohibition, according to the confessions of a celebrated roadhouse landlord. He recalls the "good old days" when patrons with wet whistles thought nothing of eating a whole duck or chicken with trimmings. "Now," says he dolefully, "it's a sandwich and maybe a piece of pie."

Please, somebody, quick, seize upon this as the real argument why women do not stay at home and keep house. It's not a full-time job in this day of appetiteless husbands. Or have none of you noticed that that's what they are?

SOUTH WALES DISPUTE PERILS MOVE OF LABOR

SYDNEY, N. S. W., May 20.—The contending forces that seem on the point of almost hopelessly disrupting the labor movement in this state base their activities on no apparent principle. The grounds of dispute are mere technicalities, roving battlefields for personal and factional fueds. Broadly, the movement is divided into two camps, headed respectively by the Australian Workers' union and the Sydney Trades and Labor council the latter being designated "red" by its opponents, who retort with general epithets such as "traitor" and "disruptionist."

When President Seale of the New South Wales Australian Labor party, was deposed by the state executive for calling the Easter conference of the party, he persisted vigorously in his plans and secured the support of many industrial unions, the strength of which impressed the parliamentarians, so that Premier Lang declared his intention to attend the conference in the role of peacemaker.

Sides With Conference

At the conference, however, he attached himself definitely to a motion by the utterance of these words: "This great conference is manifestly representative of the organized labor party of this state. I regret that a minority, however, sincere and well meaning, should take up an exclusive attitute toward the rank and file." It may be pointed out that the section which the premier described as "a minority" has a majroity control, at least, of the executive.

The conference proceeded to expel from the movement Loughlin, former minister of lands in Lang's cabinet, and deputy leader of the party; goodin and Gillies, members of the legislative assembly, the central figures of the parliamentary caucus revolt against Premier Lang some months ago, in spite of the fact that the caucus had readmitted Goodin and Gillies, while preserving a sort of neutrality toward Laughlin.

The conference also instructed the premier to dismiss four ministers—Mutch (education), Fitzgerald (public health), Flannery (public works and railways), and Coates (honorary minister)—without the customary reference to the caucus, and to proceed to an immediate election without meeting parliament.

Dismissal Ordered

On previous occasions, Premier Lang has given explicit pledges to go to the country when that seemed to be the only method of avoiding an adverse vote in the house, and as promptly dishonored them when the danger was past. It remains seen, therefore, what effect the order of the present conference will have. It would seem that if the election goes forward, there will be two seats of labor indorsement one from the existing executive, and the other from the Seale faction, with its strong communistic element, which was manifested by the election of office bearers to the conference. Behind all is the determined communis effort to gain control of labor's electorial machinery, not caring much whether the result of an immediate election would be to retain the party in office or not

WOMAN BREAKS LIBERTY BOND SALES RECORD

NEW YORK, May 20.—For 10 years a short, active woman with ruddy cheeks and dark hair, now slightly tinged with gray, has spent a large part of each day hanging over the telephone in a lower Broadway office. Customers have come to know her voice, but to the general public this enigmatically designated "Mrs. E." was not even a name until the other day, when her 10 years' record was tallied up and Irma Dell Eggleston of C. F. Childs and company, was found to hold the record for trading in Liberty bonds.

Since then Mrs. Eggleston has been kept busy seeing interviewers, posing for photographs and reading letters suggesting ways in which she might spend whatever profits had accrued from her job. These interruptions of her work fail to exhilarate this woman, who does her business over the telephone, rarely seeing a customer. She is glad to turn from them back to the trading room, where she "knows her business" and where she feels that she belongs.

Does Big Business

Her place there is indicated by the total of 30 billion dollars in Liberty bonds she has traded in during the last 10 years. Her record shows transactions amounting to 38 million dollars in one day.

Mrs. Eggleston has made a niche for herself in a world in which women are comparatively new and few. She works in a room full of men and deals almost exclusively with men. Once there was a customer who refused to do business with a woman trader, but that did not daunt "Mrs. E." She found a masculine voice to substitute for hers over the telephone while she directed the transaction.

Of her background as related to the present job there is little to tell. "I was just like any other girl," she explained, "interested in ordinary things, having a good time and enjoying myself. I never went to college and never planned a career, but traveled a good deal. Then business brought my husband to New York. That was 12 years ago. As the war came on and it became apparent that men were going to be scarce and that women would have to fill many of their jobs, an opening here was offered to me. I had never done anything of the sort, but thought I would like to try it. They had not had women before, but were willing to try me, and so I started. It was an experiment on both sides."

Grasped Opportunity

The evolution of this woman into a bond trader of first rank in the brief span of a decade is credited by herself to opportunity and will-power. Far from being as impressed with her success as others have been, she insists that many women could have equaled her record if they had had the same opportunity.

The outside interests that now attract "Mrs. E." have become fewer as the passing years have fixed her thoughts more and more on financial matters; but it must not be supposed that this handler of billions is without her lighter moments and a certain sense of fun.

She finds time to run her home herself, having learned to apply office principles of organization to domestic affairs. Then there is the outdoors. In her girlhood home in Grand Rapids, Mich., Mrs. Eggleston was accustomed to take part in outdoor sports and her love for them has not waned. Weekends in the country, long walks in the park, ice-skating now and then and an occasional swim account, no doubt, for the energy of her movements and the glow of health in her face. She does not, however, find time for the club life that has lately sprung up among women in Wall street.

RESIDENTS OPPOSE OPENING OF CASINO

BERLIN, May 20.—Attempts to make a Monte Carlo of the north out of the renowned former Hohenzollern summer resort of Zoppot near Danzig, are meeting with vigorous opposition from the fashionable residents.

A petition with more than 1000 signatures, demanding the closing of the Zoppot casino has been presented to the Danzig city council. The petition says that the existence of the "gambling hell hole" prevents "thousands of decent visitors from coming to the beach resort."

Former Crown Prince Frederick William maintained a luxurious palace in Zoppot. Thousands of the German nobility still congregate there in the summer.

COL. JAMES A. MOSS, U. S. (Retired).
Originator and Director General of the United States Flag Association.

PLANS for the greatest patriotic celebration in the history of the United States, if not in the annals of the world, are being made by the United States Flag Association, headed by Calvin Coolidge as honorary president, in commemoration of the sesquicentennial of the adoption of the American Flag by the Continental Congress at Philadelphia on June 14, 1777. A part of the program of the United States Flag Association is the proposal that the week of June 8-14 be designated as "flag week" during which, through appropriate patriotic activities in all communities, schools and churches of all creeds and denominations, the minds of the American people shall dwell upon the Flag of the United States and the ideals, traditions, principles and institutions for which that Flag stands.

Not only are the President of the United States, the Governors of the forty-eight States and mayors and other city officials expected to aid, but also the co-operation of patriotic societies, fraternal orders, civic, educational, and religious bodies, women's and men's clubs, and other organizations is being secured to make this sesquicentennial celebration of the adoption of "Old Glory" an event that will be in keeping with the greatness and glory of the American Nation. It is to be a great patriotic revival during which our people shall rededicate themselves to the cardinal principles of Americanism symbolized by the Flag.

The most human and interesting feature of the celebration will be the forming throughout this big, broad land of ours of thousands of Sesquicentennial "Living Flags" humanly typifying the Flag of the United States. These "Living Flags," either adult or junior, are formed by volunteers acting as "Flagstaffs," each "Living Flag" consisting of a "Flagstaff," one person who is the "Blue Field," thirteen persons who act as "Stripes," and forty-eight as "Stars." Each component part of a "Living Flag" automatically becomes a life member of The United States Flag Association and through this method the Association hopes to enlist at least a million members this year, each pledged to perpetuating the ideals and principles for which the Flag stands.

The United States Flag Association, it might be stated, is an absolutely non-commercial organization, its officers and directors serving without salary or other monetary compensation of whatever nature.

"Through a systematic and progressive program of education that will emphasize and bring into greater consideration and higher appreciative regard the ideals, traditions, principles and institutions symbolized by the Flag, the primary purpose of The United States Flag Association," explains Colonel James A. Moss, originator and Director General of the Association, "is to make good citizens who will make stronger the foundations on which the Republic is established and greater the Country in which we live. The greatness, prosperity, and happiness of a nation depend upon the quality of its citizenship, a good citizen being an asset and a bad citizen a liability. The United States Flag Association, with the Flag as its emblem and "Honor the Flag and uphold its ideals" as its slogan, has a definite and comprehensive program of education involving study clubs in the fundamentals of citizenship that will be carried out with the co-operation of patriotic societies, fraternal orders, civic, educational, and religious bodies, women's and men's clubs, and other organizations whose total membership reaches the seventy-five million mark. I believe it to be the most far-reaching and practical educational program of Americanism ever undertaken in the history of the Nation and it should do much to stimulate interest in participation in government, emphasize the principles of Americanism, reduce crime, create a spirit of religious and racial tolerance, and otherwise build up a better citizenship that will give us a greater America. Realizing, as we do, that the future of America lies in the hands of the youth of today, the greater and more important part of our work will be done amongst the children. Each generation is a link in the chain of our national life. The boys and girls of today constitute the connecting link that will join the present generation with the generations to come. It is a sacred obligation the adults of today owe to those of our people who have gone before and to posterity to see that the rising generation is forged and welded into a strong and unbreakable link that will connect the present and past generations with the generations to come. This will be accomplished through the Young America movement which The United States Flag Association is now inaugurating.

"We have no paid organizers. We work solely through volunteers, but while we can not remunerate these volunteers in a monetary sense, we have created a system of rewards which I think they will be glad to hand down to those who come after them. Each person who founds or forms a 'Living Flag' or renders other service to the Flag which, in the judgment of the executive committee, is deserving of the honor, will receive the flag medal, which carries with it a life membership in the Order of the Flag, which is the 'legion of honor' of the United States Flag Association. To those who form or found two 'Living Flags' or render other specially meritorious service to the Flag, is awarded the patriotic service medal. A gold star is added for each additional flag formed.

"This decoration invests the recipient with the title of "daughter of the flag" or "son of the flag," as the case may be, and carries with it life membership in the Order of the Flag. The cross of honor is awarded to those who form thirteen 'Living Flags' or who render other exceptional service to the Flag. This decoration invests the recipient with the title of 'lady of the flag' in case of women and 'knight of the flag' in the case of men, and carries with it life membership in the Order of the Flag."

Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, President General of the Daughters of the American Revolution, was awarded the first Cross of Honor to be presented by the United States Flag Association for "exceptional and meritorious service to the flag." The decoration, the highest awarded by the Flag Association, was presented to Mrs. Brosseau by President Coolidge on behalf of the Flag Association at the reception tendered the D. A. R. at the White House during the recent Continental Congress of the Daughters in Washington. At the same time President Coolidge presented decorations to a large number of the Daughters and other distinguished women, including Mrs. Josiah A. Van Orsdel, National President, D. A. R.; Mrs. Edwin C. Gregory, State Regent, North Carolina D. A. R., and Mrs. John T. Lowe, President, American Legion Auxiliary.

The United States Flag Association, which has headquarters at Washington, was incorporated in April, 1924, under the laws of the District of Columbia. The officers are Calvin Coolidge, honorary president; James A. Moss, colonel, U. S. A. (retired), director general; Otto H. Kahn, treasurer.

The thirteen founders of the United States Flag Association, typifying the thirteen stripes of the Flag, illustrate better than words can tell, the spirit that dominates the association. Of varied races and nationality, differing in politics and religion, they show, by their action, that all races and classes become as one under the influence of the call of the American Flag.

The founders were Charles E. Hughes, former Secretary of State and former justice of the United States Supreme Court; Thomas R. Marshall, late Democratic Vice President of the United States (in memoriam); his eminence, William Cardinal O'Connell, senior Catholic prelate in the United States; Rabbi Abram Simon, president Union of American Reformed Rabbis; Bishop James E. Freeman, president National Cathedral Foundation, Protestant Episcopal Church; Senator Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama; Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, of Wisconsin; Curtis D. Wilbur, of California, Secretary of the Navy; Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York; Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, former president general Federation of Women's Clubs with 2,000,000 members; Judge Elbert H. Gary, chief executive United States Steel Corporation; Samuel Gompers, late president American Federation of Labor (in memoriam); Dr. Robert R. Moton, president of Tuskegee institute.

The list of founders, as Col. Moss points out, was designed to show the widespread scope and universal nature of the United States Flag Association, embracing, as it does, leaders in the various religious, political organizations and sections of country represented.

The national council consists of the governors of the 48 States of the Union, typifying the 48 stars of the flag. There is in addition a women's national council consisting of the heads of women's patriotic societies, fraternal orders, clubs, American Legion auxiliaries and other organizations as well as other distinguished women who are leaders in their sections of the country. They include such women as Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, president general D. A. R.; Mrs. John D. Sherman, president General Federation of Women's clubs; Mrs. Edith Mason Christy, national president Women's Relief corps; Mrs. Adalin M. Macauley, national president American Legion auxiliary.

Establishment of the United States Flag Association is due to the gratitude of an army officer, a colonel of the regular army who had followed the flag on the battlefields of three wars and who was, at his own request, retired from active duty after 32 years' service, in order that he might build, in this association, a living monument to the which he had served so well and w had given him so much. The offic James A. Moss, colonel, U. S. (retired).

Col. Moss was born in a small tow Louisiana about seven years after Civil War. His father, a captain in I army, returned home after the render at Appomattox, penniless. U soldiers had burned his sugar houses had freed his slaves and Capt. found himself faced with the nece of making a fresh start.

The Moss family was one of the fashioned variety, numbering four children. About the time James Moss was approaching his eighte birthday, the congressman from district held a competitive examina for a cadetship at West Point young Moss entered and won, ente West Point in 1890 and graduatin 1894.

"My government gave me an excel education that my father could not given me because of his limited mea Col. Moss explains. "Upon gradua from West Point, my government me an honorable position in its mili service. As a result of the educa thus received and the experience in the army, I was able to write a n ber of military books—33 in numbe that have given me distinction as a tary authority and more of this 'wor goods' than I ever dreamt would mine. I therefore feel that all I am, that I have, I owe to my governm and when I retired from active ser some four years ago, I felt that if, fore I am taken out to Arlington ce tery, I could but do something would bring into greater considerat and higher appreciative regard the F of my country, and the ideals, traditi and institutions for which that F stands, that when the Great Comman gives me the order for me to go 'o the top' for the last time, I could ma forward with firmness in my step contentment in my heart, following ' Glory' into that realm where ba flags are furled and war drums throb longer.

"This is the feeling, the thought, which was conceived and born United States Flag Association, wh purpose is to foster reverence for flag of the United States and com any and all influences hostile to ideals, traditions, principles and insti tions for which that flag stands, and is in this spirit that I have dedica the rest of my life to the work of United States Flag Association."

That Col. Moss lives up to his pressed ideals is demonstrated by fact that he has served the associati as director general since its foundati without pay, and has personally c tributed liberally in a financial way the work of the organization, in additi to which he defrays his own expen while traveling in the interest of the sociation.

He hopes to see a million America native and naturalized, become me bers of the association in order th there may be in existence a great po erful body of patriotic citizens, d voted to the upholding of the ideals f which the Flag stands, the exterminati of all propaganda or other activiti against the government and the inst lation of the duties of good citizensh into the minds of the children of tod with the thought of providing loy adults for the carrying on of the wo of the government in the next gener tion. To this end Col. Moss is devotin most of his time during sesquicentenni year to the building up of "living flags throughout the country.

THE WHITE HOUSE
Washington.

The United States Flag Association has done me the honor to invite me to serve as its honorary president and I am doing myself the honor promptly to accept the service.

Unless there is an eternal readiness to respond with the same faith, the same courage, and the same devotion in the defense of our institutions which were exhibited in their establishment, we shall be dispossessed, and others of sterner fiber will seize on our inheritance. It is, therefore, well that the fires of patriotism be kept burning and that our national ideals and traditions be emphasized and kept before our people.

The work which the United States Flag Association is doing is most commendable and deserves the support of every good and loyal citizen.

I am glad to be one amongst those who are pledged to its program of patriotism.

TALBERT

TALBERT, May 19.—Final tests for the eighth grade pupils began in Prof. Hayes room Monday when the arithmetic test was given the 12 boys and girls who hope to be of the graduating class. Only partial arrangements for the graduation program have been completed but the pupils, as an exercise in their grammar lesson, have been writing the class will and class prophecy in preparedness for that event. The examinations, one each day, will be finished next week.

The members of the eighth grade this term include Rachel Lamb, Jennie Folkerts, Hisoka Masuta, Verna Heim, Joe Callens, Gretchen Bartol, Gilbert Garcia, Martha Wardlow, Frank Maganatzo, Corinne Leerlvain, Oliver Cox and Josephine Herman.

Word of the return of Mrs. George M. Gardner, wife of a former pastor of the Talbert-Greenville-Bolsa circuit of Methodist churches, to her family at Redlands from the Tucson, Arizona, sanitarium, where she has been in an endeavor to restore her health since last September, has been received here. Failure of the treatment and climate to benefit was the reason for Mrs. Gardner's return.

A telephone call was received Monday night by S. E. Talbert from an officer at Van Nuys, telling of the findings in that city of Talbert's one ton truck, which disappeared together with the driver from the Talbert ranch Wednesday morning of last week. When found it was parked alongside the curb, but the driver was not found, only a roll of bedding being on the truck.

This is the second time within a year and a half that this truck has disappeared in similar manner and been recovered later.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Woodson had as guests at their parsonage home over Sunday and Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Parker and son, of Upland.

A letter from Popular Bluff, Mo., has been received from Mr. and Mrs. George Wicks, one time residents of Talbert, telling of their safety in the storm which swept their section last week and which wrought such havoc in Popular Bluff. The Wicks are located on the east side of the river, in the section which suffered the least damage, but even there the dead could be seen caught in the wreckage of the building and horror reigned. Mrs. Wicks is a sister of Mrs. Sam Landrum and Fred Penrod, of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Talbert, Mrs. M. L. Thurman, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rogers, Miss Dorothy Rogers and Rose and Violet Rogers took their lunch after Sunday school hour Sunday and motored to San Juan Hot Springs.

Jack Harpster, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gisler, arrived Friday from Texas to join his wife, who has been a guest in the Gisler home the past two weeks, coming here directly from Canada, while Mr. Harpster went to Texas to look over the oil fields in contemplation of locating there.

Sunday, Robert Gisler and daughters, Miss Agnes Gisler and Miss Lucille Gisler, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harpster, of this place, with Samuel Gisler, of Santa Ana drove to Elsinore to spend the day with Mrs. Robert Gisler and Mrs. Samuel Gisler who are vacationing for a month at that resort.

The Japanese barber shop, which has been closed the past week owing to the illness of the proprietor, J. Narreti, reopened Monday, Narreti being sufficiently recovered to resume business.

The replastering of the greater part of the W. O. Ater house, which has been under way, is just completed.

The part of the Parsons store building not in use has been converted into a dance hall which Mary Vallin has leased and in which she gave on Saturday night her first Mexican dance.

The Rev. J. J. Woodson was quite ill for two days and was confined to his home as a result.

Joe Nebarro, who after attending the local dance, went to one at Delhi, is confined to his home as the result of two bad cuts, one above the eye and the other on the hand, where the leaders were severed. He was found Sunday morning lying beside the Talbert boulevard weak from loss of blood and was brought to his home here. It is said that he was in a fight.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Penrod, of Ontario, who have been spending the past two weeks as visitors in the homes of their son, Fred Penrod, and daughter, Mrs. Sam Landrum, returned Monday to their home, Mr. Penrod having been called to a contracting job by the Griffith company, with whom he is employed.

Claude Cousin, who has been an employe of the Talbert garage, is leaving this week for his former home in Iowa, where he will assist his parents on their ranch this summer. Cousin, who has been residin at Santa Ana Gardens, is visitin in the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Folkerts, until his departure.

M. M. Coker and son, Vester Cok er and son-in-law, Dudley Pratt an L. C. Lambert, returned Sunda from a fishing trip of several day duration at Deep Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Pratt an baby left Monday for Pomona wher they will spend a week with M Pratt's mother, Mrs. D. W. Pratt.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ward mo tored to Santa Monica and wer accompanied home by Mrs. Ward' niece, Mrs. Jackson, who remaine as their house guest for sever days.

OPPONENTS IN BIG TIFF BOTH CLAIM VICTORY

BY PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 20—An errant sunshone at intervals this morning as it looked as though the battle between Jack Sharkey and Jim Maloney was on.

The Boston heavyweights, scheduled to fight each other at the Yankee stadium tonight in the belief that victory will mean a chance at the crown of Gene Tunney, were grateful that rain would not cause further postponement.

Both were on edge and trained down. Confidence ran high. "I'm ready for that guy any

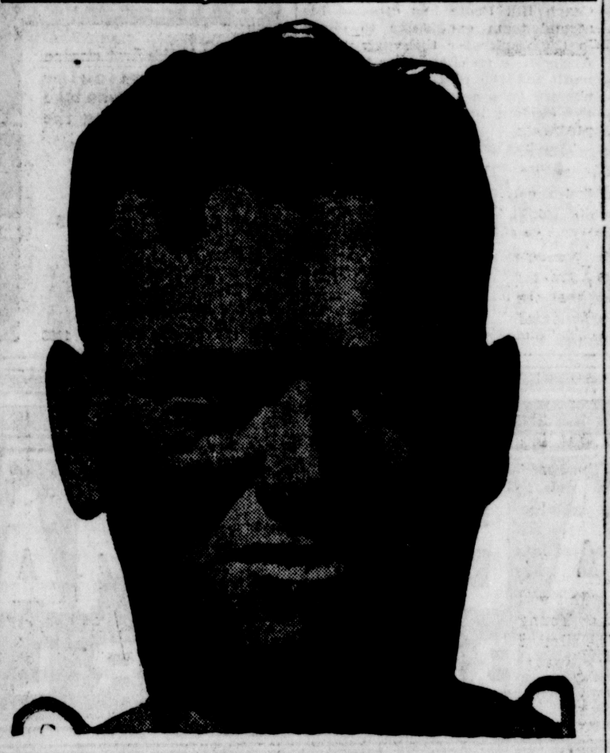
TUSTIN'S NEW GRID SKIPPER



RALPH (BILL) COLE

Tustin high school's football team will be coached next fall by Ralph ("Bill") Cole, well known Santa Anan. Cole, who was assistant coach at the University of Southern California last fall, succeeds Clyde Cook, who recently resigned.

U. S. C. MENTOR BEGINS DUTIES IN SEPTEMBER

Ralph ("Big Bill") Cole, of Santa Ana, assistant football mentor at the University of Southern California last fall, signed a contract today as head athletic coach at Tustin high school for the year 1927-8.

He will succeed Clyde Cook, former Coronado high school tutor, who recently resigned.

Cole will assume his duties in September, with the opening of the fall semester, and will serve as director of all major athletics, including, especially, football, track, basketball and probably baseball. Gymnasium class work also will be included in his work.

The new Tustin coach will graduate this June from the University of Southern California coaching school. He is one of the best known football figures in the state, having served as assistant freshmen mentor at Southern California in 1925 and being promoted to post as assistant varsity tutor last fall. He was the Trojan "scout" throughout the 1926 campaign.

Cole was graduated from Santa Ana high school in 1918. He was in the United States navy during the World war and since his discharge from the service has been identified prominently with numerous sporting tasks. He played at U. S. C., being rated as one of the leading linesmen of the west, and participated in almost every other form of athletic endeavor.

Experienced, fearless, capable and big enough to carry authority (being a stripling of 220 pounds) Cole should help make the Tustin school a power in athletic circles. He is an indefatigable worker and a man who has always followed sport because of an honest love for the game. Gus Henderson, Howard Jones, Knute Rockne, Leo Calland, Dean Cromwell and many other famous coaches have recommended the husky Santa Anan unreservedly.

TILDEN WINS FROM LA COSTE IN FRANCE

PARIS, May 20.—"Big Bill" Tilden, who lost the American tennis championship in the disastrous French invasion last year, today had his revenge when he defeated Rene La Coste, of France, 6-4 and 7-5, in his first match of the American-French team matches here today.

It was La Coste who won the 1926 championship of the United States, after his teammate, Henri Cochet had eliminated Tilden.

While Tilden was having his revenge today, Francis Hunter, his American teammate, met with less success. He lost to Jean Borotra of France, 4-6, 6-4 and 6-4.

EDVIN WIDE MAY APPEAR IN EXHIBITION AT THIRD COUNTY A. A. U. FESTIVAL

Led by Edvin Wide, of Sweden, internationally famous long distance runner, the greatest array of track and field talent that ever graced a cinderpath in this section will come to Santa Ana tomorrow afternoon to participate in the third annual Orange County A. A. U. meet. The classic will be conducted under the auspices of Graham E. Harris, Santa Ana junior college coach, and all proceeds above cost of operation will be turned over to the local junior college scholarship fund.

Santa Ana has never been known as a "good" track city but with the class of performers which will be here, Poly field's bleachers will be packed, it is believed, when the meet is started at 1 o'clock.

So formidable is the list of entries, numbering in excess of 100 athletes, that preparations have been made to provide the most competent and accurate timers available so that if any world or Pacific Coast records are shattered they will be recognized as official.

World Records in Danger

The time for the 100 yard dash, for instance, will be in danger with a field of starters numbering Charles Borah, Edgar House, Frank Wykoff, Russell Slocum, Bert Darling, Weldon Draper, Al Clayes and probably Hugh Pinney and Murray Shultz, while the famous University of Southern California 440 yard relay quartet of Borah, House, Herschel Smith and Willie Lewis will make a serious effort to smash the record of 41 6-10 seconds, established last July by the Newark Athletic club.

Every high school and junior college in Orange county will enter teams, it is believed, and strong representatives will be on hand from the University of Southern California, Hollywood Athletic club, Los Angeles Athletic club, Compton, Huntington Park, Long Beach, Pasadena, Glendale, Alhambra and Hollywood high schools and Harvard Military academy.

Flying Swede Coming

Wide, the flying Swedish schoolmaster, who has aspirations to break Paavo Nurmi's outdoor mile mark of 4:10.2, will come here with Charley Keppen's L. A. A. C. Mercuries. He will not be a participant, of course, but has agreed, according to Harris, to "warm up" and give the fans a demonstration of the speed and tamina that has made him one of the greatest runners of all time. Wide will be the star of the big track carnival at the Los Angeles Coliseum May 28 and his exhibition in Santa Ana will be his first official appearance at any meet in the west.

More than 20 events, in addition to Wide's demonstration and the effort of the Trojan quartet to crack the relay record, have been carded by the ambitious Harris. These include special 100 yard dash, 220 yard low hurdles, shot put, mile run and pole vault in which famous experts will be featured, and all the events of a regular meet—100, 220, 440, 880, mile, high and low hurdles, shot put, discus throw, pole vault, broad jump and high jump.

To Count Four Places

Four places will be counted, first counting five points, second three points, third two points and fourth one point.

The special 100 yard dash will bring to their starting holes the finest field of sprinters seen in the west this year. Borah and House, the University of Southern California's fleetest, will go against the 17-year-old marvel from Glendale, Frank Wykoff, who seems destined to be one of the greatest short distance men of all time. Whether the high school phenom is as good as Borah and House right now will be determined by this race. Borah has run 9.6 twice this season and House and Wykoff have been clocked in 9.7 seconds. With such competition the great Borah may get down to Charley Paddock's world record tomorrow.

The special 220 yard low hurdle race should result in another great contest with such timer toppers as Bob Maxwell, Pacific Coast record-holder; Jimmy Payne, world interscholastic record-holder; Kenneth Grumbles, national intercollegiate champion, and Leighton Dye, national collegiate high hurdle champion all billed to run. Mort Kaer, U. S. C.'s all-American football player, who also is a fine low hurdler, is entered in this event but is down with the flu and it is doubtful whether he will be here.

COMING HERE

EDVIN WIDE

Sweden's scampering schoolmaster, Edvin Wide, will be seen at Poly field tomorrow in connection with the third annual Orange County A. A. U. track and field meet, according to Graham Harris, Santa Ana junior college mentor, who is in charge of arrangements. Wide, now training in Los Angeles for the meet in which he will be starred May 28, will give an exhibition but will not attempt to set any records.

S. A. NINE OFF TOMORROW FOR CLOSING GAME

Making its final gesture of the 1927 Coast Preparatory league season, Coach Bill Foote's Santa Ana high school baseball team will shove off tomorrow for San Diego.

The outcome of the set-to will mean little to the Poly crew which is hopelessly out of the running for the title but it will mean everything to San Diego which has yet an outside chance to capture the gonfalon should Alhambra, undefeated leader, be overthrown tomorrow.

Team members who will make the trip are Captain Melvin Beatty, Orville Cchuchardt, Bomo Koral, Warren Sullivan, Russell Sullivan, Robert Drysdale, Jack Blakeney, William Dugger, Wayne Vance, Curtis Youel, John Secrest, Walter Jordan, Clarence Spencer and Wilmont Flanders.

Dobransky, veteran pitcher, is the star of the San Diego outfit. He was good enough to humble Poly last season and while the local team is a much improved organization Foote is none too confident as to the result.

Drysdale, starting pitcher in all of the local league games this season, again will draw the ridge assignment, Foote said today. Beatty will don the backstopping paraphernalia.

FAMOUS TRACK STARS ENTERED IN MEET HERE

Santa Ana has developed since the days of Ray Adkinson—Robert Vawter and Harold Breeding—will go to the post in the mile, a race that should be one of the most thrilling of th day. Don Hall, of Long Beach, known as Breeding's "jinx" A. Storms, bespectacled little Hollywood captain; Guy Hover, Chaffel captain, and Martinez, the Chino plodder who placed in both the Southern California and California State Interscholastics, are also entered. This race is decidedly an open one and will settle the question, much discussed, as to which is the better runner—Breeding or Vawter. Vawter and Breeding are in none too good condition but they are expected to run one-two at that.

While the assurance has not been just as definite as Coach Harris would like to have it, "Tiny" Hartranft, former Stanford university star, and "Bud" Houser, former U. S. C. captain and Olympic and intercollegiate champion, are expected here to vie with Frank Labes and Jim Stewart, two skilled Trojan freshmen, in the shot put and discus. "Tiny" Falter, of Glendale, the state interscholastic champion, will compete in the 8-pound shot put.

Manley Ruiz and Bill Hubbard, U. S. C. pole vaulters, both capable of clearing 12 feet, 6 inches, will be here, it was announced, and the Trojan entourage also will include a relay team composed of Percy Wallace, Bruce Smith, "Chink" Sauers and either Johnny Parsons or Hugh Hutchinson to provide competition for the baton-passing quartet which Coach Cromwell hopes will smash the world record.

Handsome medals and trophies will be presented, the Junior chamber of commerce cup going to the winner of the special 100 yard dash; the American Legion cup going to the victor in the special mile, and the T. J. Neal trophy going to the winner of the 100 yard dash for oldtimers.

Athletes who win first places will be presented with their medals on the West Coast-Walker theater stage tomorrow night, it was announced.

Santa Ana Stars Battle La Habra of the opening tiffs last Friday, the 14 to 6 humbling of Garden Grove at the hands of Oliva being the only upset. Santa Ana won from Huntington Beach, 12 to 7; Anaheim nosed out Fullerton in 11 innings, 7 to 6, and Orange trimmed La Habra, 8 to 4.

Roy ("Swede") Evans, erstwhile football and track star at the University of Southern California, is captain of the La Habra night ball pastimers and probably will pitch for his team against the local crowd.

HIGH SCHOOL'S RESERVES BEAT WILLARD, 10-6

Bunching bingles in the fourth and fifth innings, the Santa Ana big hschool baseball reserves pushed nine runs around the hassocks and defeated Frances Willard junior high school, 10 to 6, in their closing engagement of the Orange County Second Team teague at Poly park yesterday afternoon.

The junior high school squad rolled up a 5 to 1 lead in the early chapters but fell by the wayside when the Poly baseball barrage began. Martin Volkoff, Ellis Crane and "Scotty" Scott did most of the damaging stickwork for the winners.

Although the league scheduled has not been completed, two more contests remaining to be played, Coach Bill Foote has directed his second team candidates to check in their suits for the year. Santa Ana stands no chance for the pennant and the cost of transporting players is a serious problem with the student body financially crippled.

time," said Sharkey, notoriously modest. "It ought to take me only two rounds to get rid of him."

"The more times this fight is called off, the better that Lithuanian should like it," said Maloney. "The only chance he has is to stay out of the ring."

From such comments one might judge that bitterness exists betwen the two rival fighters. Tex Rickard, promoter of the scrap, is counting on that to pack in the customers.

Yesterday's postponement, the first time in 21 years of promoting that he was forced to give in to the weather, will aid the gate receipts, Rickard believes. Tex figures that the gate will increase about $75,000.

"Those who were in doubt will be sure to be there now," he argued. "I hate to break my streak of luck but it ought to pay me after all. I owe my clients a dry night after that drenching at Philadelphia."

Although most of the visitors from New England believe that Sharkey will triumph, most of the betting here slightly favored Maloney. Some bets were made at even money and in others the odds went as high as 10 to 7 on Maloney.

The men do not have to make weight, that being one of the privileges of heavyweights, but will go through the formality of stepping on the scales this afternoon.

Jim weighed 204 pounds yesterday after doing a little work at his headquarters in a downtown hotel. Jack, after a surprisingly intense workout at a gym, weighed 192 pounds.

If rain again spoils the tight, the card will be put over until tomorrow night.

Braised short ribs of beef should be one of your regular meat dishes because they are so economical in price and so tasty and delicious. They come from the "plate" cut of beef. Other parts of the plate may be used for making delicious braised dishes, stews and pot roasts. Though relatively low in cost, meat dishes from the plate are equally as palatable and nutritious as those from other cuts.

Dances Develop Few Queer Gaits

PARIS, May 20.—French devotees of the Charleston and the black bottom develop a peculiar manner of walking, according to a Paris critics.

Charlestoners, he said, develop what he describes as "knock knees," while the habitual black bottomers attain an unconscious double shuffle of the ball of the foot.

The "Charleston" walk, says the critic, has become a recognized feature of the promenade along the great Parisian boulevards. Strangely enough, he adds, the Americans don't seem to have attained it. He thinks that is because the prevalence of sport in America provides in itself an easy, graceful carriage that defies the influence of exotic dance steps.

NEW GOLF CHAMPION

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 19.—Watch your step, Messrs. Jones and Von Elm. Roland McKenzie is shooting golf like a champ. He's just won his sivth straight victory in intercolegiate competition, beating a regular golfer by wining evening hole and then completing the round for a 70.

The manuscription of Charles Dickens' first literary effort—a play written by the great novelist at the age of 16—has been purchased by an English collector.

STATE'S WARDS ITS DOORS FOR COLONY OPENS

SACRAMENTO, May 20.—The Pacific Colony, state institution for mental defectives near Pomona, Los Angeles county, has opened its doors to wards of the state and has received 37 female patients from the county of Los Angeles. About an equal number of male patients will be transferred from nearby private institutions within a few days, and thereafter commitments will be made in the ordinary course of events. This announcement was made here by Earl Jensen, state director of institutions.

The Pacific Colony is under the management of Dr. George C. Bliss, medical superintendent.

The plant of the colony was originally started about six years ago but because of a lack of adequate water supply it stood idle for a time, and was then leased to private parties. It was later returned to the department of institutions and adequate water supply developed.

Brazil Will Use Railroad Money For Air Routes

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, May 20.—Brazil has decided to use funds alloted for construction of a railway to subsidize an airplane line over the same route. By a supreme decree of President Biles issued recently, the government will back the passenger and mail air line between Santa Cruz and Cochabamba and other points. The national treasury was empowered to make payments out of funds set apart for construction of the proposed Santa Cruz-Cochabamba railway. The funds will be used in laying out and building a landing station, hangars and other aerial equipment. The chief engineer of the proposed railway will, in an honorary capacity, take charge of the air line work.

The will of a London woman who died the other day contained most explicit directions for passing on to a younger sister a precious family heirloom—a bracelet of white hair from the tail of a mule said to have belonged to Pope Pius XI.

Mrs. Anna C. M. Tillinghast, of Cambridge, Mass., who has been appointed to the important position of Commissioner of Immigration at Boston, is a Universalist minister and has served as pastor of churches in several New England cities.

FAILURES ARE DECREASING IN INDIANA BANKS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 20.—Indiana bankers are scrutinizing land mortgages with extreme care this spring, following the closing sale or consolidation of more than 18 institutions since the first of the year, largely the result of depreciation in farm land values.

Twelve of the banks were closed outright. In almost every instance it was the same story,—farm loans in excess of actual cash value. One institution consolidated with its competitor before the crash came and the others were purchased by the strong banks in the communities to avoid the inevitable.

In the face of these failures, Luther F. Symons, state bank examiner, is optimistic.

Expects More Failures

Symons admits the end is not yet In fact, he rather expects additional failures among some of the state's financial institutions. He says it is a weeding out process and banks organized several years ago,, that should never have been brought into existence, will be eliminated.

The bank examiner believes there is a definite ration that should be maintained between population and the number of institutions in a given community.

Although he refused to set a rule, Symons pointed out the ration between banks and population in the east averages one institution to every 10,000 inhabitants. In this state the examiner said the ratio is one to 2500.

A large number of the smaller banks in Indiana were organized in the period of prosperity during and after the war, Symons said. These institutions made money while farm crop prices were high and land values inflated.

But farm land values have dropped a great deal in the last few years. In the last two or three seasons the Indiana farmers have had poor crops. In addition, crop prices dropped.

Result Inevitable

The result, according to Symons, was inevitable. Farmers sought to have their loans extended. Their lands no longer bore a high cash value and additional extensions and additions to already over mortgaged farms were impossible.

The weaker institutions began to totter. One by one they began closing their doors, and the end is not yet. Symons says.

But the weeding out process is a healthy indication, Symons believes. To date the losses to stockholders have been comparatively small. To a great extent the institutions are being liquidated with a deficit for stockholders only.

The condition resulting, leaving the field open to the stronger institutions, will be beneficial to everyone concerned, Symons thinks.

The bank examiner is not the only one in the state offices that feels the same way. David H. Jennings, state securities commissioner, has expressed himself quite frankly in discussing the banking situation.

"Symons is absolutely right in his belief," Jennings said. "There are too many small, weak banks in this state today. We would be much better off if these little institutions were closed."

U. S. SOIL WILL BE PLACED ON GRAVES

INDIANAPOLIS, May 20.—Memorial day services conducted by the posts of the American Legion this year will be marked by a new ceremony, the taking of earth from the graves of the World War dead buried in this country to be scattered over the graves of American dead in France. The earth will be carried to France by legionnaires attending the convention of the legion in Paris in September.

Plans for this ceremony were announced at national headquarters of the legion here recently by Howard P. Savage, national commander. Local legion posts throughout the country were expected to carry out the ceremony.

"Our dead, whether they lie buried at home or in distant lands, died for the same cause and in the same spirit of patriotism and self sacrifice and we know that their spirits are joined beyond," said Commander Savage.

"The carrying of soil from the graves in America to those in France will be a striking symbolization of this truth and will emphasize the essential sacredness of the purpose with which the American Legion is going to France."

The ceremony will be conducted by local legion posts during their Memorial day services at the cemeteries.

In Mexico it is not the custom for housewives to do their own marketing and everything is bought by the servants. The result is that housekeeping is very expensive.

Mexican ladies meeting in the street, at their own doors, or at a social gathering almost invariably kiss each other, first on one cheek then on the other, often adding a gentle, affectionate pat on the arm.

Commandments Govern Drinkers

CARLISLE, England, May 20.—To regulate the retail sales of liquor in the State Inns at Carlisle, England, the management has issued its "Thirteen Commandments." Children under 14 will be allowed only in those rooms set apart for serving meals; those under 16 must not be given intoxicants, while those between 16 and 18 must be served with only cider and beer at meals, no spirits being allowed. Barmaids and others serving must sell spirits in glasses large enough to allow for the addition of water or soda-water; no credit must be given under any circumstances; stout and beer must be served by the half pint; and, lastly, "barmaids must never lose their tempers or be discourteous to customers."

With $2,000,000 collected in royalties from her play, "Abie's Irish Rose," Anne Nichols is believed to be the richest woman playwright in the world.

LIFE OF EARTH IS SET AT TWO MILLION YEARS

NEW YORK, May 20.—Planetary reactions during the last 200 years foreshadow the destruction of the earth in 2,000,000 years hence, according to Enrique Elias Trevino, president of the Mexican Astronomical society.

Following the total eclipse of the sun scheduled for June 29 of this year, earthquake disturbances of considerable magnitude will be experienced on the North American continent in that belt lying between 26 degrees north and 26 degrees south of the equator.

The eclipse, however, will be visible only in England and the Scandinavian countries.

Recent calculations made by several noted Mexican and Latin-American astronomers in attempting a checkup of the actions of the sun, find that this mass of blazing heat gases is 1,300,000 times greater than the earth, while its temperature varies between 8000 and 12,000 degrees.

Records revealing observations covering a period of more than 200 years give mute evidence that every day the sun is losing some of its heat and gradually is growing colder, and, according to present calculations, the time is coming when the sun's radiance will cease entirely. This will spell death in cold and darkness for every human being and living thing on the earth's surface.

However, there is nothing surprising about this, as millions of extinct suns, which once were like the sun are known to have existed. Like everything else, all luminary planets are born and live to die.

While world astronomers have in the past threatened us with complete annihilation, at the same time backing their theories with apparently very sound arguments, the fact now remains that most recent observations substantiate their claims, and the last ray of heat will have left the sun 2,000,000 years hence, when its disc will appear just one-sixteenth its present size.

The question is often asked: In the ceaseless journey which the earth make around the sun at the rate of 90 1-3 miles a second, may it not some day come into collision with the heart of a colossal comet? Barring such an accident the end of the earth must be regarded as fixed, according to the findings of the most recent studies and calculations.

In about one and one-half million years from now the time will approach for the gradual blotting out of the sun. Vegetation will lose the greater part of its vitality, and crops no longer will ripen. Humanity will gradually press toward the equatorial zones, soon after which all earthly life will become an impossibility.

American Legion Conducts School For U. S. Pupils

PARIS, May 20.—Children of American former service men in Paris are the only pupils in a school organized and conducted especially for them by the Paris post of the American Legion.

Located in the spacious headquarters of the Paris post at 2 Boulevard Lannes, the school occupies a very important place in the lives of American children in Paris, who mostly attend French schools and whose only opportunity in many cases to know something of the life of American children is through this school, which meets every Thursday afternoon.

The school concerns itself mostly with instruction in American historical anecdotes, games, songs and other instructions along lines suitable to the ages of the pupils.

COLLEGE DROPPING EXTENSION COURSES

Further strengthening its announced policy to become more a residence institution, Occidental college is announcing withdrawal of its extension and summer courses in so far as possible by June.

Although both extension and summer session courses were established in answer to demand from teachers and others who wanted special courses for college credit and have proved popular as such, concentration in the special realm of the residence college has been decided upon by the board of trustees and the faculty. The extension courses and summer session are regarded by the trustees as more in the realm of the university than the liberal arts college and hence will require all students to become active members of the college community.

The policy is further carried out by the program of dormitories which is being followed in the development of the 100 acre campus at Eagle Rock upon which the college now stands, and in the 1000 acre tract at Brentwood where the men's college of Occidental will ultimately rise. Residence halls for all students will eventually be made available for the limited registration at the colleges.

Occidental women are reserving rooms in the second dormitory unit at Eagle Rock, Erdman Hall, as ground was broken this week for the new residence hall. Orr Hall already accommodates freshman women, the two units providing for about 150 women students.

BEST HIGHWAY TO YOSEMITE IS VIA MERCED

YOSEMITE, May 20.—"How to get to Yosemite—the best, easiest and most scenic motor route," is the outstanding query now being received here by the scores daily from every section of the state. This is the way Park Superintendent W. B. Lewis sizes up the road situation here at present.

All-Year-Road connecting Merced with Yosemite Valley. This is the shortest and easiest route to the Valley. It is now in very good condition with most of the oiling completed in the scenic Merced River Canyon between Briceburg and El Portal. There are no controls on this road entering the Park but government regulations fix the motorists incoming hours at the Arch Rock entrance station from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m. and the outgoing time between 6 a. m. and midnight.

Wawona Road, the Mountain route connecting Fresno, Madera and Merced with Yosemite Valley. This is a very scenic trip with the Mariposa Big Tree Grove just a few miles off the Wawona road, near Wawona. This link reaching into the home of the mighty Sequoia trees of the Mariposa Grove is in good repair now following the usual spring conditioning

Canadian Frogs Proving Popular

MONTREAL, May 20.—Though the kana catesbiana, or Canadian bullfrog, may be without honor in its own country, particularly among the insomnious residents, it is growing in fame abroad.

A short time ago a number of frogs were sent to England at the request of Lady Byng.

Clyde L. Patch, biologist of the national museum at Ottawa, has this week received a quaintly worded letter from T. Kotani of Osaka, Japan, asking that Canadian frogs be sent to him. His request will be met.

Boys Inferior To Girls, Says Mental Expert

MADISON, Wis., May 20.—Girls are not inferior to boys in mental ability.

Rural pupils lag behind city pupils in intelligence and educational achievements.

These facts, contradicting generally held ideas, were revealed by his recent examination of the Mississippi school system, Prof. M. V. O'Shea, University of Wisconsin educational specialist, told members of the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts and Letters here.

"There is a tradition in Mississippi that the girls are not equal to the boys in mental ability, and that they cannot accomplish as much in educational work," Professor O'Shea said. "I arranged the data secured from my investigation so as to show the status of girls, as compared with boys, intellectually and educationally.

"The results are slightly in favor of the girls, and this is true of freshmen in colleges as well as of pupils in the elementary and high schools. There is no marked difference between the sexes, but whatever difference there is, is not against the girls, but in their favor.

"Organizing the data which I secured from intelligence and educational measurements, in small cities and in large cities, I find the data convincing that pupils in rural sections are behind pupils in small cities, and more so in the larger cities, in intelligence and they are also behind in educational achievement.

A GREAT VALENCIA ORANGE SHOW

All Orange county today declares its joy over the successful opening of the great Valencia show at Anaheim. Each year this exhibition is staged seems to take the show to an apex of excellence, but the succeeding year finds always a bigger and better event ready for the many thousands of visitors who find in it a tremendous interest, a tremendous amount of information and a tremendous relaxation and expression of the carnival spirit.

This year's show is no exception; it has proven to be bigger and better than any previous exhibition and that, as those who attended last year's exhibition well know, if one may use the slang for it, "is going some."

There is every reason why this whole county should join with Anaheim in paying homage to the valencia. Of our numerous products, the valencia orange is the greatest. It goes into millions of homes all over the United States; it brings millions of dollars to us. Valencia orchards are scenes of beauty. Wherever the valencia thrives, there we find excellence of climate, excellence in cultivation of the soil, excellence in horticulture, excellence in home life and environment. The valencia, to us, spells not only prosperity, but also a high type of citizenship; it spells good schools, good highways, good communities.

So, Santa Ana congratulates Anaheim upon the very fine show that has been produced for 1927. Santa Anans need no urging to suggest to them that they should attend the Valencia Orange show, for Santa Anans have come to look upon a visit to the show as a privilege and pleasure not to be overlooked.

So, Anaheim, here we come!

IT'S UP TO THE TEACHERS

The Missouri State Teachers' association recently voted to erect at Columbia, where the state university is located, a permanent headquarters building suited to the work. This is in line with the action of the National Education association, which owns its home in Washington, and with that of the Pennsylvania association, which purchased property in Harrisburg, opposite the state capitol.

Some day, soon, it is sincerely to be hoped, every state will have its own fine building owned by the teachers, a fitting symbol of their splendid service to society. The teachers in university, college, high school, and all other schools of our system, have the biggest and most important job given to any profession. Upon them rests a great responsibility. And in no state of the union is this more true than in California.

California is, year by year, getting a big influx of people from a near-by country. They come here because their chance to earn a living here is much better than at home. But they are, as a rule, without education, in our language or their own, and with little or no knowledge of what we regard as good citizenship. The vast majority of those aliens have children, many of them have large families, and it depends on our California teachers whether they shall become an asset or a menace to the welfare and well-being of this country.

GRADUATION COMING

The commencement season is coming on all over the land, and sweet girl graduates and eager boys have their hearts set on making theirs just as fine a commencement as anybody ever had. Excitement over final examinations will share attention with excitement over graduation clothes and class affairs.

There may be class rings or class pins to be purchased, the school annual, photographs to send to loving relatives and to exchange with schoolmates, engraved cards and commencement invitations, and always, of course, the new clothes to wear to graduation exercises.

It is hard for the teachers to keep their students steady at their studies. Recently, Principal Hammond sent a request to parents to use their best efforts to keep their sons and daughters from entering into too many outside activities at this time of year, for it is important that seniors do not forget that grades for the semester in many instances are yet to be made. This request should be given heed.

BARBARISM NOT FAR OFF

The civilized twentieth century still rubs elbows with black barbarism, however much the fact may be hidden beneath the everyday manifestations of enlightenment.

Havana is probably as up-to-date and cultured as the average city. Yet only the other day police there intervened just in time to save a girl from being offered as a human sacrifice. The girl had been kidnaped by order of a voodoo "doctor," who said that a sacrifice would be the only means of ridding one of his clients of disease.

That belief dates back to the very dawn of civilization. Yet it exists side by side with all the refinements of 1927.

Truly, the job of civilized mankind has not yet been completed!

IRISH REPUBLIC MONEY

The New York courts have been in the unusual situation of settling a question of British law, in the suit brought by the Irish Free State for possession of money held in a New York bank in the name of the Irish Republic.

There is left $2,500,000 of the $6,000,000 raised in this country in subscriptions to bonds issued by De Valera in raising money for the republican cause.

Supreme Court Justice Peters has dismissed the suit on the ground that the Irish Republic never existed, even as a de facto government, and therefore the plaintiff Irish Free State could not be its legal successor.

Following out this same line of reasoning, the court decides that since there never was, and is not now, an Irish Republic, the money must be returned to the subscribers, after deducting the expenses of the suit. De Valera and the followers who have remained loyal to him will not be allowed to take and use the money for continued support of their cause against the existing Irish government.

This verdict will displease many Americans who still sympathize with De Valera and his dreams of an independent republic in Ireland instead of the present dominion form of government, similar to Canada's, within the British Empire. Many of the subscribers, however, will be glad to get their money back, and many other sincere friends of Ireland will be glad that there is no such fund to be devoted to continued agitation in this country of a foreign issue, supposedly settled.

Don't be surprised that Henry Ford loves things old and out of date. Look at the 5,000,000 old flivvers he sells spare parts for.

Your Own Map Just As Good

San Francisco Chronicle

An eastern magazine revamps the old myth of buried California mission gold. If all these yarns cculd be laid end to end they would reach from Ananias to Munchausen. The secret whispers of "this old Mexican knows where——" would run the windmills of Holland. The maps etched on rawhide with a hot nail would carpet the missions. The pick and shovel work spent trying to find the treasure would have built the Boulder dam.

Each one of the missions keeps this tale in its budget of romance and local color. Tourists like it, but sensible persons do not dig on the strength of it. But many others have dug prodigiously, and we suppose many more will. Let them. Digging is good exercise.

Yet the least consideration explodes the fable. It is well known that there was no coin in California in the mission days. There was little use for it, and there was no trade to bring any in. The inhabitants bartered among themselves. The sole wealth of the missions was their products—hides, wool, wheat, tallow, soap, leather. These were all the money they ever had to buy clothing for their Indians, pay their soldier guards, and meet the heavy government exactions. Boston hide ships, with which they traded, disbursed no cash but exchanged Yankee goods for hides.

The missions never touched any money beyond the pittances paid to the padres. The inhabitants never had any money to giv' them. And when the missions were secularized—which was the time, according to the legends, when the cartloads of silver were hauled off to be buried under the moon—all of them had become wretchedly poor.

Obstinate Foibles

San Diego Union of Saturday, May 14

The number of people who have "hard luck" on any given day is, on the average, far less than the number of people who do not experience it. life is full of troubles, but the average is far and away on the right side—that is the reason, of course, why the race keeps on going, giving evolution a chance to work out its colossal and extensive practical jokes. There never has been a day when an actual majority of the human family experienced any notable stroke of hard luck. Even the Deluge required 40 days and 40 nights for the consummation of its disaster. These general remarks lead up tactfully to the assertion that Friday, the 13th, has never been notably unlucky.

You will read in your newspaper this morning some of the hard-luck adventures of yesterday, Friday, May 13; but it is a sure thing that tomorrow you will scan a record of mishaps equally misfortunate—the only difference being that tomorrow they will appear in the routine of the news and that nobody will dwell on the hard-luck aspect of them.

Majority experience has proved over and over again that there are no outstanding omens and signs and talismans of ill-fortune. Bad-luck has absolutely no relation to any of the devices that folk-lore has assigned to it. If it did, of course, it wouldn't be "luck," but the inevitable result of an ascertainable cause. Yet rabbits' feet, ladders, broken mirrors, horseshoes and Friday, the 13th, will probably continue to maintain their unwarranted and respective reputations for many years after we are gone.

Did you ever try to prove to a man that red flannel wouldn't cure rheumatism?

Fish and Game Protection

Redlands Facts

A fish and game district in the San Jacinto mountains has been created through a bill passed by Senator Kline of San Jacinto. This will offer opportunity to better control the taking of game in that section—even to do away with such taking altogether for a time, if that shall be found necessary. The game refuge in the San Bernardino mountains has worked wondrously well. There was objection to it for a time and the refuge is violated at times, even yet, but, like the prohibition law, it does help.

BREAD BECOMES HIGHBROW

Amateur philosophers are called upon ever and anon to remark that life, for all its apparent sweetness, smoothness, softness and simplicity, is really growing more and more complex.

Attention to this state of affairs is drawn again by the announcement that the baking industry has an official Department of Nutritional Education.

The work of this department is, to quote an official of the American Institution of Bakers, "certification of the wholesomeness of ingredients going into baked stuffs, stimulation of laboratory research, and strengthening of the appreciation of the nutritional value of foodstuffs."

All of which is no doubt good and true, and the best thing possible for the development of a healthy race. It is, in its diction, however, a far cry from the simple carefree times when bread was the most ordinary thing in the world, baked on Saturday mornings in home kitchen ovens that tortured the land's perspiring, red-handed, but none the less loving mothers.

From Bible times there was the assertion that bread was the staff of life—a neat phrase easy of understanding.

From folk lore was the still more simple truth that bread was "fillin'," or, more colloquially, that "bread and butter was the best eatin' yuh ever 'et."

For the edification of a doubting childhood, there was the suave generalization that bread crusts made the cheeks rosy.

Into this homely picture, however, has stumbled the exact bungling of the chemist and the dietician. Bread is no longer bread, but a conglomeration of nutritive elements which must perforce have a Department of Nutritional Education to press-agent and brandish and blandish its life-giving attributes.

A Pretty Good Civilization

San Francisco Chronicle

According to Professor Hornell Hart of Bryn Mawr college, children born in the year 2000 can reasonably be expected to live for 200 years or more. Dr. Hart does not claim kinship with Mother Shipton or any other of the famous old seers who made such astonishingly good guesses in such astonishingly bad rhyme. He has been taking a look into the matter of vital statistics, going back to 1550. Some of the earlier records may not be any too exact. But they seem to show that the normal expectation of life has increased from 21 years to 50 since that time. Further, Dr. Hart's comparisons indicate a rate of increase four times as fast since 1850 as for the previous 300 years.

This does not necessarily explode cherished theories about our hardy ancestors and the decadence of modern times. Those ancestors had to be hardy to stand the kind of lives they led. If they didn't live as long as their posterity they had a great many more things to kill them off.

In recent decades prophylactic medicine, that is, medicine which ancient civilization shortened the term of human life. In medieval times a man in his fifties was looked upon as decrepit. A total disregard of sanitary laws brought premature age. Pestilence unchecked by scientific hygiene cut down the population at an appalling rate.

In recent decades prohylactic medicine, that is, medicine which aims to prevent disease rather than to cure it, has made giant strides, and has been accompanied by the abundantly proved lengthening of the span of life. There may be some definite limit to this expansion, some rigid principle that science cannot affect. Professor Hart's prediction of centenarians still in the prime of life may never be realized. If it is not, he has safeguarded his reputation as a prophet for he postulates his prediction with "if we do not wreck our civilization."

Some folk assume that it is already wrecked. We don't take that view. We think it is a pretty good civilization. The advancing limit of life expectancy is one of the best proofs.

Worth While Verse

TWILIGHT

It is the hour when from the boughs
The nightingale's high note is heard;
It is the hour when lovers' vows
Seem sweet in every whispered word;
And gentle winds, and waters near,
Make music to the lonely ear.
Each flower the dews have lightly wet,
And in the sky the stars are met,
And on the wave is deeper blue,
And on the leaf a browner hue,
And in the heaven that clear obscure,
So softly dark, and darkly pure,
Which follows the decline of day,
As twilight melts beneath the moon away.
—Lord Byron.

MARGOT

Listen Moon!
For centuries you have heard a song—
The murmur, soft and low,
Of lovers, standing in the glow
Of the warm pulsing night,
Whispering their delight
In love.
Listen Moon!
Never have you heard a love like mine,
For never have you seen a love like mine,
Laughing and gay and sweet—
Dancing to meet life
On slender feet.
Listen Moon!
Has she by any chance,
Sighed to you
Or softly cried to you
On some sweet eve amidst the scented dew,
A little plaintive song of love
Wafting like vapor to the skies above?
Has she breathed a sigh
A little phantom sigh
For me?
Listen Moon!

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE GRAY HOUSE

Months ago we forbore to chat of the Little Gray House and instead told our readers about the big Victor phonograph dog, who was left by hard-hearted wretches on a certain doorstep late one night, and then plans perfected so that a policeman aroused the occupants of the house, believing that neighbors had complained of the dog's barking!

The sequel came not long ago when a host quartette staged a dinner party one evening. Now it chances that the men of the group are confirmed practical jokers, so the opportunity to get back at them was not to be resisted. The first thing which some of the enterprising guests did, was to insert a series of advertisements in the classified ad department of The Register. These asked for a variety of animals, watch dogs, milk goats and Persian cats among them, and all stipulated that anyone answering the advertisement, should "call 1058 between 6 and 8 o'clock" on the night of the dinner party.

Of course the immediate result was that the dinner was interrupted every thirty seconds by a call from some cat, dog or goat owner, anxious to make a sale. But the unexpected result was that the immense white Victor dog said goodbye to the home he had known so many months, and made his appearance on the front porch of the hosts—and it was even whispered, plus a bill for his board and veterinary attention during the time. However that may be, the Victor dog has a new home. But we venture to say the dog tale has not yet wagged its last.

FLOWERS

Words are like flowers,
Each a delicate hue
And each a fragrance
Possessing all its own.

Words of praise are Coral-tinted hyacinths,
Faces turned to glimpse
The new-born day.

Words of pity are White tuberoses that,
Crushed to one's heart,
Bring healing and
A sweet forgetfulness.

Words of forgiveness are Apple blossoms
When spring-time showers
Distill their fragrance rare.

And love is the red rose,
A perfect rose
In the garden of content.

Sweet whisp'ring rose
You have set
My heart a-thrill.

TRANSITION

Gloomy and bleak looms the great stone wall
That hides my view o fthe sky,
With never a break in its steep facade
Nor a curve to please the eye.

But a glint of sunshine flickers there
On the perfume-laden breeze
And I know that beyond my vision
There are blooming orange trees.

The spirit of spring is in the air
And quivering there, is heard
A love song of pure melody
From the heart of a mocking-bird.

It bears me away in its ecstasy
From a sober cell-like room
To a place where smiling skies are blue
And the orange trees in bloom.

'SCUSE, EDDIE, PLEASE. TOO GOOD TO RESIST.

"See-sawing up and down Fourth street" like Eddie West and his famous "WEST WINDS," I saw countless things, just like he does, but my glances turned towards the women wrote SWEET PEAS and continued with

"Saw Mrs. Emma L. French on her morning errands, in good health, looking fine, and in a hurry to get somewhere. Did see Mrs. Mary F. Heathman with her usual pleasant word for everyone.....Saw Mrs. Nellie Young driving down the street in her big car. She is one of our pioneer mothers.....Did see Mrs. Mary Rowley of Tenth street, brave in a new coat and hat and vastly excited over a coming motor trip north with some friends.... Did see Mrs. Hattie Vanderlip hurrying to the bank, not that she feared it would fall before her arrival, but that wisely she would lock up papers where fire could not destroy them.....Did see Mrs. Root and Miss Lou Morgan of Gilbert's Dry Goods store lunching together in a cafe.....Also did see Mrs. A. J. Crookshank in her electric, taking friends for a spin on Fourth street .....She did have almost as many as a Ford carries on a picnic ....., Did learn that Monday was bargain day and verily all the townswomen were rushing hither and yon laden with packages from the various stores.....Did see such careful and saving mothers as Mrs. James Elliott, wife of the well-known contractor.....Mrs. Ernest Crozier Phillips, wife of the dramatic director and herself blessed with a pretty talent for miming.....Mrs. Lou Hickox.... Mrs. Bert Cloyes who heads the destinies of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S..... Mrs. Budge Lacy whose husband quells fires..... Did see, too, Mrs. F. F. Smith of North Main street, but later pleasuring at Elsinore with her married daughter.....And Mrs. Sue Spencer, another pioneer who has recently been doing a little charity work by staying with an aged sick friend.....So up and down the street they go and watch them, the flapper of 1927 and the wonderful, old-fashioned mothers, all determined to "carry on."

SWEET PEAS.

MY VANITY

My bold vanity has not a peg for its base
For I've failed to do much on behalf of my race;
There has never been crest to my

Nor a murder because of a relative's charms;
There's no martydrom linked in my kinship chain,
Neither savant of art or a sage of

Never one of my clan colned lav

Cuddled down into congress or stormed the senate;
Of course ,some have fallen on

For always the quaint and th

THE HERALDS OF SPRING
(New Mexico)

Along the roadside, so brow and bare,
How silent it seems, but hark!
Out of the summer skies, some where Comes the song of a meadow lark.

And only a day or two ago.
I heard a robin sing.
How gladly we welcome these feathered friends,
Who herald the coming of spring!

Did You Ever Stop to Think

By Edson R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

N. D. WELTY, EDITOR OF THE BARTLESVILLE (OKLAHOMA) MORNING EXAMINER SAYS:

THAT this is not a soviet ruled or idealed country.

THAT this is a country where the right to make a profit is inherent in the scheme of things.

THAT an individual, firm, corporation or other business or profession which exists because it makes a profit must not only concede the right of others to make a profit, but also must be ready and willing to pay that profit.

THAT when this point is fully grasped, and the principle adhered to, there is a right to question the amount of profit to which the other is entitled. But, until the right to a profit is first enjoyed, the refusal to pay the profit is a dangerous thing.

THAT a great corporation which uses its buying power to deprive retail business of a legitimate profit is undermining the foundation upon which its own profits are secured.

THAT today there is a great need for a better understanding between big business and the men who maintain service as retail merchants.
